NOMINATION OF BRYAN

What Some of the Newspapers Think of It.

ANOTHER CONVENTION DEMANDED.

The St. Paul Globe Says a New Ticket Should Be Nominated, Saying That No Democrat Is Bound by the Action of the Chicago Convention...

Another Convention Demanded.

In another editorial the Globe demands the holding of another Democratic convention for the nomination of a ticket.

OHIO STATE JOURNAL

Republican Paper Predicts Dire Defeat for Bryan.

COLUMBUS, O., July 13.—The Ohio State Journal (Republican) says: "The old guard that in the years of the past have rallied to the Democracy will turn a deaf ear to the new apostle of the party who hopes to use the name and fame of Democracy for the carrying forward of a national policy that means irretrievable ruin to the business interests of the country and the setting back of the country 100 years in the race of progress."

WILL NOT SUPPORT BRYAN.

Two Democratic Baltimore Papers Give Him the Ivy Hand.

BALTIMORE, July 13.—The Baltimore Sun and the Baltimore Evening News, both heretofore strongly Democratic, will not support Bryan in the coming campaign.

Two Milwaukee Papers.

MILWAUKEE, July 13.—The Sentinel (Rep.): "The candidate nominated at Chicago is well suited to the platform. He has been one of the most voluble speakers for silver. For two years past he has separated from the regular organization of his party and organized a free coinage Democratic party in Nebraska, the state of his residence."

Only One Issue in View.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 13.—Concerning the work of the convention The Sentinel says: "It is a patent fact that the Democrats' nominee for the presidency views his nomination, as well as most of his success, to his splendid oratory and his oratory must be heard to be appreciated. Presumably there will be little personal politics in this campaign. It will be fought out on the issues presented by the two great parties. In this respect at least the country is to be congratulated."

Best Man Available.

DETROIT, July 13.—The Tribune says: "The Democrats nominated the best man available when the selected William J. Bryan. There can be no doubt about that. It is not to be denied he will give McKinley a run for his money. The report that the gold Democrats will put up a ticket is impossible. The gold people would not permit any such obviously ruinous division of their forces."

View of a Chicago Paper.

CHICAGO, July 13.—The Chronicle says: "As a whole the money plank of the Chicago convention is an assemblage of historical falsehoods and economic errors that have been made the text for furious diatribes by vengeful rebels and scorching Populists."

Belongs to the Platform.

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—The Inquirer (Rep.) says editorially: "Mr. Bryan belongs exactly to the Chicago platform. They propose free trade, free silver, free riot and free hell."

St. Louis German Paper Hits.

ST. LOUIS, July 13.—The Anzeiger Des Westens (Dem.) strongly disapproves the Chicago platform and announces that it will not support the candidate nominated on it.

ANOTHER BOLD ROBBERY.

Chicago Bandits Got $75,000 from a Large Firm.

CHICAGO, July 13.—Bolder of all robberies that have been committed in the city within the last few weeks is the one which took place at noon Saturday. At that hour the office of the New York Business company, at the southwest corner of Morgan and Randolph streets, was entered and over $75,000 in cash carried away by the daylight robbers. Four men, armed with revolvers, accomplished the work. It was only a few moments after 12 o'clock when they entered the New York Business company's office. Though it was the middle of day and people were passing the corner every minute, the robbery was done with as little fear and care as though it were in the darkness of night.

Not more than a few moments were consumed in the quiet walk to the building in boldly carrying their revolvers in their hands after they had entered the building. No resistance could be made by either the cashier or Hines, the clerk. They were brought to a realization of the fact that they were being held up when one of the intruders pointed two revolvers at Hines' head.

"Stay where you are," said the stranger as he stepped nearer the pile of money, and still holding a revolver in one hand opened his coat, displaying a belt full of cartridges and a paper package. The latter the stranger shook open with one hand disclosing a gunnysack, into which he swept the money from the desk.

Hines obeyed instructions to keep still and the other employees were equally unobtrusive. The robber, with his well-filled sack in one hand and his revolver in the other, backed through the door of the private office and escaped through the outer door to Morgan street. At the same time his three companions left by the other two doors, joined their comrade on the Morgan street sidewalk and the entire party fled west through the alley between Lake and Randolph streets.

CELEBRATION AT DETROIT.

Observation of the 100th Anniversary of a Notable Event.

DETROIT, July 13.—Evacuation day was celebrated Saturday under superb weather conditions. Public and private buildings were decorated for the occasion and the people assembled by thousands around the new federal building where the memorial tablet placed in the entrance of the building was unveiled by the chairman of the committee on arrangements, General R. A. Alger. The tablet commemorates the evacuation by the British 100 years ago of Fort Lernout, which stood on the site of the new government building. A myriad of school children witnessed the unveiling ceremony, as did the members of all the patriotic orders, including those of colonial and revolutionary descent.

After the unveiling a huge American flag was run up on the new building and the revenues cutters witnessed the unveiling ceremony, as did the members of all the patriotic orders, including those of colonial and revolutionary descent.

Recounted After Many Years.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., July 13.—A young man named Edward Lee, who recently came to Mishawaka from the Lafayette orphan asylum and has been caretaker for J. A. Roper, has just discovered the mystery of his parentage. He was born at Fort Wayne in 1874, was entered in the asylum in 1878 and remained there until 1895. His father was a wealthy woman of Buchanan, Pike county, O. After a long search she located the son she had abandoned and has sent for him. She is very sick.

Ex-State Senator Sentenced.

Iden solicited the clerk of the house to change a record so that a bill had been passed and Abbott so that he could move for an order to pass a pharmacy bill. Sentence was suspended until September to enable the cases to go to the circuit court.

Failed to Keep Their Promise.

DECATUR, Mich., July 13.—The bonds men of J. I. Kleckner, cashier of the defunct Citizens' Savings bank at Edwardsburg, promised to make up his shortage of $10,000. They failed to do so, and the stockholders swore out a warrant for Kleckner's arrest on charge of embezzlement. Kleckner learned of the matter and is supposed to have fled to Chicago.

Flint Glass Workers.

ALTON, Ill., July 13.—There were three important committee reports in Friday's session of the American Flint Glass Workers. MAINE MAN IS CHOSEN

Sewall Nominated for Vice President at Chicago.

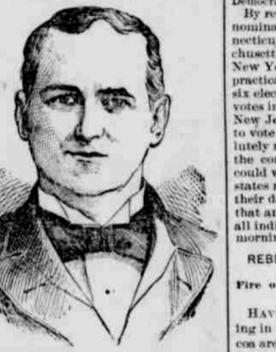

MANY CANDIDATES FOR THE PLACE.

The Convention Meets for the Last Day's Business with Quite a Falling Off in Attendance—The Names of McLean and Fithian Withdrawn from the Contest—Disaffected Democrats Want to Have Another Ticket Put Up.

CHICAGO, July 13.—Arthur Sewall of Maine was nominated Saturday by the delegates at the Democratic national convention on the fifth ballot as their choice for the vice presidency.

Arthur Sewall of Maine was elected, alderman in Bath, his native city, in 1876 and again in 1877. In 1872 he was present at the Democratic national convention at Cincinnati and saw Horace Greeley nominated. In 1880 he was a delegate at large from Maine to the national Democratic convention at St. Louis and in 1884 was present at the Democratic national convention that nominated Cleveland. In 1881 he was a member of the Democratic national committee.

CHICAGO, July 13.—The fifth and last day's session of the Democratic convention was opened by Chairman William White at 11:01 a. m. Saturday. There was a noticeable falling off in attendance. The business before the convention was to nominate a candidate for vice president. The following men were placed in nomination: Sewall of Maine by Burke of California; Pennoyer of Oregon by Miller of the same state; Fithian of Illinois by Tom L. Johnson of Ohio; Judge Walter Clark of North Carolina by Perry of the same state; James Hamilton Lewis by McIntyre of Washington; McLean of Ohio by Marston of Louisiana, and George Fred Williams of Massachusetts by O'Sullivan of the same state; Sibley of Pennsylvania by Showalter of the same state; Daniel of Virginia by Powers of Utah. Boies' Name Withdrawn.

Before the second ballot was begun ex-Governor Boies' name was withdrawn from the contest. Boies had intended to start a stampede for Bland by announcing that Alabama, which had on the first ballot divided her vote among five candidates, cast her 22 votes for Richard Parks Bland, whose name meant 16 to 1. California fell into line with 18 votes and Idaho and Montana 6 each for Bland. There was trouble in the Illinois delegation, but Governor Altgeld held the delegation for Sibley.

Iowa divided her thirty votes between McLean and Bland. Indiana and Kentucky were passed. Kansas went for Bland, Michigan clung to McLean, Nevada was transferred to the Bland column, Massachusetts, with the exception of two silver votes for Williams, declined to vote, and ex-Governor Flower sat silent in his seat when New York was called. When Rhode Island was called, Richardson, who was wielding the gavel, announced that the delegation had been obliged to leave to catch their train, but that he was authorized to cast the vote of the state for Harry. Iowa, after roll-call announced her vote for Sibley. Kentucky broke the unit rule and divided her vote as follows: McLean, 16; Williams, 1; Sibley, 1; Bland, 3; Sewall, 1.

CONDITION OF TRADE

As It is Reviewed by R. G. Dun & Co.'s Agency.

CONVENTIONS ADD TO DULLNESS.

The Wheat Market Advances a Little While Other Speculative Markets Are Stagnant—The Iron Trade Unsettled Owing to the Wage Question—Disposition to Defend Orders—Exports of Wheat and Flour—The Condition of Crops.

NEW YORK, July 13.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: With a political convention in progress directly antagonizing the position taken on the money question by the convention of last month, it is natural that there has been uncertainty about the future to intensify the dullness expected at this season. The wheat market advanced a little, while other speculative markets were stagnant or slightly declined, but its small advance was mainly due to reports of foreign crop reports and need. There are many who believe that the decrease in yield this year has been underestimated, and part of the dispatches gathered by Dun's Review last week tend to support that view, though practically all the returns from what are now the chief wheat growing states were cheering.

Exports of Wheat.

Less favorable accounts appear this week from Minnesota and Dakota. It is wise on both sides to remember that in spring wheat states, which have this year to make up for some loss elsewhere, the crop will not be out of danger for some weeks. Actual movements continue to indicate very large supplies in sight, western receipts for the week having reached 4,400,000 bushels, against 3,750,000 bushels last year, while the foreign demand does not at present cause very large Atlantic exports, which were for the week, four included, 1,260,736 bushels, against 1,171,654 bushels last year. Corn and oats promise so well thus far that prices do not advance, although exceptionally low already, and some months have made a new record for cheapness. Serious apprehension regarding injury by drought to cotton in Texas seemed quite seasonably to permit lightening of accumulated stocks of goods, a large yield could hardly prove more beneficial to the producers. Not much can be said of a market so flat as that of iron and steel products, but part of the activity is strictly seasonable, part is due to still unsettled questions about wages, and much more to a general disposition to defend orders until the future is clearer. Whether prices for finished products are too high or not, they average relatively at least 10 per cent. higher than prices of pig iron, which necessarily causes inaction when pig iron is going lower. Bessemer fell this week to $12 at Pittsburg, and gray forge to $10, but some contracts of importance have been placed, one for 1,000 to 2,000 tons for a new building on Park Row, and another for 10,000 tons cast pipe for Fifth avenue is pending. Quotations for finished products are not lower, but are sometimes out.

Heavy Stocks in Mills.

But with the large increase of average, a yield of at least fair proportion seems to be probable, and in view of heavy stocks carried in mills and markets here and abroad and mills closing quite extensively to permit lightening of accumulated stocks of goods, a large yield could hardly prove more beneficial to the producers. Not much can be said of a market so flat as that of iron and steel products, but part of the activity is strictly seasonable, part is due to still unsettled questions about wages, and much more to a general disposition to defend orders until the future is clearer. Whether prices for finished products are too high or not, they average relatively at least 10 per cent. higher than prices of pig iron, which necessarily causes inaction when pig iron is going lower. CADET MURPHY PUNISHED.

For Fighting with "Plebe" Davis He Is Reduced to the Ranks.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Cadet Pierce A. Murphy of the state of Washington is the first cadet at the United States Military academy in many years to be punished for fighting. Cadet Murphy had a ten-round fight with Edwin G. Davis of Idaho, a "plebe," last Wednesday afternoon. The battle was fought in Dialectic hall in the presence of several cadets. Davis was knocked out in the tenth round and is now in a hospital as a result of this injury. Murphy is a member of the first class, and until after the battle was captain of cadet company B. He fought Davis because the latter refused to obey the command of some cadets to "stand attention" until permission was given him to change his position. Murphy has been reduced to the ranks.
