

HEAVY FREIGHT ON SOUTH SHORE

One Thousand Extra Cars Required to Handle Service

The South Shore railway is handling more freight this winter than at any time in the past, says the Mining Journal. While the heavy traffic happens at this season by mere chance, it is likely to continue at least until the opening of navigation in the spring. The railway freight business this year is expedited to a large extent owing to competition, and producers in all lines are having no trouble in getting out their shipments. While this condition is prevalent throughout the country—the larger roads having the upper hand of the situation, as usual—the competition in the upper peninsula is limited. Through its connections with the central railways at the Straits and the sea, the South Shore is able to handle goods between the head of the lakes and eastern points as quickly and cheaply as any road in the country, and by a proper arrangement of its rates it has taken a good share of the business.

At present the South Shore has about one thousand extra cars scattered all over its system between Duluth and the Soo, and more are being received daily. The principal necessity for these cars is in the annual shipments of flour from the mills for Minnesota, principally those at Duluth. While heavy traffic in this material has been carried on more than a month, it has only been well started. Shipments of this commodity will continue indefinitely, and will not end with the opening of navigation, as traffic in many other kinds of goods, besides flour, cannot well be shipped by water.

The South Shore officials have been sending out hurry-up calls for cars for a long time and the railway that can supply them the quickest gets the business. The fact that this is a mild winter throughout the central part of the country has a great deal to do with the present good fortune in being able to procure as many cars as needed. The South Shore has taken contracts for shipping every conceivable kind of produce from the head of the lakes to points in the upper peninsula, upper Wisconsin, the lower peninsula, Ontario and points in the east in competition with other railroads, because it has provided itself with the means of handling the business on a large scale and on time. Through the Michigan Central railway it has been able to get a large number of cars, and when this source has failed, the company that can supply the greatest number in the shortest time has had its share of the South Shore business. Orders for five hundred cars have been sent to the Michigan Central, at one time and because there is no ink of these cars on hand at this time of the year, they have been forwarded without delay.

KEWEENAW COURT CASES.

Personal Injury Cases Continued and Session Is Short One.

Because of the fact that the personal injury cases pending for trial at the January term of circuit court of Keweenaw county were continued until the next term, the session was a very short one. Judge P. H. O'Brien ordering the formal adjournment on Wednesday. The cases continued were those of A. R. Tucker vs. the Houghton County Traction Company, Joseph Maschovich vs. Frank Malnar and George Bessonon vs. the Ahmeek Mining Company. The latter case has been pending for several months but has been adjourned several times.

Connar Linatti and John Koepfer who were brought to trial on a statutory charge preferred by a Mohawk woman were found guilty of simple assault and battery. Heavy fines were meted out by the court, however, the total of fines and costs amounting to about $150 in each case.

The only other criminal cases those alleging violations of the liquor laws, were also continued.

GROUND COVERED WITH ROBINS.

Migrating birds sometimes fly in such large flocks they are compelled to use the earth instead of trees for roosting at night. This is especially true in sections of this country where the timber has been removed. When the forests stood in considerable extent the thousands of birds of many species could easily find comfortable shelter wherever they stopped.

Many imagine the migratory birds continue their flight until they reach their destination. This is a mistake. Great flocks of birds often stop to rest and to search for necessary food.

Last spring, late one afternoon, when there was a little wet snow on the fields, a great flock of robins stopped in Harrison county in eastern Ohio, and they were so thick in places they obscured the ground. They dug into the mud about the grass roots for worms, and when night came the birds remained on the ground, where they continued until early the next morning, when they arose in great clouds and flew away to the north. Countless thousands were in this flock of robins, and it would have taken acres of timber to have provided a roosting place for the birds.

The same thing has been witnessed in other localities.

Given By Prof. Thomas Willis In Ontonagon County.

Prof. Thomas Willis has returned from Mass City, Victoria and Rockland, Ontonagon county, where he spent the last three days of last week, giving moving picture entertainments.

The entertainment at Rockland was under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society of the M. E. church, while the Rockland affair was in charge of the M. E. church, of Rockland. A large attendance was present at the latter gathering, and return dates have been booked.

Prof. Willis' tour was a most successful one. At each town five reels of pictures were shown equal to the best offered at the Royal theatre in this city. Ontonagon county people were delighted with the class of "movies" offered them.

YELLOWSTONE PARK LECTURE.

Will Be Given Friday Evening by Rev. Luther K. Long.

Rev. Luther K. Long, pastor of the Calumet Congregational church, will give an illustrated lecture on the Yellowstone Park Friday evening in the church parlors. More than 100 stereopticon slides will be used to illustrate the lecture. These will enable Mr. Long to give a complete reproduction of the wonders of America's national park, including the mountains, geysers, buffalo, deer, bear, canyons, falls, lakes, etc. Admission will be free, although a collection will be taken during the lecture. Everybody is cordially invited and to bring along the children, who will be especially interested.

"KERRY GOW" AT ROYAL.

Manager Richards, of the Royal theatre, has secured "Kerry Gow," by Joe Murphy, in three reels, as his feature attraction for tomorrow evening. In addition, there will be several other good pictures exhibited. "Kerry Gow" is an Irish drama, and was first produced in Ireland by the Kalem company, where it made a decided hit. It requires a big cast to produce this picture, and it is generally conceded that it will greatly please local patrons.

SHOES AND NERVES.

Travelers say that the reason why nervous people don't exist in China is because it is there the custom to wear soft shoes. There is no doubt that hard-soled, creaking footgear is responsible for much nervous wear and tear, as well as much physical fatigue, in western lands. Tired feet and tired nerves will find solace in a warm footbath, with a handful of sea salt in it. Move the feet about, or keep them still, as best pleases you, as long as the water is pleasantly warm; then dry them with a rough towel and put on a fresh pair of stockings.—Dundee Advertiser

BURIED VILLAGE UNCOVERED.

In the year 1605 the sea rolled up to the village of Ecles, on the Norfolk coast, England, engulfed it and drowned every inhabitant, covering the whole with tons and tons of sand. Only a tower of the parish church remained above to mark the place where a whole community had lived for centuries. In 1593 the tower collapsed. Last week, after a terrific gale, the covering sand was found to have been swept away from the Ecles beach, leaving the church and village exposed.

ENLARGE SCOPE OF PARCEL POST

Ordinary Postage Stamps Used on All Foreign Mail

The postal department has issued a circular to postmasters giving additional rulings relative to the parcel post mail service. Merchandise sent in securely fastened boxes will be carried. The new instructions follow: "Fourth class matter inclosed in boxes to which the lids are nailed or screwed may be accepted for mailing at the fourth class rates of postage if, with reasonable effort, the lids can be removed for the purpose of permitting examination of the contents. It would appear that in cases where the lids of boxes are fastened in the manner indicated, they may be easily removed by the use of a chisel, screwdriver, or other suitable instrument, and are easily replaced. Postmasters are cautioned to exercise care in replacing the covers or wrappers of parcels which have been opened for inspection so that the contents of the parcels may not be injured or lost in transit."

"Seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, scions, and plants, although chargeable with special rate of one cent for each two ounces or fraction of two ounces, regardless of distance, are fourth class matter, and postage on them must be prepaid by parcel post stamps. Samples of grain, potatoes, beans, peas, etc., sent for purposes other than planting, are chargeable with the regular fourth-class rates of postage which are set forth in Section 3, Parcel-Post Regulations.

"Post cards, either plain or bearing pictures or printing on the message side, when sent in bulk, may be accepted for mailing at the fourth-class rates of postage. In this connection attention is invited to the circular of instructions, issued January 10, 1913.

"When it is desired to send merchandise as first-class matter, under ordinary postage stamps, the packages should be sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, in order to avoid any confusion in the mails as to their proper classification.

"Hereafter ordinary postage stamps must be used in payment of postage on parcels and other mail matter addressed to foreign countries, including Canada, Cuba, Mexico and the Republic of Panama. Parcel post stamps must not be affixed to mail matter of any kind whatever addressed to any foreign country.

Not the Same One.

And men tell a tale of an Irishman who went to the postoffice and asked for his mail at the general delivery window. In the line in front of him was another Irishman on a similar errand.

"What name?" asked the clerk of the first man.

"Dennis Malone," answered the immigrant.

"Nothing here for you. Next—what name?"

"Dennis Malone," said the second Irishman.

"Didn't you just hear me say that there was no mail for Dennis Malone?"

"But, sure, I ain't the same Dennis Malone. I'm another man entirely. Look an' see if there ain't none fr me."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Futile Flattery.

"Even with flattery," said Mark Twain at a dinner, "you can't please some men. I remember when I was a reporter in Virginia City there was a doctor I liked—I had camped once on Lake Tahoe with him—and in an obituary I decided to give him a card. I wrote, 'Dr. Sawyer was called in, and under his prompt and skillful treatment the patient died Monday.' But Dr. Sawyer somehow wasn't pleased."

the shoulders are stitched all the way to the belt, gathers across the center panel giving fullness back and front. Ciny face is used for the decoration of the gown.

Leather Trimmings.

With the Norfolk and Russian blouse coats are worn belts of leather which entirely band the waist line or they extend across the back, leaving the sides and front perfectly free. Dark blue, red, white and tan suede are extensively used, not only to trim suits, but millinery as well.

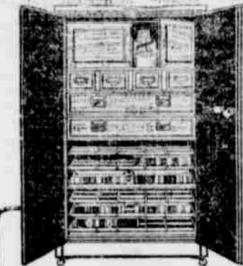

Kid appears on a number of the smart models, but it has not gained the popularity of suede.

A lovely frock of dark blue serge had the collar and cuffs fashioned of dark red suede. If you care to be strictly up to date have a leather trimmed frock.
