

SPORTING

MICHIGAN AND CHICAGO MAY MEET ON GRIDIRON IN 1910

Stagg Intends to Book Wolverines for Battle Next Season—Followers of the Two Schools Think Annual Contest Will Be Renewed—Michigan May Go Back into Conference.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—Coach A. A. Stagg is planning a shake-up in his traditional football schedule, and the maroon adherents are promised some thrillers in the way of new games next season. Two big eastern teams are expected to appear against the Midway warriors, while Michigan is also a possibility. It was learned yesterday at the maroon campus.

Cornell and Chicago after trying this year and last at 6 to 6, will meet again unless unforeseen entanglements occur, and the other eastern "dark horse" is likely to be chosen from among West Point, the Navy, Pennsylvania and Brown. The next month probably will see the new games arranged.

Michigan's relation to the Chicago schedule will not be determined at once, but it is the opinion of alumni of the two schools that there is an unusually good chance for a renewal of the Chicago-Wolverine contest. Graduates of both schools have come out strong for the game.

Refuses to Talk of Game. Coach Stagg declined to discuss the prospects of a Michigan game, though admitting that there would be no trouble if the make and line institution should come into the conference once more. Whether the two schools can agree on a schedule as conditions are now and whether Michigan will seek readmission to the conference next June are the two main questions now, according to the alumni and athletic officials.

Many of the followers of the two schools are inclined to think the Chicago-Michigan game will be scheduled. Michigan's success in getting a game with Minnesota this year was regarded as an opening wedge to a renewal of relations with the conference, and as the game is sure to be the great event of the season, it is thought the officials may come round and agree to terms.

Chance for Many Games. Coach Stagg has invitations from Pennsylvania, Brown and the Navy remaining over from this year. Cornell has not been officially scheduled, but Coach Stagg admitted that a third contest was likely. He was pleasant all around, and the maroons would dislike to lose another chance at the Ithacans.

Minnesota and Chicago have no written contract for a game next year, according to Coach Stagg. This is always the case between the two schools, however, and the game is considered sure. Illinois, Wisconsin and Northwestern are fixtures on Chicago's schedule, but there is a chance that either Purdue or Indiana or both may be dropped.

If "Jimmy" Sheldon leaves Indiana a game with the Hoosiers will be unlikely, it is believed at the Midway. Purdue has been uncertain for the last three years, and the rooters believe the school will be passed up this time, leaving room for the new eastern contest or the possible Michigan battle.

Not Sure of Schedule. "I cannot say definitely what next year's schedule will be," said Coach Stagg. "It is entirely probable that a considerable shift will be made in the teams played, though no action of this sort has been taken as yet. The Cornell authorities have not asked for another game so far, but I think a game probable."

The maroons are undecided about their chances for next year. The freshman team failed to show any big stars, and the fact that Minnesota is known to have the finest line of prospects looks bad to the Midway eye. Chicago lost heavily, and Stagg will have to build practically an entirely new team.

GRAND Family Theatre New Pictures EVERY DAY ALSO Latest Illustrated Songs Matinee 2:30; Evening 7:30 Admission: Adults 10c Children 5c

NEW PRIZE RING RULES ARE PROPOSED BY JOE CHOYNSKI

Former Pugilistic Star Has Outlined Revision of Old Regulations—Referee Would Be Given More Power as Third Man in Arena—Wants New Rules to Govern Coming Fight.

Joe Choynski, one of the cleverest heavyweights in the ring a dozen years ago, says the proposed fight between Jeffries and Johnson should be governed by a set of revised rules, and he has taken the trouble to draw up a code which he thinks will be acceptable to both men. Choynski's rules follow:

- 1. To be a fair stand up boxing match in a 24-foot ring or as near that size as practicable.
2. No wrestling, hugging, feeling, butting or gouging allowed.
3. The rounds to be of three minutes duration and one minute between rounds.
4. If either man is knocked down he must get up unassisted inside of ten seconds, the other man meanwhile to move about ten feet away so as to give the man who is down a chance to arise. When the fallen man is on his feet the round is to be resumed and continued until the three minutes have expired. If the man who has been knocked down fails to be on his feet inside of the ten seconds allowed the referee shall give his decision in favor of the other man.
5. A man hanging on the ropes in a helpless state with his toes off the ground shall be considered down.
6. No seconds or any other persons except the principals and the referee shall be allowed in the ring during the rounds. Any second or other person entering the ring during the rounds shall be ejected and the contest shall continue, and no foul allowed on that account.
7. Should the contest be stopped by police interference the referee has full power to render a decision.
8. Five ounce special gloves, furnished by the club, to be used in all contests.
9. Should a glove burst or come off the referee shall order both men to their corners, where the glove or gloves must be fixed to the satisfaction of the referee. The time consumed in replacing the glove or gloves shall not be counted as part of the time of the round.
10. A man on one knee is considered down and if struck is entitled to the decision.
11. Only boxing shoes, regulation style, with either chamol, skskin or rubber soles allowed.
12. Hitting in the breakaway is permitted.
13. When the referee orders the men to break, they must obey instantly and release each other at once.
14. The official timekeeper of the club shall only time the rounds and the rests between rounds, and the referee shall be the only one to time and count on knockdowns, in any manner deemed best by him.
15. If, in the opinion of the referee, the contestants are "faking," he may declare the bout "no contest," in which event the club need not pay the purse or any part of it.
16. If a contestant commits a foul which, in the opinion of the referee, is unintentional and does not incapacitate his opponent from continuing, he shall be warned, but if the foul incapacitates his opponent from continuing or, in the opinion of the referee, destroys his chances of winning, he shall be disqualified.
17. If a man commits a deliberate foul he shall be immediately disqualified and shall receive no part of the purse.
18. If, in the opinion of the referee, a bout becomes dangerous to one of the contestants or an immediate knockout seems unavoidable he may stop the bout and render his decision.
19. If a second throws up the sponge when it is apparent to the referee that the principal can continue and have a chance of winning the contest shall not be stopped, but the second so offending shall be ejected from the building and not allowed to act as second at any future time before any club.
20. Any controversy arising between contestants through different interpretations of the foregoing rules by each or relative to points not covered by these rules shall be decided by the referee, and his decision shall be final and binding on both contestants as well as on their seconds and others connected with them in any capacity whatsoever.
21. Any principal, second or timekeeper who willfully violates any of these rules shall be debarred from acting in the capacity of principal, second or timekeeper in future.
22. The foregoing rules shall be considered part of the articles of agreement between the contestants, with each other and with the club before which they are to box.
In the Marquis of Queensberry code there are 12 rules. In Choynski's code Rules 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 9 and 10 are practically taken from the Queensberry rules, though more clearly defined. Taken as a whole, the Queensberry rules are out of date and Choynski's substitution is worthy of note, according to many followers of pugilism. The National Sporting Club of London has recently adopted new rules of its own framing and has passed the Queensberry code up for all time.

FOOTBALL GAMES; NOTRE DAME AND MARQUETTE TIE

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 26.—Nothing to nothing was the result of yesterday's football battle between Marquette and Notre Dame universities for the football championship of the west. In one of the most desperate battles ever fought on a western gridiron, the teams battled for two thirty-five minute halves. The game ended with the ball a scant ten yards on the Marquette end of the field, in Marquette's possession. At the beginning of the second half Marquette was playing constantly in Notre Dame territory, but near the end of this half Notre Dame managed to head most of the game in Marquette's end of the field. Many changes of players were made as the game neared the close, but the contest was practically without injury to any of the players.

The first half was a succession of interchanges of the ball from one team to the other with frequent punting. Neither team was long gains. Penalties were frequent for rough playing. In the second half Marquette played for several downs in Notre Dame territory and it looked as if Marquette would amply score. Fighting in the shadow of their own goal, however, Notre Dame gradually pushed the ball back. The Marquette men played as desperately with their goal in danger as Notre Dame had done in similar circumstances. The Eleventh Infantry band that had been serenading the visitors outside the hotel, was called in and made things lively for the rest of the evening. The two teams were made up as follows: "Nationals"—Parker, second base; Fox, third base; McLenn, catcher; Berthong, centerfield; Smith, shortstop; Hodges, first base; Jones, rightfield; Studley, leftfield; Williams, pitcher. "Unions"—Dooley, pitcher; Evans, catcher; Randle, first base; Uukles, shortstop; Castello, rightfield; Houghton, centerfield; Bennett, second base; Emerick, third base; Seaton, leftfield. "Thirty-four runs were made by the Nationals in the third inning and 30 in the ninth. The game required three hours and 45 minutes to play."

Football Summary. Lake Forest 17; DePaul 3. Drake 11; Ames 9. Knox 17; Lombard 11. Notre Dame 9; Marquette 9. Des Moines college 11; Pennsylvania college 8. Rose Polytechnic 57; Franklin college 17. Butler college 12; Wabash 9. Culver Military 29; Ohio Northern university 6. Milliken university 17; Shurtleff college 15. South Dakota school of mines 6; Creighton 6. Carlisle 22; St. Louis 6. Nebraska 5; Haskell 16. Missouri 12; Kansas 6. Denver 29; Colorado college 6. Washburn 9; Kansas State Agricultural 40. Ohio State 22; Kenyon 9. Michigan Agricultural 34; Detroit Athletic club 9. Pennsylvania 17; Cornell 6. University of Pittsburg 9; Pennsylvania State 5.

Good Idea. What a lot of time we would save if we could forget what others might say—but never do say.

143 IN ONE GAME. That Many Runs Scored in Game Played in the Sixties. An old newspaper clipping from a Richmond paper back in the middle '60's tells of a baseball game between the Nationals of Washington, D. C., and the Unions of Richmond. The score of the game was 143 to 11, but the chief interest centers around the way the team was entertained by the Virginians in comparison with the businesslike methods of today. The article reads as follows: "At the conclusion of the game the Nationals were escorted to their hotel, where they rested from their exertions of the afternoon and at 9 o'clock assembled in the supper-room of the Ballard house to partake of a banquet tendered them by the Union club. At 10 o'clock the members of the National and Union clubs, one of each league in arm-in-arm, together with invited guests, entered the spacious dining room, where there was presented to the eye such a feast as the proprietors of that hotel know so well how to serve out. Champagne was the chief beverage. "Captain Dooley of the Union club arose and tendered the champion ball, which the Nationals had won, to Mr. Williams of the Nationals, who had been selected to represent that club. Mr. Williams responded in an appropriate manner, alluding to the handsome style in which they had been received and the great good feeling which prevailed during the progress of the contest. "The Eleventh Infantry band that had been serenading the visitors outside the hotel, was called in and made things lively for the rest of the evening. The two teams were made up as follows: "Nationals"—Parker, second base; Fox, third base; McLenn, catcher; Berthong, centerfield; Smith, shortstop; Hodges, first base; Jones, rightfield; Studley, leftfield; Williams, pitcher. "Unions"—Dooley, pitcher; Evans, catcher; Randle, first base; Uukles, shortstop; Castello, rightfield; Houghton, centerfield; Bennett, second base; Emerick, third base; Seaton, leftfield. "Thirty-four runs were made by the Nationals in the third inning and 30 in the ninth. The game required three hours and 45 minutes to play."

ALL-WESTERN TEAMS. Some of Those Selected Very Good and Others Very Odd. The All-Westerns are now in full blossom and bloom. Some of them are good, some rather odd, and some not even that. There is a clan of them: Chicago Evening Post—Page, Chicago, right end. Walker, Minnesota, right tackle. Butzer, Illinois, right guard. Farnum, Minnesota, center. Benbrook, Michigan, left guard. Osthoff, Wisconsin, left tackle. Anderson, Wisconsin, left end. McGovern, Minnesota, quarter. Allerdee, Michigan, right half. Rosenwald, Minnesota, left half. Vaughan, Notre Dame, fullback. Chicago Evening Post—Dean, Wisconsin, left end. Walker, Minnesota, left tackle. Butzer, Illinois, left guard. Farnum, Minnesota, center. Benbrook, Michigan, center. Osthoff, Wisconsin, right guard. Page, Chicago, right end. McGovern, Minnesota, quarter. Crawley, Chicago, left half. Magidson, Michigan, right half. Vaughan, Notre Dame, fullback. Conference Team—Dean, Wisconsin, left end. Walker, Minnesota, left tackle. Butzer, Illinois, left guard. Farnum, Minnesota, center. Benbrook, Michigan, center. Wash, Northwestern, right guard. Osthoff, Wisconsin, right tackle. Page, Chicago, right end. McGovern, Minnesota, quarterback. Crawley, Chicago, left halfback. Rosenwald, Minnesota, right halfback.

143 IN ONE GAME.

That Many Runs Scored in Game Played in the Sixties. An old newspaper clipping from a Richmond paper back in the middle '60's tells of a baseball game between the Nationals of Washington, D. C., and the Unions of Richmond. The score of the game was 143 to 11, but the chief interest centers around the way the team was entertained by the Virginians in comparison with the businesslike methods of today. The article reads as follows: "At the conclusion of the game the Nationals were escorted to their hotel, where they rested from their exertions of the afternoon and at 9 o'clock assembled in the supper-room of the Ballard house to partake of a banquet tendered them by the Union club. At 10 o'clock the members of the National and Union clubs, one of each league in arm-in-arm, together with invited guests, entered the spacious dining room, where there was presented to the eye such a feast as the proprietors of that hotel know so well how to serve out. Champagne was the chief beverage. "Captain Dooley of the Union club arose and tendered the champion ball, which the Nationals had won, to Mr. Williams of the Nationals, who had been selected to represent that club. Mr. Williams responded in an appropriate manner, alluding to the handsome style in which they had been received and the great good feeling which prevailed during the progress of the contest. "The Eleventh Infantry band that had been serenading the visitors outside the hotel, was called in and made things lively for the rest of the evening. The two teams were made up as follows: "Nationals"—Parker, second base; Fox, third base; McLenn, catcher; Berthong, centerfield; Smith, shortstop; Hodges, first base; Jones, rightfield; Studley, leftfield; Williams, pitcher. "Unions"—Dooley, pitcher; Evans, catcher; Randle, first base; Uukles, shortstop; Castello, rightfield; Houghton, centerfield; Bennett, second base; Emerick, third base; Seaton, leftfield. "Thirty-four runs were made by the Nationals in the third inning and 30 in the ninth. The game required three hours and 45 minutes to play."

The article reads as follows: "At the conclusion of the game the Nationals were escorted to their hotel, where they rested from their exertions of the afternoon and at 9 o'clock assembled in the supper-room of the Ballard house to partake of a banquet tendered them by the Union club. At 10 o'clock the members of the National and Union clubs, one of each league in arm-in-arm, together with invited guests, entered the spacious dining room, where there was presented to the eye such a feast as the proprietors of that hotel know so well how to serve out. Champagne was the chief beverage. "Captain Dooley of the Union club arose and tendered the champion ball, which the Nationals had won, to Mr. Williams of the Nationals, who had been selected to represent that club. Mr. Williams responded in an appropriate manner, alluding to the handsome style in which they had been received and the great good feeling which prevailed during the progress of the contest. "The Eleventh Infantry band that had been serenading the visitors outside the hotel, was called in and made things lively for the rest of the evening. The two teams were made up as follows: "Nationals"—Parker, second base; Fox, third base; McLenn, catcher; Berthong, centerfield; Smith, shortstop; Hodges, first base; Jones, rightfield; Studley, leftfield; Williams, pitcher. "Unions"—Dooley, pitcher; Evans, catcher; Randle, first base; Uukles, shortstop; Castello, rightfield; Houghton, centerfield; Bennett, second base; Emerick, third base; Seaton, leftfield. "Thirty-four runs were made by the Nationals in the third inning and 30 in the ninth. The game required three hours and 45 minutes to play."

The article reads as follows: "At the conclusion of the game the Nationals were escorted to their hotel, where they rested from their exertions of the afternoon and at 9 o'clock assembled in the supper-room of the Ballard house to partake of a banquet tendered them by the Union club. At 10 o'clock the members of the National and Union clubs, one of each league in arm-in-arm, together with invited guests, entered the spacious dining room, where there was presented to the eye such a feast as the proprietors of that hotel know so well how to serve out. Champagne was the chief beverage. "Captain Dooley of the Union club arose and tendered the champion ball, which the Nationals had won, to Mr. Williams of the Nationals, who had been selected to represent that club. Mr. Williams responded in an appropriate manner, alluding to the handsome style in which they had been received and the great good feeling which prevailed during the progress of the contest. "The Eleventh Infantry band that had been serenading the visitors outside the hotel, was called in and made things lively for the rest of the evening. The two teams were made up as follows: "Nationals"—Parker, second base; Fox, third base; McLenn, catcher; Berthong, centerfield; Smith, shortstop; Hodges, first base; Jones, rightfield; Studley, leftfield; Williams, pitcher. "Unions"—Dooley, pitcher; Evans, catcher; Randle, first base; Uukles, shortstop; Castello, rightfield; Houghton, centerfield; Bennett, second base; Emerick, third base; Seaton, leftfield. "Thirty-four runs were made by the Nationals in the third inning and 30 in the ninth. The game required three hours and 45 minutes to play."

The article reads as follows: "At the conclusion of the game the Nationals were escorted to their hotel, where they rested from their exertions of the afternoon and at 9 o'clock assembled in the supper-room of the Ballard house to partake of a banquet tendered them by the Union club. At 10 o'clock the members of the National and Union clubs, one of each league in arm-in-arm, together with invited guests, entered the spacious dining room, where there was presented to the eye such a feast as the proprietors of that hotel know so well how to serve out. Champagne was the chief beverage. "Captain Dooley of the Union club arose and tendered the champion ball, which the Nationals had won, to Mr. Williams of the Nationals, who had been selected to represent that club. Mr. Williams responded in an appropriate manner, alluding to the handsome style in which they had been received and the great good feeling which prevailed during the progress of the contest. "The Eleventh Infantry band that had been serenading the visitors outside the hotel, was called in and made things lively for the rest of the evening. The two teams were made up as follows: "Nationals"—Parker, second base; Fox, third base; McLenn, catcher; Berthong, centerfield; Smith, shortstop; Hodges, first base; Jones, rightfield; Studley, leftfield; Williams, pitcher. "Unions"—Dooley, pitcher; Evans, catcher; Randle, first base; Uukles, shortstop; Castello, rightfield; Houghton, centerfield; Bennett, second base; Emerick, third base; Seaton, leftfield. "Thirty-four runs were made by the Nationals in the third inning and 30 in the ninth. The game required three hours and 45 minutes to play."

The article reads as follows: "At the conclusion of the game the Nationals were escorted to their hotel, where they rested from their exertions of the afternoon and at 9 o'clock assembled in the supper-room of the Ballard house to partake of a banquet tendered them by the Union club. At 10 o'clock the members of the National and Union clubs, one of each league in arm-in-arm, together with invited guests, entered the spacious dining room, where there was presented to the eye such a feast as the proprietors of that hotel know so well how to serve out. Champagne was the chief beverage. "Captain Dooley of the Union club arose and tendered the champion ball, which the Nationals had won, to Mr. Williams of the Nationals, who had been selected to represent that club. Mr. Williams responded in an appropriate manner, alluding to the handsome style in which they had been received and the great good feeling which prevailed during the progress of the contest. "The Eleventh Infantry band that had been serenading the visitors outside the hotel, was called in and made things lively for the rest of the evening. The two teams were made up as follows: "Nationals"—Parker, second base; Fox, third base; McLenn, catcher; Berthong, centerfield; Smith, shortstop; Hodges, first base; Jones, rightfield; Studley, leftfield; Williams, pitcher. "Unions"—Dooley, pitcher; Evans, catcher; Randle, first base; Uukles, shortstop; Castello, rightfield; Houghton, centerfield; Bennett, second base; Emerick, third base; Seaton, leftfield. "Thirty-four runs were made by the Nationals in the third inning and 30 in the ninth. The game required three hours and 45 minutes to play."

The article reads as follows: "At the conclusion of the game the Nationals were escorted to their hotel, where they rested from their exertions of the afternoon and at 9 o'clock assembled in the supper-room of the Ballard house to partake of a banquet tendered them by the Union club. At 10 o'clock the members of the National and Union clubs, one of each league in arm-in-arm, together with invited guests, entered the spacious dining room, where there was presented to the eye such a feast as the proprietors of that hotel know so well how to serve out. Champagne was the chief beverage. "Captain Dooley of the Union club arose and tendered the champion ball, which the Nationals had won, to Mr. Williams of the Nationals, who had been selected to represent that club. Mr. Williams responded in an appropriate manner, alluding to the handsome style in which they had been received and the great good feeling which prevailed during the progress of the contest. "The Eleventh Infantry band that had been serenading the visitors outside the hotel, was called in and made things lively for the rest of the evening. The two teams were made up as follows: "Nationals"—Parker, second base; Fox, third base; McLenn, catcher; Berthong, centerfield; Smith, shortstop; Hodges, first base; Jones, rightfield; Studley, leftfield; Williams, pitcher. "Unions"—Dooley, pitcher; Evans, catcher; Randle, first base; Uukles, shortstop; Castello, rightfield; Houghton, centerfield; Bennett, second base; Emerick, third base; Seaton, leftfield. "Thirty-four runs were made by the Nationals in the third inning and 30 in the ninth. The game required three hours and 45 minutes to play."

The article reads as follows: "At the conclusion of the game the Nationals were escorted to their hotel, where they rested from their exertions of the afternoon and at 9 o'clock assembled in the supper-room of the Ballard house to partake of a banquet tendered them by the Union club. At 10 o'clock the members of the National and Union clubs, one of each league in arm-in-arm, together with invited guests, entered the spacious dining room, where there was presented to the eye such a feast as the proprietors of that hotel know so well how to serve out. Champagne was the chief beverage. "Captain Dooley of the Union club arose and tendered the champion ball, which the Nationals had won, to Mr. Williams of the Nationals, who had been selected to represent that club. Mr. Williams responded in an appropriate manner, alluding to the handsome style in which they had been received and the great good feeling which prevailed during the progress of the contest. "The Eleventh Infantry band that had been serenading the visitors outside the hotel, was called in and made things lively for the rest of the evening. The two teams were made up as follows: "Nationals"—Parker, second base; Fox, third base; McLenn, catcher; Berthong, centerfield; Smith, shortstop; Hodges, first base; Jones, rightfield; Studley, leftfield; Williams, pitcher. "Unions"—Dooley, pitcher; Evans, catcher; Randle, first base; Uukles, shortstop; Castello, rightfield; Houghton, centerfield; Bennett, second base; Emerick, third base; Seaton, leftfield. "Thirty-four runs were made by the Nationals in the third inning and 30 in the ninth. The game required three hours and 45 minutes to play."

The article reads as follows: "At the conclusion of the game the Nationals were escorted to their hotel, where they rested from their exertions of the afternoon and at 9 o'clock assembled in the supper-room of the Ballard house to partake of a banquet tendered them by the Union club. At 10 o'clock the members of the National and Union clubs, one of each league in arm-in-arm, together with invited guests, entered the spacious dining room, where there was presented to the eye such a feast as the proprietors of that hotel know so well how to serve out. Champagne was the chief beverage. "Captain Dooley of the Union club arose and tendered the champion ball, which the Nationals had won, to Mr. Williams of the Nationals, who had been selected to represent that club. Mr. Williams responded in an appropriate manner, alluding to the handsome style in which they had been received and the great good feeling which prevailed during the progress of the contest. "The Eleventh Infantry band that had been serenading the visitors outside the hotel, was called in and made things lively for the rest of the evening. The two teams were made up as follows: "Nationals"—Parker, second base; Fox, third base; McLenn, catcher; Berthong, centerfield; Smith, shortstop; Hodges, first base; Jones, rightfield; Studley, leftfield; Williams, pitcher. "Unions"—Dooley, pitcher; Evans, catcher; Randle, first base; Uukles, shortstop; Castello, rightfield; Houghton, centerfield; Bennett, second base; Emerick, third base; Seaton, leftfield. "Thirty-four runs were made by the Nationals in the third inning and 30 in the ninth. The game required three hours and 45 minutes to play."

The article reads as follows: "At the conclusion of the game the Nationals were escorted to their hotel, where they rested from their exertions of the afternoon and at 9 o'clock assembled in the supper-room of the Ballard house to partake of a banquet tendered them by the Union club. At 10 o'clock the members of the National and Union clubs, one of each league in arm-in-arm, together with invited guests, entered the spacious dining room, where there was presented to the eye such a feast as the proprietors of that hotel know so well how to serve out. Champagne was the chief beverage. "Captain Dooley of the Union club arose and tendered the champion ball, which the Nationals had won, to Mr. Williams of the Nationals, who had been selected to represent that club. Mr. Williams responded in an appropriate manner, alluding to the handsome style in which they had been received and the great good feeling which prevailed during the progress of the contest. "The Eleventh Infantry band that had been serenading the visitors outside the hotel, was called in and made things lively for the rest of the evening. The two teams were made up as follows: "Nationals"—Parker, second base; Fox, third base; McLenn, catcher; Berthong, centerfield; Smith, shortstop; Hodges, first base; Jones, rightfield; Studley, leftfield; Williams, pitcher. "Unions"—Dooley, pitcher; Evans, catcher; Randle, first base; Uukles, shortstop; Castello, rightfield; Houghton, centerfield; Bennett, second base; Emerick, third base; Seaton, leftfield. "Thirty-four runs were made by the Nationals in the third inning and 30 in the ninth. The game required three hours and 45 minutes to play."

The article reads as follows: "At the conclusion of the game the Nationals were escorted to their hotel, where they rested from their exertions of the afternoon and at 9 o'clock assembled in the supper-room of the Ballard house to partake of a banquet tendered them by the Union club. At 10 o'clock the members of the National and Union clubs, one of each league in arm-in-arm, together with invited guests, entered the spacious dining room, where there was presented to the eye such a feast as the proprietors of that hotel know so well how to serve out. Champagne was the chief beverage. "Captain Dooley of the Union club arose and tendered the champion ball, which the Nationals had won, to Mr. Williams of the Nationals, who had been selected to represent that club. Mr. Williams responded in an appropriate manner, alluding to the handsome style in which they had been received and the great good feeling which prevailed during the progress of the contest. "The Eleventh Infantry band that had been serenading the visitors outside the hotel, was called in and made things lively for the rest of the evening. The two teams were made up as follows: "Nationals"—Parker, second base; Fox, third base; McLenn, catcher; Berthong, centerfield; Smith, shortstop; Hodges, first base; Jones, rightfield; Studley, leftfield; Williams, pitcher. "Unions"—Dooley, pitcher; Evans, catcher; Randle, first base; Uukles, shortstop; Castello, rightfield; Houghton, centerfield; Bennett, second base; Emerick, third base; Seaton, leftfield. "Thirty-four runs were made by the Nationals in the third inning and 30 in the ninth. The game required three hours and 45 minutes to play."

The article reads as follows: "At the conclusion of the game the Nationals were escorted to their hotel, where they rested from their exertions of the afternoon and at 9 o'clock assembled in the supper-room of the Ballard house to partake of a banquet tendered them by the Union club. At 10 o'clock the members of the National and Union clubs, one of each league in arm-in-arm, together with invited guests, entered the spacious dining room, where there was presented to the eye such a feast as the proprietors of that hotel know so well how to serve out. Champagne was the chief beverage. "Captain Dooley of the Union club arose and tendered the champion ball, which the Nationals had won, to Mr. Williams of the Nationals, who had been selected to represent that club. Mr. Williams responded in an appropriate manner, alluding to the handsome style in which they had been received and the great good feeling which prevailed during the progress of the contest. "The Eleventh Infantry band that had been serenading the visitors outside the hotel, was called in and made things lively for the rest of the evening. The two teams were made up as follows: "Nationals"—Parker, second base; Fox, third base; McLenn, catcher; Berthong, centerfield; Smith, shortstop; Hodges, first base; Jones, rightfield; Studley, leftfield; Williams, pitcher. "Unions"—Dooley, pitcher; Evans, catcher; Randle, first base; Uukles, shortstop; Castello, rightfield; Houghton, centerfield; Bennett, second base; Emerick, third base; Seaton, leftfield. "Thirty-four runs were made by the Nationals in the third inning and 30 in the ninth. The game required three hours and 45 minutes to play."

The article reads as follows: "At the conclusion of the game the Nationals were escorted to their hotel, where they rested from their exertions of the afternoon and at 9 o'clock assembled in the supper-room of the Ballard house to partake of a banquet tendered them by the Union club. At 10 o'clock the members of the National and Union clubs, one of each league in arm-in-arm, together with invited guests, entered the spacious dining room, where there was presented to the eye such a feast as the proprietors of that hotel know so well how to serve out. Champagne was the chief beverage. "Captain Dooley of the Union club arose and tendered the champion ball, which the Nationals had won, to Mr. Williams of the Nationals, who had been selected to represent that club. Mr. Williams responded in an appropriate manner, alluding to the handsome style in which they had been received and the great good feeling which prevailed during the progress of the contest. "The Eleventh Infantry band that had been serenading the visitors outside the hotel, was called in and made things lively for the rest of the evening. The two teams were made up as follows: "Nationals"—Parker, second base; Fox, third base; McLenn, catcher; Berthong, centerfield; Smith, shortstop; Hodges, first base; Jones, rightfield; Studley, leftfield; Williams, pitcher. "Unions"—Dooley, pitcher; Evans, catcher; Randle, first base; Uukles, shortstop; Castello, rightfield; Houghton, centerfield; Bennett, second base; Emerick, third base; Seaton, leftfield. "Thirty-four runs were made by the Nationals in the third inning and 30 in the ninth. The game required three hours and 45 minutes to play."

The article reads as follows: "At the conclusion of the game the Nationals were escorted to their hotel, where they rested from their exertions of the afternoon and at 9 o'clock assembled in the supper-room of the Ballard house to partake of a banquet tendered them by the Union club. At 10 o'clock the members of the National and Union clubs, one of each league in arm-in-arm, together with invited guests, entered the spacious dining room, where there was presented to the eye such a feast as the proprietors of that hotel know so well how to serve out. Champagne was the chief beverage. "Captain Dooley of the Union club arose and tendered the champion ball, which the Nationals had won, to Mr. Williams of the Nationals, who had been selected to represent that club. Mr. Williams responded in an appropriate manner, alluding to the handsome style in which they had been received and the great good feeling which prevailed during the progress of the contest. "The Eleventh Infantry band that had been serenading the visitors outside the hotel, was called in and made things lively for the rest of the evening. The two teams were made up as follows: "Nationals"—Parker, second base; Fox, third base; McLenn, catcher; Berthong, centerfield; Smith, shortstop; Hodges, first base; Jones, rightfield; Studley, leftfield; Williams, pitcher. "Unions"—Dooley, pitcher; Evans, catcher; Randle, first base; Uukles, shortstop; Castello, rightfield; Houghton, centerfield; Bennett, second base; Emerick, third base; Seaton, leftfield. "Thirty-four runs were made by the Nationals in the third inning and 30 in the ninth. The game required three hours and 45 minutes to play."

The article reads as follows: "At the conclusion of the game the Nationals were escorted to their hotel, where they rested from their exertions of the afternoon and at 9 o'clock assembled in the supper-room of the Ballard house to partake of a banquet tendered them by the Union club. At 10 o'clock the members of the National and Union clubs, one of each league in arm-in-arm, together with invited guests, entered the spacious dining room, where there was presented to the eye such a feast as the proprietors of that hotel know so well how to serve out. Champagne was the chief beverage. "Captain Dooley of the Union club arose and tendered the champion ball, which the Nationals had won, to Mr. Williams of the Nationals, who had been selected to represent that club. Mr. Williams responded in an appropriate manner, alluding to the handsome style in which they had been received and the great good feeling which prevailed during the progress of the contest. "The Eleventh Infantry band that had been serenading the visitors outside the hotel, was called in and made things lively for the rest of the evening. The two teams were made up as follows: "Nationals"—Parker, second base; Fox, third base; McLenn, catcher; Berthong, centerfield; Smith, shortstop; Hodges, first base; Jones, rightfield; Studley, leftfield; Williams, pitcher. "Unions"—Dooley, pitcher; Evans, catcher; Randle, first base; Uukles, shortstop; Castello, rightfield; Houghton, centerfield; Bennett, second base; Emerick, third base; Seaton, leftfield. "Thirty-four runs were made by the Nationals in the third inning and 30 in the ninth. The game required three hours and 45 minutes to play."

The article reads as follows: "At the conclusion of the game the Nationals were escorted to their hotel, where they rested from their exertions of the afternoon and at 9 o'clock assembled in the supper-room of the Ballard house to partake of a banquet tendered them by the Union club. At 10 o'clock the members of the National and Union clubs, one of each league in arm-in-arm, together with invited guests, entered the spacious dining room, where there was presented to the eye such a feast as the proprietors of that hotel know so well how to serve out. Champagne was the chief beverage. "Captain Dooley of the Union club arose and tendered the champion ball, which the Nationals had won, to Mr. Williams of the Nationals, who had been selected to represent that club. Mr. Williams responded in an appropriate manner, alluding to the handsome style in which they had been received and the great good feeling which prevailed during the progress of the contest. "The Eleventh Infantry band that had been serenading the visitors outside the hotel, was called in and made things lively for the rest of the evening. The two teams were made up as follows: "Nationals"—Parker, second base; Fox, third base; McLenn, catcher; Berthong, centerfield; Smith, shortstop; Hodges, first base; Jones, rightfield; Studley, leftfield; Williams, pitcher. "Unions"—Dooley, pitcher; Evans, catcher; Randle, first base; Uukles, shortstop; Castello, rightfield; Houghton, centerfield; Bennett, second base; Emerick, third base; Seaton, leftfield. "Thirty-four runs were made by the Nationals in the third inning and 30 in the ninth. The game required three hours and 45 minutes to play."

The article reads as follows: "At the conclusion of the game the Nationals were escorted to their hotel, where they rested from their exertions of the afternoon and at 9 o'clock assembled in the supper-room of the Ballard house to partake of a banquet tendered them by the Union club. At 10 o'clock the members of the National and Union clubs, one of each league in arm-in-arm, together with invited guests, entered the spacious dining room, where there was presented to the eye such a feast as the proprietors of that hotel know so well how to serve out. Champagne was the chief beverage. "Captain Dooley of the Union club arose and tendered the champion ball, which the Nationals had won, to Mr. Williams of the Nationals, who had been selected to represent that club. Mr. Williams responded in an appropriate manner, alluding to the handsome style in which they had been received and the great good feeling which prevailed during the progress of the contest. "The Eleventh Infantry band that had been serenading the visitors outside the hotel, was called in and made things lively for the rest of the evening. The two teams were made up as follows: "Nationals"—Parker, second base; Fox, third base; McLenn, catcher; Berthong, centerfield; Smith, shortstop; Hodges, first base; Jones, rightfield; Studley, leftfield; Williams, pitcher. "Unions"—Dooley, pitcher; Evans, catcher; Randle, first base; Uukles, shortstop; Castello, rightfield; Houghton, centerfield; Bennett, second base; Emerick, third base; Seaton, leftfield. "Thirty-four runs were made by the Nationals in the third inning and 30 in the ninth. The game required three hours and 45 minutes to play."

The article reads as follows: "At the conclusion of the game the Nationals were escorted to their hotel, where they rested from their exertions of the afternoon and at 9 o'clock assembled in the supper-room of the Ballard house to partake of a banquet tendered them by the Union club. At 10 o'clock the members of the National and Union clubs, one of each league in arm-in-arm, together with invited guests, entered the spacious dining room, where there was presented to the eye such a feast as the proprietors of that hotel know so well how to serve out. Champagne was the chief beverage. "Captain Dooley of the Union club arose and tendered the champion ball, which the Nationals had won, to Mr. Williams of the Nationals, who had been selected to represent that club. Mr. Williams responded in an appropriate manner, alluding to the handsome style in which they had been received and the great good feeling which prevailed during the progress of the contest. "The Eleventh Infantry band that had been serenading the visitors outside the hotel, was called in and made things lively for the rest of the evening. The two teams were made up as follows: "Nationals"—Parker, second base; Fox, third base; McLenn, catcher; Berthong, centerfield; Smith, shortstop; Hodges, first base; Jones, rightfield; Studley, leftfield; Williams, pitcher. "Unions"—Dooley, pitcher; Evans, catcher; Randle, first base; Uukles, shortstop; Castello, rightfield; Houghton, centerfield; Bennett, second base; Emerick, third base; Seaton, leftfield. "Thirty-four runs were made by the Nationals in the third inning and 30 in the ninth. The game required three hours and 45 minutes to play."

The article reads as follows: "At the conclusion of the game the Nationals were escorted to their hotel, where they rested from their exertions of the afternoon and at 9 o'clock assembled in the supper-room of the Ballard house to partake of a banquet tendered them by the Union club. At 10 o'clock the members of the National and Union clubs, one of each league in arm-in-arm, together with invited guests, entered the spacious dining room, where there was presented to the eye such a feast as the proprietors of that hotel know so well how to serve out. Champagne was the chief beverage. "Captain Dooley of the Union club arose and tendered the champion ball, which the Nationals had won, to Mr. Williams of the Nationals, who had been selected to represent that club. Mr. Williams responded in an appropriate manner, alluding to the handsome style in which they had been received and the great good feeling which prevailed during the progress of the contest. "The Eleventh Infantry band that had been serenading the visitors outside the hotel, was called in and made things lively for the rest of the evening. The two teams were made up as follows: "Nationals"—Parker, second base; Fox, third base; McLenn, catcher; Berthong, centerfield; Smith, shortstop; Hodges, first base; Jones, rightfield; Studley, leftfield; Williams, pitcher. "Unions"—Dooley, pitcher; Evans, catcher; Randle, first base; Uukles, shortstop; Castello, rightfield; Houghton, centerfield; Bennett, second base; Emerick, third base; Seaton, leftfield. "Thirty-four runs were made by the Nationals in the third inning and 30 in the ninth. The game required three hours and 45 minutes to play."

The article reads as follows: "At the conclusion of the game the Nationals were escorted to their hotel, where they rested from their exertions of the afternoon and at 9 o'clock assembled in the supper-room of the Ballard house to partake of a banquet tendered them by the Union club. At 10 o'clock the members of the National and Union clubs, one of each league in arm-in-arm, together with invited guests, entered the spacious dining room, where there was presented to the eye such a feast as the proprietors of that hotel know so well how to serve out. Champagne was the chief beverage. "Captain Dooley of the Union club arose and tendered the champion ball, which the Nationals had won, to Mr. Williams of the Nationals, who had been selected to represent that club. Mr. Williams responded in an appropriate manner, alluding to the handsome style in which they had been received and the great good feeling which prevailed during the progress of the contest. "The Eleventh Infantry band that had been serenading the visitors outside the hotel, was called in and made things lively for the rest of the evening. The two teams were made up as follows: "Nationals"—Parker, second base; Fox, third base; McLenn, catcher; Berthong, centerfield; Smith, shortstop; Hodges, first base; Jones, rightfield; Studley, leftfield; Williams, pitcher. "Unions"—Dooley, pitcher; Evans, catcher; Randle, first base; Uukles, shortstop; Castello, rightfield; Houghton, centerfield; Bennett, second base; Emerick, third base; Seaton, leftfield. "Thirty-four runs were made by the Nationals in the third inning and 30 in the ninth. The game required three hours and 45 minutes to play."

The article reads as follows: "At the conclusion of the game the Nationals were escorted to their hotel, where they rested from their exertions of the afternoon and at 9 o'clock assembled in the supper-room of the Ballard house to partake of a banquet tendered them by the Union club. At