10WA'S BLIND GIRL.

SOME OF THE RECENT ACQUIRE-MENTS OF LINNIE HAGUEWOOD.

Story of the Blind, Deaf and Dumb Child Who In Two Years Learned to Read, Write, Sew and Talk-History of a Remarkable Case.

Linnie Haguewood, who was placed under the tuition of Miss Dora Donald in the Iowa College For the Blind two years ago, at the age of 16, is doubtless the most remarkable girl of whom there is any record. Born on a farm near Ida Grove, Ia., she had no special training until two years ago. When she was 18 months old, she was stricken by a disuse which came near ending her life. But she recovered, bereft of sight and hearing. She was deaf, dumb and blind. Linnio's parents were poor, and she had prothers to be looked after. There was no institution within the borders of lows that could receive her. Her parents knew not what to do save to keep her at home. For ten years her mind remained a blank, for they knew not how to teach her.

At the age of 14 the child happened to meet Mr. French of Dubuque, who was interested in all the blind and deaf. She was two years at Vinton before she had a special teacher. She attended the kindergarten classes and grasped all she could from the work given the other children. At the kindergarten Miss Dora Donald was the teacher. The other members of the school could talk and hear. Miss Donald was drawn toward Linnie, sympathizing with her efforts to become acquainted with the outside

To Bernard Murphy and to Miss Dora Donald is due the credit of the wonderful progress made by Linnie Haguewood. Miss Donald three years ago wrote and published in the Vinton Eagle a sketch of Linnie's struggle to learn. Bernard Murphy, editor of The Eagle, seconded Miss Donald's efforts to help Linnie, and he published appeal after appeal for aid to assist her. The response was quick and generous. Within 90 days he had $1,600, and the general assembly of the state in 1896 appropriated $500, making $2,100, a sum sufficient to have a teacher who would give her whole attention to Linnie for four years. Miss Donald was hired as her teacher.

"Then and not until then," writes Miss Donald, "did Linnie's school life begin. She was in the last month of and blind, with only a vocabulary of name words, a few simple sentences and such ideas as had come to her through her fingers."

Linnie is deft with the needle, having cut and made several garments for herself, her mother and her brothers. At present she is busy crocheting and knitting little Christmas gifts for her friends, little baby jackets, balls, hoods, mittens and "fascinators." During the year she makes the articles and sells them as souvenirs to the many people who come to the college to meet this bright, interesting girl.

Linnie has learned the New York point and the raised print. She has also learned the American braille and the English braille-equivalent to learning four languages. She knows all her friends by the touch of their hands. She has signs for all of her acquaintances. She carries a gold watch, a present to her, and she never hesitates to tell you the time of day, winding it and setting it whenever she likes. She recites the Lord's Prayer by use of the signs com-mon to the schools for the deaf. She is familiar with any combination of numbers under 1,000, can take you in imag-ination over all the world and point out all the objects of interest. In the kindergartens she makes all sorts of fancy work. She runs the sewing machine with the greatest of ease and has learned to write on the typewriter which was presented to her by the children of the public schools of Sioux Falls. Her friends in the South Dakota school for the deaf at Sioux Falls presented her with the typewriter desk, on which she takes great pleasure in writing to her friends, sometimes in script and sometimes on her typewriter. She writes script with a pencil, placing the paper on a grooved board. She learned to write on her typewriter so rapidly that in three days after she received it she wrote on it a letter of thanks to those who presented it to her. In gympastics she goes through the evolutions with scarcely a mistake, handling the dumbbells and clubs and keeping time with the music. In addition to all her other acquirements in the last year Linnie can talk and is able to read simple words spoken by her teacher. This seems incredible, when it is remembered that she neither lees nor bears a word that is written c poken. Linnie has made friends with the most distinguished people wherever she has been seen. The future alone can tell what may be developed in this re-markable case.—Chicago Record.

NEGRO'S QUEER CLAIM.

Says He Appointed Himself a Notary Publie Under the Constitution.

The commissioner of pensions has discovered a queer customer in Tennessee. The pension bureau recently received two papers purporting to be the declarations of widows executed before the Rev. Benjamin Parker and bearing the impress of what appears to be a notary's seal, which reads, "The Rev. Ben Parker, Notary Public, W. M. C., No. 1, Shelby county, Tenn."

Owing to the fact that no such man was commissioned as a notary public in that county a special examiner was directed to inquire into the matter. He took the Rev. Benjamin Parker's deposition as to whether he had or had not pretended to execute the papers.

In response to the examiner's questions Mr. Parker testified that he had placed the notary's seal on the papers and explained his reasons for so doing as follows:

"I claim to be a notary public of Shelby county, Tenn., not by appointment by the lawful authority of this state, but under the thirteenth and fourteenth amendments to the constitution of the United States of America, giving equal rights to the negro people of America, and also by reason of the fact that I am the chief officer and representative of the church of the living God. I have never been appointed a notary public by the county court of Shelby county, Tenn., but I claim the right to act as such under the authority I have hereinbefore named." - Buffalo Express.

SAVED FROM PIRACY.

Treasure Seekers to Solomon Islands Were

Led by a Buccancer. Former United States Consul Churchill of Apia, who arrived at Victoria on the steamer Aorangi recently from Honolulu, brings news of the schooner Sophin Sutherland and the party of 16 young men who sailed from San Francisco some weeks ago in search of treasure on the Solomon islands.

Mr. Churchill says that he was instrumental in putting an end to the voyage and apprising the treasure seekers of the true character of the man who had led them to the south sea islands. This man is Captain Sorenson, who, he says, is an old pirate and desperado.

There is no truth in the captain's story, Churchill says, that there is hidden treasure on the Solomon islands. He led a similar expedition from Australia ten years ago and afterward transformed the schooner into a pirate. He was captured by a warship and imprisoned for several years.

It was Capatin Sorenson's intention, says Mr. Churchill, to transform the Sutherland into a regular pirate, and, after forcing the young men to do his bidding, to prey upon the small boats of the native tribes that ply between the islands.-New York Herald.

CONSERVING OF FLOUR.

Compression Into Bricks Is Said to Keep It Sweet and Wholesome.

Both the British admiralty and the war department are testing under various climatic conditions the new method of conserving flour. One objection to the establishment of national granaries has been the difficulty of storing wheat minates and is ruined, and to keep vast lowing, from L. G. Bagley, flueneme, quantities in a sound condition has been pronounced by the royal commission impracticable.

Experiments are being made with system of compression into bricks by hydraulic pressure. The trials show that flour so treated is not affected by damp even under unfavorable conditions, is free from mold and is sweet and wholesome. Moreover, compression destroys all forms of larval life, and flour is thereby rendered safe from the attacks of insects. The saving in storage is enormous, as the cubic space occupied by 100 pounds of loose flour will hold more than 300 pounds of the compressed article,-New York Sun.

COLLAR CUT HIS THROAT.

Well Dressed Man of St. Louis Met With a Peculiar Accident.

Shadrach Wade of the firm of Wade & Bros. of St. Louis, contractors, is what is generally called a swell dresser and wears the choker collar, which is the cause of his present grief.

He boarded an Olive street car a few evenings ago for down town. When he arrived at his destination, he hopped off the car. His foot slipped, and he fell on the street. He arose and started away and soon felt something trickling down his neck. He put his hand to his collar and found it covered with blood. The pointed corners of the collar had pierced his throat, making two ugly gashes. He went to the dispensary, where Dr. Newcomb dressed his wounds.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

It Rained Wild Ducks In Leesburg.

Twenty-seven wild ducks were picked up in the streets of Leesburg recently. The night was rainy, and, attracted doubtless by the electric lights of the town, large numbers of ducks flying southward were seen about daybreak swooping around. Those secured and on show in a store there seem to be utterly exhausted. They are small, but very pretty fowls. - Washington Post.
