

Morning Star and Catholic Messenger. NEW ORLEANS, SUNDAY, JUNE 30, 1878. LOCAL NOTES.

The "dog poisoning" business seems to cause considerable trouble among parties who own valuable dogs.

The Exhibition days have come, the gladdest of the year for the school children and the saddest for the newspapers.

We learn that the Washington Artillery, heretofore an independent command, is about to be mustered into the State Militia.

St. Joseph's Total Abstinence Cadets meet next Sunday, July 7th, at 2 o'clock, in St. Joseph's hall, Marais street. Boys wishing to join should attend.

Rumor has it that the Orleans Artillery will shortly be reorganized. Colonels Girardey and Bash and Lieut. Gov. Wilts are spoken of as candidates for the colonelcy of the regiment.

The lightning of last Wednesday struck a house on Harmony near Chestnut street, and also injured a Miss Newton at 384 Philip street, throwing her senseless on the floor while she was ironing.

From and after September 1st next, our cotton presses will only charge 50 cents per bale for compressing cotton. The charge heretofore has been, and will be till September 1st, 75 cents per bale.

The deaths in this city for the week ending Sunday, June 23rd were: males 54, females 51; white 70, colored 85; total 105. The greatest number of deaths from any one cause was 19, credited to consumption.

The Feast of St. Peter and Paul will be celebrated to day, Sunday, at the Church of St. Peter and Paul, Third District, Very Rev. C. Moynihan, Pastor, by a Solemn High Mass at 10 o'clock. Rev. D. McKiniry, S. J., will preach.

Last Friday morning the annual exhibition of the children of St. Francis' School, took place in the hall, corner St. David and Second streets. The exercises were of a very interesting nature, and the pupils gave evidence of decided ability.

Henry Miller, the celebrated billiard player, died in this city last Monday at the early age of thirty-five years. Mr. Miller served with distinction throughout the war as a member of the fifth company, Washington Artillery. He was severely wounded in the groin during one of the last battles of the war, in front of Murfreesboro, Tenn., December 4th, 1864.

In the case wherein was tested the question as to whether the ammonia works on Gravier and Magnolia streets are a nuisance to the neighborhood or not, the jury last Saturday decided that they are not. Several hundred positive people who were sure they smelt a smell and attributed it to the ammonia works, will now have to look in another direction for its cause.

Several places on the Levee front are dangerous to persons who seek an evening breeze. Battures have been covered over with rice chaff, and have proved man traps to the unwary. Quite a number of people, including a nurse and three children, were very nearly drowned during the past week. The Administrator of Improvements is busily at work remedying the evil.

Last Wednesday, our able contemporary, the Price Current, appeared in quarto form, with the usual supplement. The change will no doubt be greatly appreciated by its many readers and advertisers, as it will enable the first to study more conveniently the valuable financial and commercial articles ever to be found in its columns, while the latter will reap the benefit by having their advertisements placed more conspicuously before the reader.

The Continentals have finally selected their team of heavy shots for the match in Mobile on the occasion of their Fourth of July excursion. Captain Wm. Pierce, having been unable to determine which were the poorest marksmen, weighed the small men of the company and gave them places in the team according to their avoirdupois. The team is constituted as follows: Drayton, 250 pounds; Cathalogue, 220; Wilson, 215; Gillen, 210; O'Connor, 208; Wood, 206; Jobin, 204; Watkins, 193; Thiel, 189; Pierce, 188; Zeph Inban, 205 1/2, scorer.

The Yacht Regatta was a success in every particular. Monday and Tuesday evenings, notwithstanding the threatening weather; large crowds assembled at the New Lake End to see what had been for several years past a novel sight in this city, a regatta in which sail and not row boats would participate. The amusement for the spectators was such that all unanimously voted thanks to the gentlemen who inaugurated and successfully carried out the sport. We hope for an annual repetition of a like entertainment.

Politics are red hot, and getting hotter. Today, Saturday, the primary elections for Presidents and other officers of Democratic Ward Clubs take place, and the hopes of hundreds of ambitious politicians will be proportionately exalted or depressed according to the measure of support their respective tickets receive. The success of a certain candidate for the Presidency of a Ward does not always mean that he will be able to elect his own men as delegates to the nominating conventions, but in nine cases out of ten it does ensure him that power or enables him to control any delegation that is elected.

The Christian Brothers, having at length obtained a permanent foothold in New Orleans, have commenced the work of repairing and refitting the St. John schoolhouses for the opening of their Academy in September next. The entire interior is being remodeled, and the exterior of the main building is also to undergo important changes for its better appearance and adaptability to the ends intended. We bespeak the Academy a grand commencement and a continuance to the end of increasing prosperity commensurate with the public expectation and the teaching capacity of the Brotherhood.

[Communicated.] The ladies of St. Stephen's parish, who are preparing for an excursion to Mandeville on the 4th of July, for the benefit of their new Church, have received so many generous donations to furnish refreshments and a well-provided restaurant for such as may depend on them for meals, that they are very much encouraged with the hope of making it a successful affair. The gentlemen of the Oriental Quartet have kindly volunteered their services to make the excursion gay and lively by their exquisite music and songs. The Mitchell and Irish Eflis companies are expected to accept an invitation to a shooting match on the beautiful shady beach, for a silver cup. There will be four or five hours for enjoyment on the beach. The steamer New Camella will leave the New Lake end on the arrival of the 8 o'clock train from Canal street, and will return at 9 p. m. Tickets for the round trip $1 Children 50 cents.

Last Thursday evening an event occurred which created quite a stir in the newspaper and social world of New Orleans. This was the marriage of our esteemed friend, Mr. George Nicholson so well and favorably known as for many years the manager and more recently one of the proprietors of the Pianos, and Mrs. Eliza J. Holbrook, widow of the late Mr. Alva M. Holbrook, known throughout the world of poetry and song as "Pearl Rivers." The event drew quite a large congregation of the friends of both parties to St. Paul's Church, corner of Camp and Galmeiestreets, which was brilliantly illuminated and chastely decorated for the occasion. Among the distinguished persons present we noticed the Hon. Thomas J. Semmes, Professor Dimitry, ex-Mayor Smith, Dr. Logan and Mr. J. C. Dinnes.

In common with their many friends we extend to Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson our sincerest congratulations upon the happy realization of their fond hopes and our heartfelt wishes for their happiness and prosperity.

The reading of the following petition, at the last meeting of the City Council, created much amusement, even the seven wise men and his honor, the Mayor, joining in the laughter. MAGNOLIA STREET, June 22, 1878. Mayor City of New Orleans:

Sir—your Petitioners are all boys under sixteen years of age, and up to the present time have been confined in crowded and heated school rooms and now desirous to enjoy the sweets of nature by bathing in the New Basin late in the Evening in the North side of Magnolia Boat House on Julie st.—has us boys any right that the police ought to restrict it or Master whether we have a sacred Fox all round not we are banded like a sacred Fox all round for Blocks Carrying our Cloze in our Arms to the Scandal of the neighbourhood three Police Men crosses the Bridge every Evening to our side on Julie street says they will break up our bathing providing they should Break our bath and that you were boy once yourself will take our case under your kind consideration and allow us our Bathing hours the time will come when we will be men and make these Police Men walk a chalk line there is no doubt. Tuesday evening last, the Orleans Rowing Club celebrated its fifth anniversary by a contest among its own members. Very early in the evening a large assemblage of ladies and gentlemen gathered at the foot of Henderson street to view the sport. There were four races. In the single wherry race Mr. Carroll was the successful contestant; in the single soul match Mr. Edwards won. This last mentioned race was notable for several mishaps. A whitecap played sad havoc with the boat of Mr. Dallas who, nevertheless, kept on his course pulling against every possible disadvantage, until his craft surged and went under near the finish. Mr. Gillin fouled the stake-boat owing to no fault of his. In the third race—four oared gigs—the entries were the Captain Farwell and the J. J. Wells boat. The light weights were in the first named, the heavy in the other. The Farwell won in 5:32. The last race was for four oared shells—The No Name, and Sam Boyd. The No Name won the contest. After the usual congratulations, Mrs. D. B. Wood christened two new boats for the Club; one of which was named "Mamie Wood," the other "Charley Wood."

Tuesday morning last, at 10 o'clock the annual exhibition of St. Simeon's school, was held on Annunciation, between Thalia and Meipomene streets. The hall was elegantly decorated with flowers and evergreens. The conferring of Academic honors upon Misses Lizzie Taylor, Mary Harvey and Lillie Kennedy, was followed by the coronation of the last named young lady as the Queen of Flowers. This part of the programme was completed by a number of young ladies who sang the Coronation Ode in a manner not to be excelled. Exercises in Literature, Christian Doctrine, French and Drawing, all of which were interspersed with music vocal and instrumental, engaged the attention of the audience until the close. The exhibition proper being over, the audience repaired to another department where tapestry, drawings in oil and crayon (the work of pupils) decorated the walls. Never have finer specimens of artistic work been seen in any school. The Sisters of Charity, who control St. Simeon's, are to be congratulated upon the high standard of excellence attained by their scholars.

The Distribution of Premiums at St. Vincent's took place on Friday, too late for notice in this issue. Next week we shall try to do justice to this institution, and also to give a few more details concerning St. Simeon's.

This, Sunday evening, at 5 o'clock, two splendid new bells will be blessed at the Convent of the Discalced Carmelites of St. Theresa, No. 134 Barracks street (the street next to and on the up-town side of Esplanade,) between Rampart and Burgundy. At the same time a complete set of Stations of the Way of the Cross will also be blessed and erected in the chapel, connected with the Convent. The public are cordially invited to assist on the occasion.

The Order is little known in this country, having but three houses in the United States, one in Baltimore, one in St. Louis, the third being the one which our readers are invited to visit. The Sisters who founded this house came here in December with Father Phelan, of St. Louis, among them being members of two of Louisiana's oldest and best Creole families, the Romans and Tremoulets. At the time we published a remarkable address delivered by the celebrated French Jesuit, Pere Felix, in favor of the Order. We have no Pere Felix here to speak for this house, but we hope the remembrance of his eloquent words, and the sympathy and admiration evoked by the heroic self-abnegation of the lives these Sisters lead for our good as much as for their own, will be the means of drawing a large attendance at the ceremonies this evening.

St. Mary's Dominican Academy, Greenville, La. The commencement exercises and distribution of premiums, annually held in this institution, took place on Tuesday, 25th inst. The event—always an agreeable entertainment—was looked for with a lively interest by the friendly public, and attended very numerous, no less for the pleasure of the hour than for the observance of a respectful attention felt to be due the Nuns for their literary endowments and splendid services. The orderliness of manner and action, and tastefulness of arrangement, gracing the proceedings, recalled pleasant remembrances of like features previously seen in the Dominican programme. The declamation of the young ladies had in it ringing clearness and well defined meaning, which was received with creditable comment upon the teaching of the Academy. The different dramatic acts also, as performed, redounded much to the credit of all concerned, whether as teachers or taught. Each participant bore away a laurel, but left a chaplet for the decoration of the Dominican brow. This the Sister will disclaim, but the people say she shall have to wear it, willing or not, at least in the public estimation. As for the music, it was fine. The talent was there on either side, and it had been well and skillfully employed. We append the St. Mary's Dominican Academy, Dryades Street. Here, in graceful keeping with the Dominican style, the seventeenth annual commencement was observed with a brilliant exhibition by the pupils, on Wednesday, 26th inst. Like the sister branch in Greenville, this academy is widely known and well patronized despite the prevailing poverty and other set-backs to the general welfare and the cause of Christian education. Whatever may decline these school's must thrive because faith is abroad with its confidence in the teachers' capacity and its knowledge of their trustworthiness and good will. Rev. Father Kenny, too, is there, at the call and in the active support of the living principle of the schools, along with his zealous assistant, Father Footte, hence nothing can go wrong nor grow lax unless it be the people themselves in their co-operative capacity. But the Nun in the female school room is, after all, the central figure, the same as the mother is at home, and, as such, ought to be sought, obeyed and respected. For us we give her all honor. She is, to our mind, the living picture and reminder of the Immaculate Mary, Mother of God. Let us all, then, do our best for the good of the school, and the Nun and the Priest will take care of the rest, under the guidance of God.

The young ladies on this occasion acquitted themselves with customary elegance of manner and diction, and showed themselves in every respect worthy of the means lavished on their training and the confidence reposed in them by their kind and good preceptors. The attendant, whether parent or friend, was each sent away fully satisfied with the measure of melody to which he was treated or the no less sweet correctness of speech which greeted his gratified ear. All went well—all was well observed and well executed. All tended to the edification of the spectator, the happiness of the parent, the well being of the child and the glorification of the Catholic school. The following is the PROGRAMME. "Traveller"—H. Alberti.....Four Pianos Misses Melton, Long, Jackson and Johnson. Salutatory.....Miss McGrath Song—"David before Saul".....Senior Class Solo and Chorus.....Luigi Bordese "Les Euphoies".....Fred. FIDDLE OR CREMONA. When Dr. Pond, of Bangor, was a young man, he was very fond of music, and especially of that of the violin. It was a very uclerical instrument, but he kept quiet about it, and enjoyed undisturbed comfort for a long time. At last, however, a grave spinster, who thought that true religion is always kept in a vinegar cruet, was passing the house and heard the heretical instrument. She raised her hands in holy horror, and then rushed to the nearest deacon's house to tell the awful story that the minister had a fiddle. A committee was appointed to visit the doctor and reprimand him for his daring sin. He heard them all through, and then said in his gruff tones: "A fiddle! Do you think I have got so low that I would play on a fiddle?" Then calling out at the top of his voice, he said: "Enoch, bring down that new cremona." Enoch heard, and soon entered the awful presence with his treasure. "Now, then, play 'Old Hundred,' and show these people that we don't keep a 'fiddle in the house'." Enoch plied the bow, and the instrument squeaked in long drawn tones the familiar notes. The committee were perfectly satisfied, and went away with the feeling that while it was a heinous sin to own a fiddle that played dance music, it was quite another thing to have a Cremona which played 'Old Hundred,' and so one church scandal was hushed. A rose by any other name.
