Darwin's income is $20,000 a year. That's what comes of having a monkey for your ancestor.

The Pope has sent to the Queen Dowager of Bavaria a palm-tree from the Vatican gardens, as an Easter gift.

Over 6000 persons attend Mass every Sunday at the Church of St. Paul, West Fifty-ninth street, New York City.

A new factory, called the Vancluse factory, will shortly be built near Augusta, Ga. Its capacity will be ten thousand spindles.

Mrs. Jane Mitchel, in her petition to the Brooklyn surrogate, to be appointed administrator of her husband, John Mitchel's, estate, stated that he had left only $7500 to be divided between herself and three children.

The Bishop of Orleans (Mgr. Daplanon) has published a work, in three parts, entitled "Etude sur la Franco-Macconnerie." The antagonism between Freemasonry and religion, the status of a Mason, and the political and revolutionary action of the Freemasons on the continent, form the three portions of the learned Prelate's brilliant essay.

The fair young Sergeant Bates is turning his eye toward Canada now. He is about to carry our country's banner all the way from Windsor to Toronto, to show how the Canadians are fond of us. After that he will cross the bounding deep and bear the banner from Calais to St. Petersburg, where frantic popular demonstrations will doubtless—not await him.

Meissonier's third picture in four years has just been exhibited in Paris. It is less than a foot in height and barely more than a foot in width, and represents a halt of horsemen in the days of the First Empire. It is praised as a miracle of accuracy and of spirit; and has been bought at the price of 120,000 francs, or $24,000 in gold, by a private collector who ordered it three years ago.

The consecration of the Right Rev. J. J. Kain, D. D., Bishop of Wheeling, will take place in St. Joseph's Cathedral, Wheeling, on Trinity Sunday, May 23. The Most Rev. Archbishop Bayley, of Baltimore, will be the Consecrator, with Right Rev. Dr. Gibbons, of Richmond, and Right Rev. Dr. Becker, of Wilmington, assistant Consecrators. The sermon will be preached by Bishop Gibbons.

German military men are making great preparations for an unusually extensive series of field operations that are to take place this fall in the provinces of the Rhine. A regularly fortified place is to be besieged and approached by saps. During the progress of the siege the fortress is to suffer several bombardments. It is expected that a large number of officers from several European armies will be present.

Henry Seybert, a citizen of Philadelphia, has offered to place a bell and clock, worth $20,000, in Independence Hall, in commemoration of the Declaration of Independence, the bell to be rung upon the 4th of July, 1876, as a herald of the festivities. A condition of the gift requires that the names of Mr. Seybert's immediate family be inscribed upon the bell, which has just been accepted by the Philadelphia City Council.

M. Eugene Pereira, the Paris banker, whose great grandfather invented the system by which deaf mutes are taught to speak and to understand from the movement of the lips, has just announced that a school of instruction, to be supported by his family, will be opened in Paris in August. The institution will be under the care of M. Magnot, who has shown such excellent results from the Pereira system at his school at Geneva.

Ex-Senator Pratt, who has been appointed Commissioner of Internal Revenue, makes the eighteenth member of the last Congress who supported the force bill and failed to secure a re-election, who has been given office by the President. As Douglas was officially told that his resignation was not demanded on account of any disapproval of his acts, there can be no other reasonable inference than that his place was wanted to relieve one of "the faithful," whom the people had no further use for.

Poor Monsieur Villemessant, of the Figaro, little expected all the trouble which his impudence in addressing the bishops would bring upon his head. The letter of the Bishop of Angiers, condemning his paper, was speedily followed by one still more severe from the venerable Archbishop of Aix. All the papers of Paris—Catholic, Protestant and Infidel—have said the severest things about the Figaro, and heartily endorsed the opinion of the episcopacy. It is reported that in consequence of this protest of the bishops, M. de Villemessant has lost 15,000 subscribers.

Of the Centennial monuments to be erected in Philadelphia, the N. Y. Tribune correspondence says: "The most important of these monuments is the Catholic fountain, for which $40,000 has been raised by the Catholic Temperance Union of America. In the centre of the fountain there will stand a colossal statue of Moses smiting the rock, from which the water will flow into a marble basin, on the corners of which will be statues of Charles Carroll of Carrollton; Bishop Carroll of Maryland; Commodore Barry, 'the father of the American navy'; and Father Theobald Mathew. The central figure will be fifteen feet high and the others nine feet. All will be made of bronze.

A picket-making machine has been invented and patented by Isaac Levi, of Ellaville, Fla. The Scientific American refers to it as follows: "The device can easily be attended by a single man, and it is claimed, can cut five thousand pickets per day. From the adjustability of its various parts, it is capable of executing a large variety of work, leaving the same in condition fit for immediate use. It is equally suitable for the purpose above described, or for a tenoning machine by simple adjustments of the heads and carriages; and by suitable changes of the knives picket-heads of any desired pattern may be formed. The machine, we are informed, is the first which has been devised for producing the picket-heads in complete state."

A society for the promotion of sacred music in France has been created under the patronage of the Cardinal Archbishop of Paris.

Galveston claims a population of 35,000; Houston, 20,000; San Antonio, 15,000; Dallas, 12,000; Austin (sent of government), 12,000; Waco, 8000.

The purse presented as a spontaneous offering of love and gratitude to Cardinal Callen, on the twenty-fifth anniversary of his episcopal consecration, amounted to seventeen thousand dollars.

The creditors of the Freedmen's Bank should "keep their lamps trimmed and burning." They or their grandchildren—most likely the latter—will probably get ten cents on the dollar. This is encouraging.

Dr. Sigl, editor of the ultramontane Vaterland, has been convicted by a jury and sentenced to three months' imprisonment. He was charged with having written in his paper that Kallman's attack on Prince Bismarck was a comedy got up for the purpose of reviving the Imperial Chancellor's popularity.

The testimony of the Alabama Radical, Perrin, that he shot a bullet through his own hat to exhibit as a Ku-Klux outrage, is not calculated to enhance the popular estimate of the party in whose employ he had acted. Hence the Chicago Tribune regrets that he had the presence of mind to take off his hat before plugging it.

The best illustration of the fact that science is the handmaid of religion, especially of what is called the Methodist religion, is to be found in an amusing incident which is related in the following manner by one of our Northern exchanges:

How idle it is to talk of the quarrel between science and religion! A story which reaches us from the West concerning that eminent gentleman and scholar, Senator Logan, beautifully illustrates the ease with which they can be reconciled. It is stated that Senator Logan, during the recent session of Congress, became impressed with the extent and influence of the Methodist body in his own country, and determined to ally himself with it. But finding that the demands upon his time in Washington were incessant and that it would be extremely inconvenient for him to leave the capital, he hit upon the brilliant expedient of joining the Church, with which he wished to associate himself, by telegraph, and of sending forward his photograph to be baptized! We tell the tale as it was told to us, vouching for nothing. But if it is not true in every particular it certainly ought to be.

Best Cordova coffee, parched or ground 35 cents per pound, at the Tea Depot, 5 Camp street.

Do not despise small things. How many of us think with regret of the many dimes and dollars, thrown away for gewgaws, which, if safely put away, would by this time, perhaps, have made us the owners of the houses we live in, or have enabled us to compass some other much desired end. For instance, by depositing one dollar a week in the Savings Department of the Workingmen's Bank, 91 Canal street, at the end of fifteen years a person would have $247 96—$247 96 of which would be the interest earned; five dollars a week would, in fifteen years, amount to $6219 50—of which $249 80 would be interest earned. The Workingmen's is a staunch institution, managed by men of integrity and financial ability. Its Directory is composed of such men as M. P. Dunn (of Pitt William & Co.), J. G. Spear, J. B. Camara, and other well known merchants. Its President is our respected fellow citizen, Ver. Magman, Esq., and its Cashier, J. B. Monaghan, Esq., formerly connected with the Bee is one of the most enterprising and affable young gentlemen in the city. The bank is open during the usual hours for general business, but from 5.30 to 7 o'clock each evening deposits will be received.

Mrs. C. Samson, the fashionable milliner of No. 65 Magazine street, has still on hand a large assortment of the latest styles of hats, bonnets, etc., and is constantly receiving fresh additions to her stock. Our lady friends, in need of any article in the millinery line, would do well to examine her stock before purchasing elsewhere.

DELGADO & GOLDTHWAITE—Do not forget that the above firm, at the corner of Magazine and Jackson streets, keep constantly on hand a full supply of choice and reasonable groceries, etc. Their house has not long been established, but, judging from their rapidly increasing business, they have evidently gained the confidence of their friends and patrons.

NEW ORLEANS, JANUARY 19, 1874.

C. P. KNIGHT, Esq., No. 33 West Lombard street, Baltimore. Dear Sir—It affords me much pleasure to advise you that well satisfied I am with Bradley's Patent Enamel Paint, having used all I bought of you in painting a large cottage (new) at Ocean Springs, Miss., and having found it to cover and work so admirably, and very far superior to ordinary metal paints and colors not subject to fade, besides being decidedly cheaper. It is my purpose to send you another order for more very soon. Yours respectfully, W. W. RAYNE, Esq. Of Bartlett & Rayne, 45 Carondelet street.

For further details respecting this now celebrated paint, see advertisements and testimonials on one of our outside pages. The change of seasons and the incoming of new vegetables and fruits render those complaints, especially in children, very prevalent. There is no medicine in the world superior to DR. BROWN'S ANKER-PENICILIN for this class of disease. It is a specific for Diarrhoea, Cholera, Cholera Infantum, Morbus Flux Cholera, etc. It is pleasant to the taste and free from any injurious quality. No household should be without a bottle of this Cordial at any time, but particularly at this season, when attacks of cholera, cholera morbus, etc., are so sudden and require instant treatment. For sale by all druggists. T. J. Lyons, proprietor, corner Camp and Gravier.

IM MEMORIAM. DIED—On Monday, April 9, 1875, HENRY JOSEPH CASSIN, son of Peter and Elizabeth Cassin, aged twenty-seven years and eight months, at his residence, No. 100 St. Charles street. One who knew him, who met him in the walks of everyday life, who experienced and appreciates the worth of his character, attempts a feeble tribute to the memory of his virtues. Before reaching the prime of life, he was carried away, while yet full of the hopes and ambition of youth, and before the burden of years and trouble had pressed too heavily upon him.

We, who knew him, feel the loss and regret the departure of one who was a faithful friend, a loving brother, an obedient and affectionate son, a true and devoted husband. An absence of two years had, if possible, but endeared him the more to wife, family and friends. His return was looked for with pleasant expectation, as he was called to this city to assume the management of his father's affairs; but this onward journey though commenced in health, was terminated in disease. Death, who respects neither time nor place, overtook him upon the route, and marked him for its own. He reached home only to die.

The memory of his virtues is a consolation to us all, for we know that now to re-appear he has sown, and the seed being ever good, we rejoice to feel that its fruition must be in heaven. We take comfort as well from the knowledge that our Holy Mother, the Church, afforded him all her final sacraments, and that he died as he had lived, an earnest and sincere Catholic.

How young the year, and yet alas! how long The sad roll of its dead! Whose day is o'er, Who hastened from the earth and tarried not, At Death's grim beck, wings from the gloomy shore.

How many hall'd its natal hour with joy, Who are now dead, alas! and passed away! How many dwell within the dreary tomb, Who blessed the sun which lit its earliest day.

And marching on, unto its lusty prime, The year shall see them perish all around; Its tettering tread, in blustering winter time, At every step will press a new-torn mound.

But yet of all that sorrow kindred mourn, Since first the year did bid its joyous birth, Of all who shall before its dying hour, Be gather'd to the bosom of the earth;

Not one may justly claim a purer soul, Of friend or mine, than that which fell to thee, A heart more true, a mind less sullied, or A life from ev'ry stain than thine more free.

We mourn thy loss, but yet our keenest pang, Is not without its sad'ning comfort near, For thou hast cause to thank the early death, Which bid us ead the sympathetic tear.

IN MEMORIAM. DIED—On Sunday, March 15th, 1875, at 11 o'clock MARY E. aged six years seven months and twenty six days, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. Doyle. Sweet child, so fondly loved! her gentle presence Has ceased to echo in that lonely home, And bore their little Mary from the storm.

The flowers and sunshine are around thy pillow— Fit emblems of the fair child's purity— Thy little bark is anchored from the billow, And beautiful our little Mary's sleep will be! O Angel Mary! sacred bonds are riven, But whisper to the mourning household band That you will meet them at the gates of Heaven, And greet the dear ones in that fairer land!
