KUKKELA IS RELEASED ON OWN RECOGNIZANCE

No Evidence Produced at Examination Yesterday on Which to Hold Him.

OTHER CASES DISPOSED OF

As a result of the examination yesterday of Leander Kukkelä, who was arrested on a charge of having caused the death of his cousin, Matt Kukkelä, found dead a week or so ago in a ravine near Newtown, he was released and allowed to go on his own recognizance, pending the transcribing of the testimony. The hearing took place before Justice C. O. Olivier and the men who were with Matt and Leander Kukkelä on the night of Saturday, November 20, were called as witnesses. All told practically the same stories as at the coroners' inquest, and there was nothing which in any way connected Leander with his cousin's death. In fact, the testimony of Matt Kotilla showed that Leander had gone to sleep on the Quincy hillside near the old tramway, half a mile or more from the place where Matt was found dead.

An adjournment was taken until next Thursday morning, December 16, to allow time for the transcribing of the testimony, and on motion of Leander's attorney, W. A. Burritt, the prisoner was released on his own recognizance. Mr. Burritt said that there was absolutely nothing that even pointed suspicion to the defendant, and it would be an injustice to keep him in jail any longer. To this prosecuting attorney Macdonald and Justice Olivier agreed.

Leander appeared considerably younger when he was in court yesterday, than at the time of the inquest, he having shaved off the small mustache which at that time adorned his lip. He told the court that he was twenty-one years of age.

Regarding the torn coat found at Leander Kukkelä's home after the finding of Matt's body, John Hill, proprietor of the Franklin street saloon, in which the men had been drinking on the night of Matt's disappearance, testified that it was torn when the men were in his place at about ten o'clock on the evening in question. All the witnesses testified that the body of Matt, when found, was in such a position as it might assume if it had rolled down the side of the ravine.

Other Cases Cleared Up.
Other cases disposed of yesterday by Justice Olivier were those of John Sullivan, charged with issuing worthless checks, and Eli Strom, of Atlantic, who was charged with larceny. Sullivan was bound over to circuit court in $500 bond, and the case of Strom was transferred to the juvenile court, to be attended to by Judge Bentley, the defendant being only sixteen years of age, though he looks several years older.

Tom Looney was arraigned on a charge of interfering with Deputy Sheriff John Polglase of the Quincy in the discharge of his duties. Some time ago a brother of Looney was arrested at Lake Linden and was fined $15 and costs. He was allowed to go to secure the money and failed to return. It was while re-arresting him that the alleged interference took place.

Tom Looney paid a fine of five dollars and costs on the charge of interference and then had a warrant issued charging Deputy Sheriff Polglase with assault and battery. The hearing will take place on Monday morning before Justice Olivier.

The first month's receipts and expenditures show a balance in favor of the league of $182.35, after paying expenses amounting to $141.12. COUNTY BOARD A. O. H.

Will Meet Soon in Hancock to Make Plans for Coming Year.
The county board of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, consisting of representatives of the various divisions of the society at Hancock, Dollar Bay, Calumet, Lake Linden, Hubbell, etc., will meet in Hancock on Sunday, Dec. 26, to make plans for the coming year, elect officers and transact other important business.

Among the matters to be considered will be the selection of the place for holding the annual celebration of St. Patrick's day. Last year it took place in Calumet and according to the custom of celebrating in rotation at various towns of the county, either Hancock or Lake Linden will get it this year, it being considered likely that the choice will fall upon this city.

The annual meeting of the Hancock division, No. 1, of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will also be held in Hancock on this date, December 26, when officers for the coming twelve months will be elected. About the first of the year the division will take up its quarters in the new hall in the Emery building at the corner of Quincy and Montezuma streets, which has been handsomely fitted up for their use, under the supervision of Contractor Encas McCauley. The painting and decorating of the interior is now in progress and is being done by Emil Draws. The new rooms of the division will afford a splendid home for the division and the club features will be of great benefit to the members, giving them a comfortable place to meet and pass the evenings with games, magazines, etc., and for their social sessions. The members of the division are giving good support to their indoor baseball team, and are proud of the leadership so far maintained by the boys in green in the league series now being played. The coming year will be an active one, and the activities of the society will undoubtedly include another big field which feature has become established as one of the biggest athletic events of the year in the copper country. The interest taken by the division in promoting athletics among the young men has had a great influence in spreading an interest in such matters throughout the county generally.

TORCH LAKE NEWS

LAKE LINDEN COUNCIL HOLDS REGULAR MEETING

A meeting of the Lake Linden council was held last evening at which the routine business was considered and other matters taken up.

Contractor Frank Bittrich, who has a contract for the installation of the meters for the village, reported that of the 75 water meters received, all but five have been installed. There are a great many more to be installed before all consumers are supplied, the total number of water users aggregating more than 500.

It was decided to order 59 new Tridient Disc meters, and they will be installed as soon as possible after their arrival. The delay experienced through the non-arrival of the meters will be offset in the future by having a supply of meters on hand.

MAN'S DEBT TO THE HORSE.

No animal on the face of the earth works like the horse; no animal anywhere is his equal in usefulness to man. He is the one real slave of humanity; he drags the human slave in any age or in any land, and he does his task and his crushing labor about his master's feet more steadily and more uncomplainingly than does the horse, and more faithfully than does the mule. He brings help when the home is aflame; he drags in the harvest that feeds millions; he scurries over the ground to bring the physician to the bedside when we come into the world; he paces solemnly onward as he drags us to the grave. He carries the joyous children upon his broad back, and he thunders to the hospital with the clanging ambulance. Through the streets he drags the mighty iron supports for the giant skyscraper, and over the boulevards of the park he sweeps with fashion and beauty at his hoofs. In the midst of plenty he carries food in abundance to countless homes, and in the midst of starvation he yields up his own body to keep life in the famished human frame.

And for this sublime devotion, this life-long labor, this noble martyrdom, how often is the faithful animal repaid with atrocious cruelty and vile and inhuman neglect! The treatment of horses by some people is immeasurably base; and it is all the more hideous and scoundrelly because the poor animal has no means of defense, no chance for aid, no voice to demand help.

He is driven at terrific speed for immense distances; he is forced to wear rough and heavy harness over a sore and lacerated body, dragging after him heavily laden wagons, all the while suffering silently the most awful torture. He is compelled to drag overloaded wagons up steep hills, often cruelly lashed with the whip, and then after a long day of dreadful slavery he is poorly housed, often with insufficient food.

Yet there are owners and drivers of a different stamp. These are men into whose hardened soul no appreciation of the value and devotion of the horse is allowed to penetrate. They misuse the animal to an atrocious degree, and are impervious to his appealing look, when he is racked with pain or worn down with toil, as though the poor beast were but a senseless rock. Such men as these know no pity, and because they know no pity they know no horse.

There is nothing overdrawn in this recital of man's inhumanity to his one best and most constant friend. Happily, though, it is not a recital of the usual treatment of the horse. Turning from the consideration of ill-treatment, it is pleasant to know that in the hearts of the vast majority of men, women, and children there is genuine love for this fine and good friend in the animal kingdom. And assuredly he deserves that love.

When you love a horse, you love man's best, truest, and most useful friend in all the range of the world of animals.—Pittsburg Press.

BRASS WORK NEWEST FAD.

Society Women and Children Practicing Latest Handicraft.

Hammered brasswork is one of the most fascinating of the handicraft fads, and one in which satisfactory results may most easily be obtained. As for keeping restless little folk occupied and happy, metallography, as the new fad is called, is a veritable godsend to tired mothers.

Every one of us owns to an inborn instinct for hammering. Even woman-kind, who is proverbially unskilled with hammer and nails, dearly loves to manipulate them. Decorating metal work is all hammering and metal work is all hammering and most fascinating hammering at that—merely tapping a sharp-pointed little instrument along the line of a pattern or filling in the backgrounds to leave interesting motifs in bold relief. Anybody can do it.

Ordinary brass work has been a fad for some time, but until recently this work was more troublesome and expensive. Many tools were necessary, for the brass had to be purchased by the sheet, the patterns traced upon it and the sections cut out and joined, or "assembled," is a metallographer calls it, afterward. The sets now prepared for the home worker include all the tools necessary, and instead of the necessity of cutting and manipulating this heavy brass—an almost hopeless task for feminine or childish fingers—the various articles are all shaped or come in shaped sections with rivets ready to put them together.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

Pianos That Are Good Through and Through

The average buyer of a piano knows little or nothing about the making or materials of a piano—she buys pretty much on its looks and tone, in short, must depend on the word of the dealer.

WHO IS YOUR DEALER?

To the Piano Store whose sole existence depends on the occasional sale of a piano, each sale is a big item, and the temptation to mis-represent in order to "land you" knows no bounds. To start with you are probably led to believe you are buying direct from the "manufacturer" but if you take the trouble to investigate you will find you are dealing with third hands instead of first. Again if you will look into the "expense" item covering sales of pianos you will find that we are in position and actually do save you from $50 to $75 on a piano in this one item alone.

We buy our Pianos outright direct from the manufacturer—no "consignments"

Buying for cash we are classed by manufacturers as a desirable agency and therefore get inside prices from the best factories in the country.

We are today offering first grade "Schiller" Pianos at a price as low if not lower than others ask for third and fourth grade pianos. All grand new—no polished over returned stock here.

The choicest line of bright new Pianos in Upper Michigan is what we ask the privilege of showing you before you purchase.

Jos. Hermann, THE OLD RELIABLE DEALER CALUMET
