ENTHUSIASTIC RALLY IS HELD

Republican Speakers Make Hit at Quincy Last Evening

Dr. Samuel Blair of Missouri and W. J. Galbraith of Calumet spoke to a large audience in the Quincy hall last evening. The rally was presided over by George Royce of Ripley, and the chairman injected additional life and spirit into the meeting.

Chairman Royce apologized to the audience in that Congressman Young could not be present through having a previous appointment in Republic for last evening which he had to keep. Mr. Royce said a few words in behalf of Mr. Young, conveying the congressman's regret at not being able to be present but promising to make a visit to this locality before election. The speaker referred briefly to W. J. Macdonald's record as a Republican in remaining within the party as long as he might secure an office, and then bolting when the rank and file said they had given him enough.

W. J. Galbraith was introduced as a recently defeated candidate in the Republican party for prosecuting attorney, but one who took defeat graciously and was not a "sorehead." Mr. Galbraith spoke at length on the Civil war, the blockade of the southern ports and the treatment accorded Henry Ward Beecher when that gentleman went to England to plead with the workers and manufacturers of that country, how Mr. Beecher was hissed as he explained the conditions and position of the United States and how in the end he was given a hearing and finally won over to his side the opposition. "For after all," said the speaker, "Englishmen and Americans demand a fair fight, a full, fair and free discussion of every question of moment, and it is only the coward and bigot who is not fair because his mind has become impervious to the other side. American citizenship means more than a party."

Mr. Galbraith discussed the tariff question, referring to copper upon which product he said there was no tariff. "But we must not only think of ourselves in this matter because our neighbors mine ore, and their neighbors are in the lumber industry and their neighbors are in the manufacturing business, and the prosperity of one means the prosperity of all and the advancement of one means the advancement of all. This is not a question of men, but rather of national policies. It is not a question of where we are today, but where are we going to be tomorrow?" said Mr. Galbraith.

Mr. Galbraith spoke of the state ticket and asked that the voters support the entire ticket saying that it presented a solid front of capable men. He also defended Congressman Young against the attack made by K. B. Price who he said insinuated that Mr. Young had not worked in the interest of the miners in the iron country.

Dr. Blair's address was similar in some respects to others which he has delivered in the copper country during the present week. He discussed the tariff and what it meant to the people of the United States. "But I do not ask your support, nor does the republican party for its past deeds, but what it will do for you in the future. I come here to you with a message of truth that has been coined in the school of experience and is not undiluted fanaticism, while many of the political ships today are floating from their masts the flag of progression, they should have instead, a flag nailed to their hull with the word 'retrogression.'"

THIS WOMAN'S TROUBLES GONE

Terrible Cramps, Dizzy Spells, Nervousness, Misery—Her Story of How She Got Well Again.

Hindsboro, Ill.—"Your remedies have relieved me of all my troubles. I would have such bearing down misery and cramps and such weak, nervous, dizzy spells that I would have to go to bed. Some days I could hardly stay up long enough to get a meal. The doctor's medicine did me no good so I changed to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got good results from the first bottle. I kept on taking it and used the Sanative Wash with it until I was well again. I think every woman who suffers as I have, could take no better medicine."—Mrs. CHARLES MATTHEWSON, Box 58, Hindsboro, Ill.

Testimony of Trained Nurse.

Cathlamet, Wash.—"I am a nurse and when I do much lifting I have a female weakness, but I take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I cannot say enough in praise of it. I always recommend it for female troubles."—Mrs. ELVA BARBER EDWARDS, Box 54, Cathlamet, Wash.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as those above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

BOOSTS FOR CLOVERLAND

Col. Mott Gives Interesting Interview in Milwaukee

"Cloverland—where is cloverland? It is the upper peninsula of Michigan. This is the slogan that is being heard all over the country and will be heard all over the world before our campaign is finished," said C. W. Mott, manager of the upper peninsula development bureau of northern Michigan, who is in the city attending the dairy show, says the Milwaukee Sentinel.

The bureau, Mr. Mott said, represented the fifteen counties of upper Michigan peninsula. "In my long experience," said Mr. Mott, "I have never seen fifteen counties which have as good soil as these in northern Michigan which we have denominated 'Cloverland.'"

"The name is quite appropriate, because clover and timothy grow wild and profusely. Go through the woods anywhere and you will find clover up to your knees. It has little affiliation with the lower peninsula. Its commercial interests are more nearly identified with other states."

Snow a Protection.

"Cloverland is one of the most natural grass countries in the world," continued Mr. Mott. "The great fall of snow protects the roots of the grass and the ground does not freeze down more than half an inch, so that when the snow goes off we do not have the freezing, thawing and drying which is found in the country to the south. Statistics show that we have 104 growing days as against 94 in the territory down as low as Fond du Lac."

"There are two specialties which are going to make 'Cloverland' famous. Those are dairying and potato raising. With abundance of grass, pure water, as all rivers are fed by springs, and good cows, dairying becomes a natural proposition. We have no August and September droughts. We have six months of reliable pastures. The day is not far distant when Milwaukee and Chicago will receive their supply of milk and cream from this country. Milk can be loaded on cars there and arrive in Milwaukee and Chicago in the same time it takes to get it from Elgin and Waukesha. The supply will also be more reliable."

Raise Good Potatoes.

"For potatoes, the climate and soil seem especially adapted. Potatoes grown there have a fine flavor and are without the cavities found in those raised in some other places. Plans are about completed to commercialize this product of cloverland by adopting modern methods of careful picking, boxing and wrapping in paper, so as to prevent the accumulation of odors often found in cars in which potatoes are shipped."

"The largest sugar beet factory in the United States is located at Menominee, Mich., furnishing a market for sugar beets. There is also much manufacturing in the peninsula, as well as mineral resources, which employs many workmen and furnishes a market for farmers right at home. In addition they can reach, in twelve hours' time, 8,000,000 people."

"Water transportation lowers rates, and Cloverland is surrounded on nearly every side by water. It has over 1,000 miles of shore line, which makes an ideal fruit growing country. Some of the finest cherries, apples and plums seen anywhere are raised, the water protecting fruit. Early frosts are hardly known."

TWO VIEWS OF TEDDY.

Here are two views of Theodore Roosevelt, well representing the extremes in prevailing public opinion.

Lyman Abbot, writing in "The Outlook," says:

"Those who think that caution is the sum of all virtues are afraid of his courage. Those who are unwilling to sacrifice peace to obtain righteousness dread his militant character. Those who are accustomed to reach their conclusions in the quiet of the study, after careful deliberation of the pros and cons, attribute his quick executive action to a rash and heedless temper. Mr. Roosevelt abhors that which is evil. He hates, as David did the enemies of Jehovah, with a perfect hatred, impurities, meannesses, falsehoods, shams, dishonesties of every description. He is fighting honest."

George Harvey, on the other hand, writing in the North American Review, says:

"The first 25 presidents of the United States possessed talents in varying degree. Some were less forceful, some less courageous, some less broad-minded, some less far-seeing than others, but all were conscious of the dignity of the great position, all were deeply impressed by cognizance of their grave responsibilities, all recognized their own limitations, all were appreciative of the influence for good or ill of their personal examples all strove assiduously and successfully to exemplify the qualities which inhere in men of honor and breeding."

Roosevelt was the first president whose chief personal characteristic was mendacity, the first to glory in duplicity, the first braggart, the first bully, the first betrayer of a friend who ever occupied the White house. It is with distaste amounting almost to nausea that we are forced, in performance of public duty, to recall his breaking of his solemn pledge to the American people, to observe the most vital of their, great, traditions; his disingenuous evasions; his brazen disregard of his own written promise; his blatant professions of exceptional probity, etc., etc."

"Take your choice. There are varying intermediate degrees between honesty and damnation. But here are typical specimens of the extremes."
