

Morning Star and Catholic Messenger.

NEW ORLEANS, SUNDAY, APRIL 16, 1876.

Mission at St. Peter and Paul's, Third District.

Editor Morning Star: As a parishioner of St. Peter and Paul's Church, permit me to say a few words about the important Mission just brought to a close in our parish. I would have claimed your indulgence before this, but I waited the pen of some one more competent than I to do justice to this subject. The good Fathers—always adverse to newspaper notoriety—will, I trust, pardon my temerity in giving expression to my sentiments evoked by the Mission so happily conducted in this parish.

On Sunday, March 12th, the Mission was opened by the Very Rev. Father McGill, Superior of the Mission, whose eloquent and practical sermon so ennobled the vast congregation that, from the start, it was evident that the Mission would be a grand success. In the evening the sermon was preached by the O'Donoghue, whose burning eloquence, elegance of diction, and logical reasoning, were not equalled, much less surpassed, by any clergyman we have ever heard. On Monday evening the sermon was preached by the Rev. Father Byrne, who, although suffering from fever for several days previous, so enraptured the spell-bound audience, that one would have thought that he had been in the most perfect health and trim. I do not intend—nor should I wish—to dwell at any length on the golden results of this Mission, but this I must say at the risk of wounding the tender susceptibilities of those humble and zealous children of St. Vincent that—so far as I can judge—no mission has ever been given in this parish, which has been so rich in results, and, at the same time, so calmly and quietly conducted as the one which has just terminated. Whilst these good Fathers "laid the axe to the root" of every vice, they did so in such a way as not to wound the delicate feelings even of those who may be considered as ignorant by those cynics who themselves possess neither faith nor morals. These, Mr. Editor, are the missionaries we need from time to time. Although our own priests are capable, indefatigable and zealous, yet as the holy nuns, whose lives are a continual penance in their cloisters, are obliged by their rule to have recourse to extraordinary Confessors occasionally, so also is it good for the laity to have such opportunities as our own beloved and ever-watchful shepherd, the Very Rev. C. Moynihan, never fails to afford them.

The good Fathers seem to be the favorites of the clergy everywhere, as may be easily seen from the numerous missions they are called upon to give both North and South, East and West. Nor is this to be wondered at, for when they come into a parish, they come not with a flourish of trumpets, but with humility and meekness, and to fulfil and carry out the mission entrusted to them by Divine Providence through their meek and humble St. Vincent, "Evangelizare pauperibus," to preach the Gospel of our Divine Redeemer to the poor and ignorant. It was, indeed, a magnificent sight to see about eight or nine hundred men approach the Holy Table on the Sunday morning of the closing of the Mission. That it was eminently gratifying to our beloved Pastor, was evident from the highly complimentary and graceful terms in which he expressed his joy and thanks to them on the Sunday after their departure. During the course of his remarks, he encouraged his people to persevere in the grace they received during the Mission, and to stand firm and continue in the good resolutions they had taken. May the devoted and humble sons of St. Vincent ever prosper. May we all live to see and welcome them once more amongst us that we may be encouraged by their sweet, kind and gentle admonitions, of which their own lives are the bright exemplars.

ONE OF YOUR READERS. During the marvellous pontificate of Pope Pius IX., now extending, with no similar parallel in the annals of his 261 predecessors, to thirty years, the increase in the hierarchy of the Church has been extraordinary. He has raised twenty-three existing sees to the dignity of Metropolitan sees, and has created five altogether new Metropolitan sees. He has besides also created 129 new bishoprics, three apostolic delegations, thirty-one vicariates apostolic and fourteen prefectures; in all 207 permanent additions to the Hierarchy of the Church. This hierarchy will give an idea of the development of the Church during the last thirty years. We have no statistics at hand to show the number of bishops appointed by Pius IX., but the number will probably exceed three-fourths of the entire hierarchy. Of the cardinals now living forty-nine have been created by him, while eight only of the creation of Gregory XVI. are alive; thirteen cardinals' hats are now vacant; and 60 cardinals created by the present Pope have already died.

HOME ENTERPRISE.—At our recent State Fair no single article on exhibition received more universal and unstinted praise than did the beautiful truck manufactured by our energetic friend W. F. Clark, Esq., for American use, and now in daily use by that company. Being at once light, strong and beautiful, fashioned with the most exquisite skill, it is a triumph of home enterprise of which New Orleans may well be proud. But this is only one of the many fine works turned out at Mr. Clark's establishment. Any evening, on the mill road may be seen dozens of elegant carriages, barouches and buggies, the property of some of our leading citizens, which were made by him, while in the business section of the city wagons and carts of his manufacture may be counted by the score. Mr. Clark is at all times prepared to fill promptly orders for vehicles of every description, his high reputation and the excellence of his work in the past stand as the best guarantee that he will give the most perfect satisfaction in every respect. A visit to his factory 134 and 136 Rampart street, between Toulouse and St. Peter, would amply repay the trouble, while at the same time enabling one to ascertain the price of the various articles. In conclusion we would state that Mr. Clark does not confine himself entirely to retail business but also solicits orders from the country.

BUENOS AYRES.

From the Buenos Ayres Southern Cross of the 24th February, we take the following items:

A public meeting is called for the 28th inst., anniversary of the burning of the Jesuit college. We are informed that the promoters of this meeting intend to propose resolutions of aggressive policy against the order of Jesuits. We warn the authorities that if they act on this occasion as on the last, there are citizens ready to take the law into their own hands, and to defend, if necessary, with their lives, the cause of order and justice. Let it not be said that a common mob sacked a palace in front of the central police station, and burned to the ground a noble building destined for the education of the youth of the country. Our Irish Sisters of Mercy live near the Jesuits. They were seriously menaced last year by the mob. We were then unprepared. It is now otherwise. Should the Irish convent of Mercy suffer in any way, we know where to represent the matter in a way to make it felt. The government has notice of the intended meeting. Why not prevent it? Are there any arrangements made to insure order? or will our troops and police maintain a dignified and masterly inactivity? It is with much regret we have to announce the death of one of our much esteemed Irish Sisters of Mercy. Mother Mary Gertrude (known in the world as Teresa O'Rourke) entered religion in the year 1855 at the Convent of Mercy, Baggot street, Dublin. She came to this country in the year 1859.

The Freemasons in the Republic of Costa Rica have petitioned Congress for the expulsion of the Jesuits, and have succeeded in obtaining a decree ordering every Jesuit to leave it in the short space of forty-eight hours.

LOUISIANA IMMIGRATION.—The immigration address, lately published in the MORNING STAR, was also published in the Boston Pilot, of March 25th, with a kind editorial notice prefixed. The address has already attracted some attention, and letters of inquiry are coming in from parties in Canada, Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and Missouri. The letters are from practical farmers and mechanics, and in most instances the writers claim to have some capital, varying from $500 to $2,500. The organization of an efficient Immigration Society in this city at this opportune moment, would be of signal service to many persons throughout the country, and at the same time would greatly benefit our State in securing the colonization of our land by a good working-farmer population.

The Gerarchia Cattolica, a publication issued at Rome, though not under official sanction (since the occupation of the Capital of Christendom by Victor Emmanuel the Annuario Pontificio, which used to be officially published by the Holy See, has ceased to appear), contains a full and accurate statement compiled from the offices of the Holy See of all the sees of the Catholic Church. We learn from the issue of the current year 1876, that the hierarchy at the close of 1875 comprised fifty-seven cardinals, twelve patriarchs of Latin and Oriental rites, 734 archbishops and bishops of the Latin rite, and fifty of the Oriental rites, 274 archbishops and bishops with titles "in partibus infidelium," twenty-eight patriarchs, archbishops and bishops now bearing no titles, and eleven abbots "nullius diocesis" with territorial jurisdiction. This gives a total of 1166 cardinals, patriarchs, archbishops and bishops actually composing the hierarchy of the Church on the 1st of January, 1876.

Archbishop Steins, of Calcutta, speaking some time ago of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul and its charity, regardless of everything but the misfortune of those needing its help, commended its non-interference with the religion of those assisted: "This was quite proper for the Society of St. Vincent de Paul; but it is one thing to attract people from other religions to the Catholic Church by means of alms and donations, and another thing to keep the members of the Catholic Church faithful to their religious duties. The former the society positively declines to do; she gives assistance to members of all religions communions without attempting to attract them to the Catholic faith, knowing that money-converts are of no value. But the latter, i. e. in regard to Catholics, the society did, by giving instruction to poor children, by seeing that the recipients complied with their religious duties, by affording special assistance to the sick and dying. These two courses of action were perfectly distinct."

The Scholastic of Notre Dame, Ind., in its issue of April 9th, says: "We are happy to announce that by a 'Decree' of the Sacred Congregation 'De Propaganda Fide,' dated February 27th, 1876, the Rev. P. P. Cooney, C. S. C., has been appointed to the office of 'Missionary Apostolic.' To this office many extraordinary faculties are attached, as specified in the 'Decree'—for his greater efficiency in the discharge of his Missionary duties. Very Rev. E. Sorin, our Superior General, who sends the 'Decree,' says, in writing from Rome to Father Cooney: 'I feel happy to inform you of your promotion to the title of Missionary Apostolic. This favor is looked upon here as an extraordinary proof of kind benevolence on the part of His Holiness. It is well worth a religious presentation at Notre Dame.'"

MR. GEO. J. WAGNER.—We are sure many of our readers are deeply grateful to us for having introduced them to this energetic merchant, thereby saving them many a dollar in the single item of foot wear. Mr. Wagner is an old and experienced dealer, who understands our people and their tastes well, and he always has on hand just the thing they want or he has it made in double-quick time. On this account, no less than because his prices are low, his trade is steadily increasing, and people from all parts of the city have discovered that there is great economy in paying the car fare necessary to take them to his store, corner of Ursuline and Dauphine streets. If any one doubts the power of the almighty Dollar let him read the column advertisement of Levy's Dollar Store, which will be found on one of our inside pages. There will be seen enumerated a long list of articles which he will be wondrously glad to learn are sold for only one dollar. The best writers of England and America appear in the New Quarterly Review, to be had at Rider's Agency, 181 Camp street, Lafayette Square.

In Mr. Weston's recent walking match in England he had for a competitor an individual named Martin, whose choice of pedestrianism as a profession is in defiance of obstacles enough to discourage any but a most resolute mortal. At the battle of Inkerman the back of his head was crushed in by a piece of shell, which rendered the operation of tramping unnecessary; in the storming of the Redan he had his breastbone and several ribs broken; and in the Indian mutiny he was wounded in the right leg. As a result of the injury to his head, he is also subject to epilepsy. And yet, despite all this ill-treatment by fate, he has for many years been one of the most noted pedestrians in Great Britain, having in 1863 run over thirty six miles in less than four hours, and within four weeks, walked a distance of 108 miles in less than twenty seven hours, in "heavy marching order." His attempt to rival Weston was frustrated by the occurrence of three epileptic fits during the first fifty miles.

"All that a Man Hath Will He Give for His Life." This we find recorded in the most ancient and best of all books, but as we see thousands dying around us with Consumption, Croup, Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis, Spitting Blood and other pulmonary diseases, we are led to doubt the correctness of the above assertion, especially since it is so well known that a positive remedy may be obtained which always arrests these diseases. Dr. TUTT'S EXPECTORANT never fails to give relief and cures after every other means have failed. This can be seen and has been proved in thousands of instances where it has effected radical cures after the patient has been given up by all his friends and physicians. The extraordinary success attending the use of this medicine is truly wonderful.

VALUABLE AND RELIABLE.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are invaluable to those exposed to sudden changes, affording prompt relief in Coughs, Cold, etc.

IN MEMORIAM.

DIED at Mobile, Alabama, on Friday morning, April 7th, 1876, ANNY MCCARTHY, the beloved wife of James McCarthy, a native of Water Grass Hill, County Cork, Ireland, aged sixty-five years, and for thirty-five years a resident of Mobile. May she rest in peace.

The subject of this brief notice was truly a noble-hearted, generous and kind woman: her house and her purse were always open for the relief of the needy and the poor. She never allowed man, woman or child to leave her residence uncared for. By honest industry she assisted her devoted husband to accumulate considerable property. She was interred on Palm Sunday, 9th instant, at the Three Mile Creek Catholic Cemetery, followed by a large concourse of kind friends and a sorrowful family, including several grandchildren, some of whom were adopted and cared for by this kind-hearted woman after the death of their parents—her kindness and charity in this respect were proverbial. She was the first to visit the sick and dying, and the last to refuse when called on for aid or assistance: her left hand knew not what her right hand gave to the poor. And if this charity, of which all tongues speak, covereth a multitude of sins, then indeed she has gone to her reward. She is now away from this world's strife, And calmly rests beneath the sod; May peace attend her ashes here, And angels wing her soul to God. She died in the bosom of the Holy Catholic Church, prepared to meet her God.

WILSON PACKING COMPANY,

CHICAGO. HERMETICALLY SEALED COOKED MEATS.

CORNERED BEEF. We have no comments to make in reference to our Corned Beef, except to call the attention of the trade to the fact that our Fourteen Pound Cans are warranted perfect, and are comparatively cheaper than the old style package. The popular way of handling this article is for the Retail Dealer to open the Can and cut the meat in quantities to suit his customers.

SUGAR CURED HAM. To meet a demand from the trade which we have had for over a year, we are now packing SUGAR-CURED, COIL-SMOKED H. M. packed in the same style as our other goods. Successful as we may have been with our Cooked Corn Beef, we have no doubt of having more marked success with this article. It is cured by ourselves and is entirely free from the ROOT OF THE TONGUE, which is really nothing but Corneal Beef. Try a case, and recommend it in the highest terms to your Trade. The goods warrant it.

FRESH BEEF. This article is excellent for Pot Pies, Steaks, Mince Pie and Sandwiches, and is a delicacy for Lunches or the Tea Table. We have appointed, as our sole agents for the State of Louisiana, SMITH BROS. & CO., Nos. 83, 85, 87 and 89 Poydras Street, ap16 3m NEW ORLEANS.
