

A Continuance of Special Prices

In our Ladies' Ready to Wear Department.

Our reductions in ready made apparel brought us many customers, but the inclement weather, doubtless kept many from taking advantage of the special offerings in this line, so we will continue the same inducements all next week. But our advice is to make your selection early, as the sizes will be rapidly broken, making it a little more difficult to make a selection. But in our immense stock we can certainly find a pleasing style for you. But you had better hurry.

	These rainy days make a Cravenette coat appreciated. They are the dressiest garments imaginable, and absolutely impervious to the rains and wind. They come in light weight, full dress lengths, specially priced from $9.75 to $20.00		We received by express this week 4 dozen silk petticoats in the new two-toned rustle taffeta silk, beautifully made with wide flounce and dust ruffle, elaborately stitched and trimmed all colors, specially priced at $5.00 and $7.00

Alabamians Here to Locate.

J. L. Carruthers and C. O. Harris were in the city this week from their home in New Decatur, Ala. They are here for the purpose of making purchases in farming land and from all that they have seen are favorably impressed with the Panhandle country and especially Amarillo. During the continued rain yesterday Mr. Carruthers chided local citizens with reference to the dry and arid plains and even intimated that a fish hatchery might prove a success used in connection with some of the streets.

As soon as the weather will permit Mr. Carruthers with Mr. Harris will make a trip down over the south plains country as far as Plainview returning by way of Amarillo at which time they will reach a definite decision regarding purchases of Panhandle land.
