

SULZER GIVES UP HIS OFFICE DURING TRIAL

Will Make No Attempt to Exercise Its Functions, It Is Announced Today

COUNSEL BEGIN ARGUMENTS

Motion Is Made to Strike Out Articles Relative to Wall St. Speculations

NO OFFENSE IS CONTENTION

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Attorneys for Governor Sulzer today were prepared to exhaust all legal means to prevent the story of alleged misuse of his campaign funds being told on the witness stand. They offered a motion to strike out three articles in the impeachment, charging him with filing a false statement of campaign contributions and with using these funds for Wall Street speculation.

Counsel for Governor Sulzer announced at the outset of the day's session that he has relinquished all executive functions till the end of the trial. Attorney Merrick held the floor all forenoon, arguing that the errors and omissions in Sulzer's statement of campaign contributions did not constitute an offense against the law. Edgar Brackett, for the prosecution, then began his address.

Sulzer and Wife to Testify.
Nothing short of death can prevent Governor Sulzer and his wife from testifying in his impeachment trial if the objections of his attorneys to the proceedings are overruled.

This statement came last night from an absolutely unquestionable source. It followed weeks of speculation as to whether either of them would testify.

Friends of the governor have advised him on this point. Many have insisted that he ignore the proceedings entirely insofar as being present himself was concerned. Others have insisted that even if the governor decided to testify he should not permit Mrs. Sulzer to tell her story.

But the governor has maintained from the start that he will tell the story of the alleged conspiracy which he insists brought about his impeachment.

Mrs. Sulzer's testimony has been considered too vital to the case of the defense to permit her to remain silent.

BAY STATE VOTERS MAKE CHOICE TODAY

Massachusetts Primaries Will Reveal Party Preferences

Boston, Mass., Sept. 22.—State primaries are held today throughout the state of Massachusetts to select the candidates for the various places upon the state ticket to be voted on at the coming state election in November. The absence of national features at the November election this year naturally has a tendency to diminish the general interest of the voters in the election and in a greater measure even in the primary election preliminary to the general election. Yet the political situation is sufficiently interesting to bring out partisan feeling and it is believed that a large vote will be polled today.

As today's election is merely held for the purpose of selecting candidates for the various party tickets at the coming election the outcome of today's primaries will not necessarily foreshadow what the result will be when it comes to the actual test of strength between the different parties at the November election. Yet politicians are looking forward with considerable interest to the announcement of the figures showing the result of today's vote. It will be possible to draw many conclusions from the vote polled by the various candidates, as it will indicate, to some extent, their potential strength with the voters of their respective parties.

Two Republicans for Governor.
The Democratic party has only one candidate for governor in the field, Lieut. Gov. David I. Walsh, the state candidate of the Democratic State Committee. It may be taken for granted that he will receive the full Democratic vote. His running mate on the state ticket, Richard H. Long, who is candidate for the nomination for Lieutenant Governor, will probably meet with considerable opposition, as there is an independent candidate in the field for the lieutenant governorship nomination on the Democratic ticket, Mr. Edward P. Barry, who has

ANOTHER TRUNK MYSTERY?

Chicago, Sept. 22.—The police today are investigating the story told by Louis Gram, an express wagon driver, who last night said he had heard groans coming from a trunk which he said two men had him move from an alley to an automobile several blocks away. They regard the matter as the work of practical jokers, who wished to have fun with Gram. However, the police are making a thorough investigation as Gram sticks to his story.

DIFFICULT TO GET JUDGE TO HEAR THE FUNK CASE

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Another failure to get a judge to hear the case in which Clarence S. Funk, former general manager of the International Harvester company, made charges of conspiracy to defame, was made today, this being the eighth Judge Tutbill, to whom the case had been assigned, granted a change of venue.

A meeting of judges will be called to determine to whom the case will now be assigned. The change of venue was asked on the charge that Tutbill was prejudiced against Daniel Donahue, one of the defendants.

Funk claims the alleged conspiracy grew out of efforts to retaliate for his testimony before the Senate committee investigating Lorimer.

THAW WEEPS WHEN HIS COUNSEL PLEADS FOR HIM

Concord, N. H., Sept. 22.—Extradition hearing in the Thaw case before Governor Feltner began this morning with the public excluded, but members of the executive council and their wives were admitted. Jerome arrived early, accompanied by Franklin Kennedy, attorney general of New York. Thaw was much cheered by the presence of his mother and brother, Josiah.

Jerome argued that the documents asking extradition spoke for themselves and should be ignored. Judge W. G. Chase, of the council for Thaw, declared Governor Feltner could not surrender Thaw to New York simply because the fugitive was from Massachusetts and that extradition should be refused unless it could be proved Thaw committed the crime of conspiracy.

Thaw wept as Judge Chase and former Governor Stone of Pennsylvania pleaded with Judge Feltner not to honor the New York requisition. This afternoon was given to Jerome to make a reply.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 22.—No W. R. Anderson is in the city directory. It is believed the slayer is the same man who lured M. Raff to a local hotel Saturday and robbed him of a watch and $62 in cash.

It is believed by the police here that the man who gave the name of Anderson is Joseph Ellis, alias Robert Duncan, son of a carpet manufacturer of Richmond, Virginia, and that this is another one of several crimes in eastern and middle west cities charged recently to Ellis. Ellis bought a ticket to Indianapolis Saturday soon after the robbery or Raff was committed.

INJUNCTION'S DISSOLUTION TO BE ASKED

If Unsuccessful Strikers' Attorneys Will Seek Modification of the Writ

FIRST STEPS TAKEN TODAY

Hearing Probably Will Take Place at Crystal Falls Before
Judge O'Brien

AIM TO RESUME PICKETING

Legal advisors of the Western Federation of Miners today took their first steps to counteract the effect of the sweeping injunction granted Saturday afternoon by Judge P. H. O'Brien of the twelfth judicial circuit, restraining the strikers from molesting workmen, interfering with the operation of the mines, holding parades during the hours when men are on their way to and from work, picketing and similar activities. Documents were prepared by Attorney A. W. Kerr of Calumet asking both the dissolution of the injunction and the modification of it, the plan being that the Federation will first demand that the injunction be wiped out entirely, and if unsuccessful in this effort, to have it modified in many of its important features.

Papers will be served this afternoon on parties to whom the injunction was granted Saturday. As the law stipulates four days must elapse before an official hearing of the proceedings just instituted, and if Judge O'Brien is still in Crystal Falls at the expiration of that time, it is likely the hearing will be held there.

Although the injunction which is now in force stipulates the Western Federation of Miners is restrained from parading during certain hours, it is generally thought little cognizance will be taken of this feature of the injunction by either side. The Federation attorneys, however, maintain the right of the strikers to maintain pickets, even on mine property and to peacefully intercept workmen and peacefully attempt to dissuade them. It is on this point the legal fight against the injunction probably will be centered.

Many Cases Are Postponed.
Practically all of the hearings of strike cases in the local justice courts, set for today, were continued owing to the inability of the attorneys on both sides to take up the cases. The calendar of cases for each justice court is now being arranged, however, so that the hearings may proceed without further delay.

The hearing of William Mitchell, charged with resisting an officer, is the one case to be heard in Justice David Armit's court this afternoon, out of nineteen set for hearing. Mitchell, it is alleged, attempted to interfere with Marshal Wills while the latter was arresting a man named Mikko one week ago last Friday morning, at the time eleven women were arrested for an attack on an employee of the Armstrong-Thielman company.

The hearing of Nicholas Skender, charged under the village ordinance with creating a noise and disturbance, was this morning continued in the court of Justice Jackola until Oct. 8. Skender was arrested at the time of an early morning parade one week ago last Friday.

John Nepp, charged with intimidating and interfering with a workman on his way to work, appeared before Justice Jackola yesterday afternoon and demanded a hearing which was set for Oct. 4. He was released on bonds of $300. The police are now endeavoring to apprehend Joseph Ratz on the same charge. In connection with an assault on Joseph and William Richards of Centennial, by a party of strikers yesterday morning.

Jacob Dextrom was given a hearing in Justice Jackola's court this morning on the charge of resisting an officer. After considerable testimony was taken, the court refused to grant a motion that the case be dismissed on the grounds of insufficient evidence and an adjournment of two weeks was taken to provide for the transcription of testimony. It is probable Dextrom will be bound over for trial.

It is alleged Dextrom was found inside the guard lines maintained by the deputies at the No. 5 shaft Calumet branch of the C. & H., and that he refused to move when ordered to do so, inviting the deputies to kill him if he cared to. When one of the deputies
