EDITORIAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

A San Antonio editor says there is not a vacant residence in that city.

The smallpox and scarlet fever are pronounced epidemic in New York.

A St. Louis man has insured his life for $400,000. Expect a case of suicide soon.

A North Carolina minister has invented a mouse trap, sold his patent for $11,000, and quit preaching.

Some men have little coin in their purse, but this is made up in abundance of brass in the countenance.

A manufacturer of rat poison in Paris committed suicide on account of the annihilation of his trade.

Sarah Wilson, aged seventy-three, hung herself in Boston last week. Sarah was old enough to know better.

Maine offers to every able-bodied male Swede a farm of 100 acres, and exemption from taxation until 1876.

A man has been placed on trial in Philadelphia for nicking the tail of his horse, that being construed into cruelty to animals.

Out of forty practising lawyers in San Antonio, Texas, eight only get beastly drunk. The latter have got a bad "practice."

The managing editors of the leading New York daily papers receive $100 per week. Some of the writers receive $150 per week.

Dr. Ayer, of Pitts. Mass., has given his name to Groton Junction, Mass. Of course the town is now more attractive on account of its pure Ayer.

The heathen Chinese have a custom of paying their debts on the beginning of each new year—a custom which Christians would do well to emulate.

The present scrambled style of ladies' head dress to be seen on Canal street, is the identical fashion which prevailed before the invention of combs.

The fish in Huetisford river, Wis., were so numerous lately as to interfere with the running of the mills there, thousands of them clogging the wheels of the machinery.

Lord Lurgan, previous to taking his dog, "Master Magrath," to England, where he won the Waterloo Cup, effected an insurance on the animal's life to the amount of $30,000.

A Mrs. Acker having died suddenly in Montgomery country, Pa., a hired man in the house was so afraid of being accused of murdering her, that he hanged himself in the barn.

A Radical office-seeker, on learning of the recent accident to Gov. Warmoth's foot, coolly recommended Spalding's glue. Of course the unfeeling wretch was one of the disappointed.

Wendell Phillips delivered a lecture in New York last week, in the course of which he said that "every man of the city government ought to be hung." Perhaps he wants the job of hangman.

A brakeman on an Ohio railroad, who was caught under the chin by a telegraph wire, and thrown beneath the cars, sustaining thereby the loss of a leg, has recovered $9000 from the telegraph company.

A bill is now before the Wisconsin Assembly, providing that whenever eleven jurors shall agree upon a verdict, shall be held to be a verdict of the whole jury.

The St. Albans Messenger says that there is in that town a horse whose upper lip bears a heavy moustache, three inches in length, which parts in the middle and curls out on either side, in the most approved fashion.

A preacher in the West seeks damages of a journal which published a report of his discourse "Mind and Matter," under the head of "Milk and Water." His enemies say that he will recover, if it be true that the greater the truth the greater the libel.

A lad named Martin died in Elizabeth, N. J., of smallpox, but the undertakers declined their services, and no one could be found to assist even in lowering the body into the grave. At last Capt. Henning, health inspector, dug a hole, in which he placed the poor remains.

Grant's Santo Domingo Commission have found, in course of their investigations in Samana, a colored man 120 years of age. Originally a native of Africa, he has lived in Java, Madeira, Sicily, Malta, Bermuda and Havana, and is still sound and hale. Ben Wade ought to present him to the President as the ripe fruit of his pilgrimage.

Chloroform is the name of the last discovered anæsthetic. It is said to be as effective as chloroform, but without the disagreeable character of that agent. It is very expensive, and was discovered by Dr. Liebreich—the same who introduced chloral. The last we tried, and didn't feel like passing a vote of thanks to Dr. Whatshisname.

A late number of the National Baptist, a Philadelphia paper, contains the following advertisement:

"The Rev. H. P. Kueick, a native of Maine, graduate of Colby University and Newton Institute, six feet two and a half inches high, and single, wants a place. Will be here Friday, 17th."

He might rightly claim to belong to the high church party. The "sistern" will notice that he is single.

In the Middlebury, Conn., parsonage, a man who is the father of a family of thirty—all children of one mother.

A recently wedded pair in New York received as presents four grand pianos, and talk of renting out three of them.

The Pope's Advice to the Young Men of America.

To Eugene B. Murray, President, of the Committee, and all the members of the Young Men's Society of America.

Beloved Children.—Health and Apostolic Benediction. We who cherish with special love the associations of Catholic youth, because nothing can be more acceptable and agreeable to us, would the great confusion of the times and the havoc of impious men, than that youth particularly should walk zealously in the way of the Lord, and firmly adhere to Christian discipline. We could not, I say, beloved children, read the noble declaration of your sentiments expressed in your letter of the 8th day of December last, without being moved towards you with special sentiments of love. For both your unshaken devotion towards us and this Apostolic See, as you express it, altogether requires this of us, as well as the exalted feelings of faith and religion by which you express your abhorrence of the sacrilegious crimes committed by the enemies of truth and justice against our rights and the rights of the Apostolic See, and against the Holy Church, condemning with merited reprobation the impious deeds of the tyrannical rule of those who, by force and by all sorts of deceit and fraud, have trampled upon our civil power and liberty. But, beloved children, what especially gives us a great esteem for your virtue and gains our special praise, is your elegant declaration that you and all the members of your Sodality place your honor and glory in upholding and presenting firmly the principles of religion and justice which you have received by inheritance. This noble resolution, beloved children, keep faithfully and steadfastly; for, since the foundation of social order and prosperity in every form of government, but especially in that which exists among you, is to be based evidently, on these principles, you know that the whole stability, happiness and honor of your country depend upon the same and that no others deserve better of it than they who strive to preserve and to promote reverently the love of justice, purity, morality and religion. We pray God to confirm and strengthen with His Grace your wills in these sentiments, and that your example may produce abundant fruit, even to the advantage of others. Finally, as a pledge of our paternal benevolence, receive, beloved children, the apostolic benediction, which we very lovingly bestow on each and every one of you.

Given at Rome at St. Peter's, on the 1st day of February, in the year 1871, the twenty-fifth year of our pontificate.

Pius P. IX.

An incident of the smallpox epidemic is thus related:

"A few days since a gentleman of very considerable wealth returned from a Northern trip, bringing with him a youthful and beautiful bride he had just espoused. Leaving her in the city, he hastened to his country seat to superintend the putting in order for her reception. He was absent but a day or two, yet during that time the young wife was stricken down with the prevailing medical attendance, nurses, etc., could have been readily procured, she was hurried off to the post-house. The husband returned, and, learning the fatal news, he at once went to take his place by the bedside of her whom he had so recently sworn to love and protect. He was denied admittance, even for an instant, and in forty-eight hours she was dead and buried in the potter's field. The sheet upon which the victim died, half a gallon of carbolic acid, a pine-board coffin, and a head-board of the same material, with Mrs. — painted upon it, were the funeral paraphernalia—these, and nothing more."

There is no little interest manifested at present in this community regarding the sewing machine question. Many kinds are before the public, each having some point peculiar to itself, and it is clear that the proprietors of the various makes are anxious to know how to choose. Take, for instance, the best and most reliable. To select is a bewildering task, for each has an attraction of its own. Under such circumstances, would suggest that Hoyle's rule regarding what would solve one's doubts: "When you are in doubt, take the best." Ladies and gentlemen, who are in doubt, if you should make your purchases, go to Hogan's, 99 and 101 Canal street, and you will have acted wisely. There is no need of saying more, as the prices are moderate. If at the same time you wish to purchase a sewing machine, please remember that Hogan's is the place to go, as they have the best and most reliable machines, and they are at the lowest prices.

New Orleans will compare favorably with any city in the United States for the splendor of its stores, the taste with which the goods are displayed, and the courtesy of the proprietors and clerks. It is in fact, the most beautiful and most desirable place to choose. Take, for instance, the best and most reliable. To select is a bewildering task, for each has an attraction of its own. Under such circumstances, would suggest that Hoyle's rule regarding what would solve one's doubts: "When you are in doubt, take the best." Ladies and gentlemen, who are in doubt, if you should make your purchases, go to Hogan's, 99 and 101 Canal street, and you will have acted wisely. New.—There are certain characteristics which may be found in mental and physical phenomena. Nature never slavishly repeats itself. No two blades of grass are in all respects alike. Of the immense number of people who have lived on the earth since the creation, no two countenances were exactly similar. So it may be said of the human race, that each individual is a new creation. The human race is always varied and new—this exhibiting an originality which finds its counterpart in nature. Their goods are new, their services are new, and their methods of doing business are new—cheap for cash. The poverty of imitation can never be to their charge. Yet, as if to prove the rule, there is an exception. It is in the proprietors of 350 and 352 Magazine street, who have the best goods, it is not now that they give the greatest bargains, but that they are as liberal as they are deservingly popular.

There are certain periodic employments that can neither be neglected or omitted. They are constantly recurring, and if from any cause they are neglected, inconvenience and confusion are sure to follow. We have reference to the weekly washing. How many are appalled on Monday morning by the sight of their clothes, and how many are surprised to find that they are not clean. The reason is, that they have neglected their weekly washing. The Ringing Washer accomplishes in the shortest possible time the accumulations of the week, and thus saves the time and labor of the washer. It is at 401 Canal street, is the agent for Louisiana, Texas and Mississippi.

DENTISTRY.—So much of comfort, to say no more, depends upon a sound teeth, that we are surprised people remain for an hour under the infliction of bad ones. No doubt the cadaverous appearance of our countenances is in great part to be attributed to the teeth. It might be justified in saying, criminal neglect of the teeth. If, then, people are conscious of the fact, let them repair the fault in the future. This can be best done by engaging the services of Dr. J. H. Maloney, 202 St. Andrew street, whose skill and attention insure the fullest confidence in his ability. His prices, too, are quite moderate, thus removing the excuse of many.
