Gaumont Moving Picture Operator Suffers Heavy Loss Here

William E. Hair of Chicago, a special operator employed by the Gaumont Weekly Moving Picture Film company, yesterday took a series of pictures showing the funeral procession from different churches...

Mr. Hair states that after he finished taking pictures above mentioned, he returned to his room in the hotel, placed the film in a box and later looked the door and went to supper...

The operator arrived Saturday afternoon from Chicago to snap views of the funeral procession to be incorporated into the Gaumont Weekly review of current events.

Early yesterday afternoon, he began by taking views of the funeral processions as they passed from the different churches to join the big procession on Pine street.

Mr. Hair estimates the value of the film at $1,000 and entertains but slight hope for its recovery.

RELIEF MONEY YET AVAILABLE

Committee Decides to Take No Action for Short Time

Although the $25,000 relief fund raised by the citizens of the copper country for the aid of families bereaved in the recent Italian hall disaster is practically untouched, there for whose benefit it was raised having rejected such assistance, although sadly in need of it in many instances, the committee in charge has decided to take no action for a few days.

Some very slight expense has been incurred by the committee and relief almost as slight in amount has been extended to deserving families, but practically the entire amount is on hand.

A contribution of $1,000 was received today from the Detroit employers' association but the committee has held no meeting to take action concerning it.
