Big Jim Jeffries is on his way home, and "Little Anthea" is waiting for him.

The shots that ended Prof. Ferrer's life were heard around the world and their echoes have not yet died away.

Pitcher Adams of the Pittsburg Pirates seems to be almost as popular with the ladies as the first man of that name.

Hallowell's fall on Sunday this year and it is to be hoped it will put a crimp in the perilous activities of some of the sports.

Osdy Gabrielowitch is found to be in the line of things. Hardly has he married Mark Twain's daughter when he proceeds to undergo an operation for appendicitis.

The Peary man of Cook's route toward the north pole reminds us of the manner in which some men like home-ward when they quit the gang at 2 p. m.

Congressman Townsend has come and gone, having accomplished his purpose, that of making new friends. Knowing him better, the people of the copper country from now on will take more interest in his campaign.

The official bullet in New York city this year will be four and a half feet in width and contain thirty-two columns. Voters who do not reside in New York have cause to be thankful.

Mr. Langford now seeks a formal meeting with Stanley Ketchel, late of Michigan. But after that little argument of his with Mr. Johnson, Ketchel may feel justified in drawing the color line.

Mr. Townsend was well received in the upper peninsula, and if Senator Burrows decides to make us a visit he will be as cordially welcomed. Northern hospitality has yet to be equalled.

The Kansas City pastor who undertook to lead an "honest life" as a street car conductor, gave up the job after one week's trial. Evidently there is no hope for him outside of the newspaper business.

When the real campaign opens Mr. Osborn will conduct a vigorous speech-making tour of the lower part of the

A few weeks ago the windows of the druggist in my locality were filled with your remedy, and I exclaimed, "Oh, oh, yes! Another humbug! Still I shall try it," and immediately purchased a set of one of my druggists. I have used but one box of ointment, one bottle of Purifier and one-half bottle of Lotion, which has proved its efficacy in the most remarkable manner. Yours very truly, state, and in the meantime his political fences in the upper peninsula will not be neglected. That he will give the other candidates a merry Chase is certain.

We read that a hardy lot of young Michigan university crumpies, representing the football team of said institution, has left for Milwaukee to consult with the Marquette college gridiron specialists. Here's hoping the Milwaukee experts will not consign them to the hospital.

The American public seems to retain its confidence in Dr. Cook, nevertheless they would be more pleased with him if he would prove a few things before he continues raking in the shekels on the lecture platform. The Mt. McKinley matter is secondary to the north pole dispute, which should first be settled. It is up to the doctor to present his proofs as soon as possible. In the meantime he should stop lecturing.

During Governor Warner's six weeks visit to Kuntam, where he will buy about the raw material used in making timber, for the Jackson plant, that Kelly will provide over the destinies of Michigan. In this connection the Detroit Free Press remarks that "it will probably be his only chance to serve as governor." Significant, eh?

FARMERS AND AUTOS.

Despite the increased facilities for manufacturing automobiles, and it is said that not less than 200,000 will be made in 1923 the demand thus far exceeds the supply. The extraordinary prosperity of the American farmer is in large measure the cause for the development of the auto industry. It is doubted if there is a wage earner in the United States—in the common acceptance of the term—who is able to or is the owner of an automobile, but nearly every farmer in the middle-west and west must have one and is able to buy one. In fact the farmer is the best customer of the auto factory at present. Nebraska alone purchased some 1,000 machines during the past six months, and heavy purchases are reported from Kansas, Iowa, Texas and other states. It is said that a carload of autos has been shipped into the Dakotas and Minnesota every day the last six months and the order continues to flow into the factories.

The tremendous growth of the industry, and the rapid absorption of automobiles for commercial purposes, is one of the marvels of the year. Two years ago the prophecy was made that the epoch would soon be reached, and the trade decline. But the prophets will be obliged to make another guess for the farmer is buying automobiles.

That there will come a time when the market will be overstocked and an inevitable slump for two or three years is certain. This has always been the history of innovations of that character, and the same will be no exception. But it may require four or five years before this let up occurs, and by that time the machines may be come so cheap that every day laborer can afford the luxury of an automobile.

OSBORN'S CANDIDACY.

Chase S. Osborn has announced his candidacy for the office of governor of Michigan.

Further than his plain, direct statement of the reasons actuating him to try for the office, Mr. Osborn needs no recommendation.

In it the people of Michigan meet Saint Ste. Marie's honored and able son as they would were they to confront to face with him.

There is in his announcement the soundness and the rare character of the man, and the true regard of the citizen for the welfare of his native state which have ever attached to the service Chase Osborn has rendered Michigan as public servant and newspaper publisher.

The people of this state are ready to welcome to the office which seeks Mr. Osborn, a man of his high ideals and sterling worth.

The people are ready to welcome to the office which seeks Mr. Osborn a man who is willing to sacrifice his private interests, which the governorship would mean to him, and take the responsibilities of it upon his shoulders because of his sense of duty as a citizen.

The Osborn acceptance of the demands his state make upon him, rings true of an Americanism which is just now a-hunting in the African jungle.

It introduces to us that same vigorous type of citizenship that is as sorely needed in Lansing for the combatting of local ills as it was in Washington when Theodore Roosevelt took up the reins against the evils existing in the national government.

It is full of promise and the people of Michigan are to be congratulated that there is such a man among them, who is willing to take up the burden and raise the standard of their government out of the mire in which it lies bespotted at this minute.

For what Michigan has suffered in the past few republican administrations through political favoritism, incompetence, graft and misrule, Chase S. Osborn stands directly the opposite. He is qualified for the governorship beyond the possibility of comparison with any predecessor since Hazen S. Pingree.

A depleted state treasury needs him for the rare business judgment which has won for him marked success.

Poorly managed and graft-stained public institutions demand in Lansing a man of his efficient training and rock-ribbed honesty.

A legislature that is spineless and either corporation-paid or bluffed, demands the Osborn fiat over its head. A governor who will be governor is the crying need of the hour, if the state of Michigan is to be lifted up from where it has fallen under Warner mismanagement.

Graft and corporation had New York in a strangle-hold when New York found her Hughes.

Law-defiance was sweeping Missouri and graft was running wild when Missouri found her Folk.

Wisconsin, turned to La Follette as her redeemer and Minnesota to Johnson.

Michigan now has called upon her Osborn, who, through his sense of duty, hears the call, not alone of party, but from the decent citizenship and all lovers of good and honest government in his state, regardless of political affiliations.

Mr. Osborn himself a republican, which need not be remarked here except to suggest that it is well for the party and most fortunate from the standpoint of its future in Michigan that it numbers such a man among it. There would remain little hope for the minority side with the nomination Mr. Osborn's, but let it bring out as good a man and in the fall of 1910 we cannot again go wrong.—Detroit Times.
