KENTUCKY GIRL BECOMES THE BRIDE OF FRENCH MARQUIS

Miss Susanne Henning, Noted Beauty From Blue Grass State, is Married to Son of General de Charette, Head of French Royalists in Brittany—"Love at First Sight."

New York, Nov. 11.—Before a large and fashionable assemblage in St. Patrick's cathedral, Archbishop Farley officiated at the wedding today of Miss Susanne Henning, a noted beauty from the Blue Grass region of Kentucky.

Miss Marjorie Curtis was the bride's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were the Misses Helen Cozier, Dorothy Hayden, Francis Alexander, Lucia E. Hull, all of New York; Miss Helen B. Hibbs of Washington, and Miss Emily L. Helm of Louisville.

The wedding of Miss Henning and the Marquis de Charette is a case of "love at first sight." When the young marquis met his future bride at the home of her parents in Tuxedo Park, the Hennings were bitterly opposed to having a titled son-in-law.

The Marquis de Charette was born in Paris and is 29 years old. The Duchess of Madrid and Don Carlos were his sponsors. He spent several years in Germany, and after his military service accompanied the Duke of Orleans on a journey to the east.

The bride of today is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Williamson Henning. She has made her home in Louisville and New York and has also spent much of her time in Washington and at Tuxedo.

Cairo, Ill., Nov. 11.—Except for an unconfirmed rumor that Sheriff Davis has placed Will James, the negro suspected of killing Annie Pelly, in jail at Murphyboro, Ill., there was no news here this morning to indicate the sheriff emerged from the woods near Dongola, Ill., into which he plunged with his prisoner last night. KING EMMANUEL'S BIRTHDAY.

Crowned Head of Italy is Forty Years of Age Today. Rome, Nov. 11.—A general holiday was kept throughout Italy today in celebration of the fortieth birthday of King Victor Emmanuel. In Rome the anniversary was observed by a general suspension of business, the decoration of public and private buildings and the holding of numerous fetes.

It is now approaching ten years since Victor Emmanuel was called to the throne to succeed his father, the assassinated King Humbert. At that time he was among the youngest of the monarchs of Europe and grave doubts were expressed in many quarters as to the ability of the young ruler to cope with the problems that confronted him. In ten years time he has more than fulfilled the hopes of his most ardent admirers. It is not saying too much, in fact, to state that during the past few years the king has developed into a powerful factor in European politics, of which he has a comprehensive grasp and an intimate and detailed knowledge.

ARE PAYING BACK TAXES.

Railroads Are Settling Up Their Accounts With the State.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 11.—The auditor general's department has been carrying on a campaign for some time to collect back taxes from the railroads of the state, and their efforts are bearing fruit. Yesterday a check for $26,587.31, for the taxes and penalties for the years 1907 and 1908, was received from the Manistique & Grand Rapids railway. Two other roads will be sold next month if they do not come through with the taxes assessed against them, and it is believed that the money will be forthcoming. The Manistique & Lake Superior road, which, as the old Manistique, Marquette & Northern, was purchased by the Ann Arbor railroad several months ago, has paid no taxes since 1903, and the amount now due the state, including the penalties, is $93,536.04. The sale of this road is advertised for Dec. 8 and the Wisconsin & Michigan line, which now owes the state $76,690.98, will be sold to the highest bidder the next day.

The back taxes due the state from different railroads and corporations is estimated at nearly $200,000 and a strenuous effort will be made to collect this at once.

TO TALK ABOUT SYRIANS.

Immigration and Naturalization to be Taken Up by Cabinet.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Syrian immigration may be considered at an early meeting of the president's cabinet. Attorney General Wickersham has the matter under consideration and it may be brought to the attention of the other advisers of the president. Recently several courts, among them those of Los Angeles, Providence and New Orleans, have passed upon the subject, holding that Syrians who had complied with the requirements were entitled to naturalization. The naturalization bureau, however, has differed with the courts and some final conclusion is sought.

In the meanwhile the recent order of the department of justice temporarily suspending enforcement of the anti-naturalization cases against Syrians is in effect.

NEW R. R. LAWS WILL BE SANE

Hepburn Does Not Think They Will be Hostile if Roads Obey Old Laws.

MEET BEST INTERESTS OF ALL

The Spirit of Vindictiveness Will Not Enter into Railroad Legislation Says Former Leader at Banquet of New York Railway Business Association.

New York, Nov. 10.—Representative W. P. Hepburn of Iowa, and author of the Hepburn act, was the principal speaker last night at the dinner of the Railway Business association. Mr. Hepburn spoke of future railroad legislation and said:

"Discriminations and rebates through twenty years compelled the legislation of 1896. We are now told in some quarters that there is to be other legislation. Probably some contemplated provisions would be harmful, others not. What serious hurt could come to railroads if their capital could not be increased until the matter had been approved by the government authority?"

"It has been suggested that the commission should be empowered to postpone in its discretion any projected rate increase until a final hearing and determination by the commission. Evil disposed persons could suspend every rate and prevent a just and needed advance until the delay and burden and expense of investigation had been met. If at the end of this investigation it should be found that the protest was without basis, no practical remedy could be afforded. If this rule should be adopted it would deter roads from voluntarily lowering rates, because of the fear that they could not be advanced without protest.

"The people have no spirit of vindictiveness. It would be well high suicidal for the law-making power to indulge in enactments that were unnecessary simply for oppression's sake, and which would cripple the roads in their efforts to produce conditions of prosperity. Yet law-makers are like other men. They do not look with favor upon those who deride their authority. If the provisions of the statutes as they now exist are in good faith accepted by the carriers, if the interests of the shippers are looked to, as well as the interests of the carriers, there will be no legislation that can be called hostile."

President Brown Talks.

New York, Nov. 11.—William C. Brown, president of the New York Central lines, said that the question of railroad regulation admitted of no further debate but that the extent to which it should be exercised was still open for discussion. In his speech on "The Nation's Farms and National Prosperity," Mr. Brown said:

"The right to regulate railroads is no longer open for debate. The extent to which this right should be exercised is still open for discussion—not in a hostile spirit, not for the purpose of fixing by law an arbitrary point beyond which regulation should not go, but in a spirit of friendly co-operation to try and ascertain, in the interest alike of the public and the railroads, that happy mean which shall result in the maximum benefit to the patrons of the railroads and the minimum embarrassment in the way of restrictive regulation to the railroads.

"Referring to the subject assigned me, the boundless extent of fertile unoccupied land in the United States is gone. In times of depression our unemployed will be numbered by millions. I desire to suggest two plans.

"First, the broadening of vocational education, especially agricultural. Second, the doubling of our rural population by more than doubling the product per acre of the nation's farms. The United States produces far less grain and potatoes per acre than several nations of Europe having poorer soil, and has retrograded in the last 30 years. Our food exports, including meats, show an alarmingly rapid decline. If the converging lines of production and consumption continue to approach each other as they have during the last ten years, long before the end of the present decade the last vessel loaded with agricultural product will have left our shores.

"I am going to recommend to the owners of the roads, with which I am connected the operation of experimental farms, at the expense of the road, but under the auspices of the agricultural college of the state in which the farm is located. If such recommendation is adopted, I shall hope to see it followed by other roads. This system would multiply prosperous farmers. It would also return to the rural districts the preponderance of political power, where it can be more safely lodged than in the congested centers of population, already ominously powerful in many of our states."

It is understood there is to be a secret meeting of insurgents in the near future and that these three striking figures of politics will take charge of the insurgent forces.
