Death of Capt. Ed Daniels.

The old saying that misfortunes never come singly was never more strikingly illustrated than yesterday, when the death of Abram Jacobson, in a mine accident in the forenoon, was followed by that of Capt. Ed Daniels, late in the afternoon. Capt. Daniels was one of the oldest and best-known mining men in this vicinity and had spent the greater part of his life working underground.

He was killed by falling from the 49th to the 51st level of No. 5 shaft, Calumet branch. Mine inspector Hall, after looking into the case, notified coroner Sowden, who empanelled the following jury to sit on the inquest: George Wright, James McCormick, Martin Effinger, William S. Bennetts, Dugald McKinnon and A. Pollock. The facts, or what could be obtained, were brought out at the inquest. The jury viewed the remains and then heard the testimony of the witnesses.

There were only two witnesses, Stephen Halley and John Jadrick. They stated that they, in company with the deceased, started from the 51st level, to climb to surface on the ladders. Capt. Daniels was ahead. They walked up to the 49th level and when they reached the ladder platform their lights went out on account of some smoke which had been occasioned by blasting near by.

One of the witnesses said not to go any farther until they got a light, when they heard a dull thud and Capt. Daniels had disappeared and fallen down the shaft. They went in search and the body was found at the 51st level. Life was not extinct, but the captain breathed his last shortly afterward. These were the only witnesses examined and the jury returned the following verdict:

"We, the jury, find that the deceased came to his death by falling from the 49th to the 51st level in No. 5 shaft, Calumet mine, on the 4th day of June, 1897, while in the discharge of his regular duties."

Capt. Daniels leaves a wife and family of grown-up children. He was 74 years of age. His wife has been living at Lehigh, but is expected on the evening train. The funeral will leave the late residence of the deceased in Sixth street at 3 o'clock tomorrow (Sunday) afternoon. Services at the Calumet M. E. church and interment at the Lake View cemetery. The deceased was a member of One and All Lodge, No. 272, Sons of St. George, and Red Jacket Tribe, I. O. R. M.

The Weather.

After several days of rain and snow the sun made an effort to make itself felt this morning. The kind of weather Calumet people have been experiencing for the past week or more is something out of the ordinary and the oldest resident cannot remember when the like of it occurred before.

The weather man has just issued a report for last month. The only remarkable thing about it was the fact that several inches of snow fell on the last two days not usual for May month. For the entire month there were but nineteen days when it was perfectly clear, as compared with twenty for April. The number of cloudy days amounted to ten and partly cloudy to two. In April there were seven cloudy days and three partly cloudy. The prevailing wind was east, the same as in April.

There was a greater snowfall in May than in April. Last month it amounted to 2 inches and in April it was 1½ inches. The total precipitation was 3.67 inches; the previous month it was 2.29 inches. The temperature was at its maximum point on the 8th, when it reached 78°; a little higher than it got in April. The coldest day in May was the 1st, when thermometer stood at 29° above zero. The mean maximum temperature was 55.09°, as compared with 45.87° for April. The mean minimum was 39.26° and the mean 47.67°.

Foundmaster Laid Out.

Abe Fohrman, Red Jacket's efficient foundmaster, had an experience last Thursday evening which he does not want repeated and which he is at a loss to know the cause of. He was walking up Sixth street early in the evening and when near Richard Pearce's building he was suddenly struck on the forehead by a hard instrument and laid out, unconscious, on the sidewalk, where he remained until some passer-by picked him up and took him home. His head is badly bruised and his shoulder is also hurt, but Mr. Fohrman was able to be out again today.

He says he was chasing a cow a short time before he was waylaid, but can furnish no clue as to who did the business.

Salvation Army Special Me. Times.

Ensign Berriman, of the Bla k Hills, S. D., section, will take part in the Army meetings this week in Red Jacket. His old friends are kindly invited to come and hear him.

Haggren, of the New York slum work, will lead special meetings in the Army barracks Sunday afternoon they will hold a slum meeting. The friends of the Army will miss a treat if they fail to be present.

It is reported that a wrestling match between two local sports will come off at Schoolcraft this evening for $10 a side. No little interest is taken in the match by local enthusiasts.

A Coroner's Inquest.

One Held Over the Remains of Abram Jacobson.

Only Two Witnesses Testify.

No Light Was Thrown on the Case by the Inquest—The Verdict—Other Metropolitan News.

The inquest over the remains of the late Abram Jacobson, who was killed in No. 2 shaft, Hecla, yesterday by being struck by a skip, was held yesterday afternoon. After Mine Inspector Hall had examined into the case he notified coroner Sowden and a jury, composed of Messrs. Thomas Wills, Jr., John C. Soddy, John J. Friederichs, Joseph Waters, William White and Milton Hilland, was empanelled. The jury viewed the remains, which were terribly mangled, at the Calumet hospital and then heard the testimony of two witnesses.

The inquest did not throw much light on the case. Joseph Tonkin and Martin Harper testified that they were at the 33d level, waiting for the skip to take them to surface, shortly before noon, and while waiting they noticed something out in the shaft which, upon examination, proved to be the body of a man. Captain Tonkin looked further up the shaft and found the dead man's boots, near one of which were some blood stains. The body, when found, was cold and rigid in death.

This was all that could be learned about the case. Jacobson was employed as a sprinkler and watchman; his business did not take him into the shaft, but sometimes the sprinklers looked after the rollers. He was, probably, doing this when the descending skip struck him. The body, when found, was out of the way of the skip but, judging from its appearance, it had been run over several times.

The jury brought in the following verdict:

"We, the jury, find that said Abram Jacobson was found dead in the 33d level, No. 2 shaft, Hecla mine, on the 4th day of June, 1897; cause of death or how the body came into the shaft to the jury unknown."

The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon. Services at the Finnish church on Pine street and interment at Schoolcraft.

Mrs. Dr. Blankner, who so efficiently assists Dr. Blankner in his professional work, will possibly be convalescent by Monday next, when she will be able to again resume her work in the painless extraction of teeth. Many say she is much more efficient in her skill and expertise than the doctor himself. Do not fail to come early at the Jewell Hotel.

Mr. Cook and Mr. Wilmers will go on to Owasco to attend the convention of the German Aid societies, the former as a grand lodge officer and the latter as a delegate from the local lodge.
