Foot Is Injured.

Carl Robinson who has charge of the city circulation of the Herald and an assistant in the mechanical department was the victim of a painful accident received last Sunday in a heavy imposing stone falling across his foot. Although his foot pained him considerably he continued with his work until Thursday night when the pain was such that a physician was called in and after an examination found that two of the small bones in his foot were fractured. He will be confined to his room a week or longer.

A Notre Dame Lady's Appeal.

To all knowing sufferers of rheumatism, whether muscular or of the joints, sciatica, lumbagos, backache, pains in the kidneys or neuralgia pains, to write to her for a home treatment which has repeatedly cured all of these tortures. She feels it her duty to send it to all sufferers FREE. You cure yourself at home as thousands will testify—no change of climate being necessary. This simple discovery banishes uric acid from the blood, loosens the stiffened joints, purifies the blood, and brightens the eyes, giving elasticity and tone to the whole system. If the above interests you, for proof address Mrs. M. Summers, Box 38, Notre Dame, Ind.

Miss Trigg's Picnic.

Miss Mamie Trigg was the charming hostess of a large picnic crowd on Amarillo Creek last evening. About twenty couples enjoyed the outing, the young ladies going out in the afternoon and the young men following later. The crowd returned home about 10 o'clock after enjoying a most delightful time.

Episcopal Church.

Sunday next, Trinity Sunday, the Rector will officiate and preach on the subject, "Church Unity," evening service at 8 p. m. All cordially invited to attend.

CITY SPRINKLING

Movement Now on Foot to Have the Business Streets Sprinkled as Often as Needed.

A movement has at last been inaugurated to have the principal streets in the immediate business section of the city sprinkled as often as is needed.

A committee composed of E. W. White, D. W. Owen and Jeff D. Bartlett is now engaged in looking after the subscription list and all business men will be called upon to make a monthly contribution towards maintaining the service.

The condition of Polk street on windy days during the past month or more, has been a disgrace to the town and has caused much speculative wonder by visitors and prospectors, many of whom have expressed themselves in forcible language in discussing the fearful condition of the principal business thoroughfares during the windy days.

Many of the merchants who have been approached upon the subject of sprinkling have expressed themselves as perfectly willing to assist in maintaining and keeping the sprinkling service, and the Commercial club will lend all assistance possible in getting the movement well on foot, the secretary even agreeing to look after the collections and expenses after the petition has been completed and the prorated amounts of the various business men decided upon.

Manager Jones of the water and light company states that the company will furnish the water needed at 30 cents per 1000 gallons, and it is estimated that from four to five thousand gallons will be sufficient for sprinkling Polk street and a part of the intersecting streets between Third and Seventh. Everything included the cost per month is estimated at $130 to $140. This includes the sprinkling wagon, water and driver. Ordinarily during the summer one sprinkling in the morning will serve during the remainder of the day, but on windy, blustery days the streets should be treated to a double service.

The question of oil has been suggested by many; but to those who are more closely acquainted with the conditions following oil sprinkling the idea has not been received with approval. Where oil is regularly used it is said that streets over which heavy traffic passes will not require sprinkling but once every two or three weeks, but the main objection to the use of oil is the fact that it is carried into houses, and especially where there are carpets it soon makes its appearance with disastrous results. Ladies, too, find it objectionable, since it serves to ruin many skirts whose owners are not careful in holding them above the streets and walks.

With an expressed willingness by many of the most prominent business men for regular service of the sprinkling wagon it is earnestly hoped that the question of sprinkling will be settled at once, and that the service will be commenced at the earliest possible date.

For Prettier Homes.

Sitting before my desk, this morning, I see my "pigeon-holes" full of unanswered letters, and in every one of them there are kind words that call for at least a "thank you." Above them yawns an empty "copy box" and beside that a "query box" calling for much information. Friends, will you please accept my intense appreciation of your good will, and let me hear from you as often as possible, sure that your visits are always welcome, though I may not be able to return them.

"A Discouraged Sister" writes—"You insist that we have flowering plants and shrubbery and vines about the farm house—yet, you have lived on a farm. Did you have them? If so, how did you do it? Most of the farmers in this region pasture their calves, colts, pigs, sick animals and poultry in the house-yard from late fall until "grass time" in the spring. Instead of a flower border, we have a wagon yard, and the whole space supposedly allotted to the wife and children is covered with broken and neglected machinery, wood piles and places for sharpening posts and splitting logs into palings and shingles.

And as I read, my heart goes out in sorrowful sympathy, born of experience, to these discouraged sisters. Hours of time and precious strength have I devoted to digging, raking, seed-sowing, setting roots and shrubbery, in order to satisfy my love of beauty about the home, only to see my dreams all trampled down, my work destroyed by a like invasion. And it is all so useless! Do you wonder, looking at this picture, that women go crazy, or break down, becoming old and disheartened while still young in years? That the young folks, as soon as they are old enough to think for themselves, hurry to leave the farm, eager to brave the unknown rather than to starve for the beauty their young souls crave? Do you wonder that the men, themselves, grow into the wretched caricatures which some of them are, and fly to the corner grocery store to spend their idle time?

These men, many of them, apprecipitate beauty, and will spend time and strength and money in seeding down their fields to grass, refusing to allow a hoof or a wagon track on the ground except at certain seasons: they work faithfully to have "good pastures" for their pigs and calves; yet, at certain seasons of the year, when the trampling of the stock would ruin the field pastures, they ruthlessly turn the animals into the grass-plot about the house which the wife and children have so laboriously nursed for a play-ground, or for a "clothes yard" on which to spread the bedding, clothing and body-linen for its needed sunbath. The result is lamentable. The sod is cut into by the sharp hoofs, or torn by the pigs; the shrubbery is cropped, the herbageous plants eaten off, cut to pieces or rooted out of the ground, wagon tracks make trenches, and the dumping of logs, the piling of debris—oh, you know it—do you wonder?

I want the brothers to read this. I know many of them do read the Home pages, for I get many "queries" from them, and some of them write me delightful indorsements of something I have said. So I want them to look at the picture here represented, and resolved to "wipe it off the map" of the farm. Don't begrudge the good wife and children their grass-plot—they are your most profitable possessions. You cannot buy back the little children when the little feet have crossed to other pastures; money will not restore the brightness to the worn-out, discouraged wife when she has "given up." The word "home" means more than a shelter and a feeding place. It should be an all-round educational, developing institution, and it depends largely upon you, what the education and development shall be. Stay at home, instead of going to town for your recreations. Give Saturdays to the yard, and to the family. An errand to town need not take the whole day. Remember, it is such a little while, and make the home beautiful for the sake of those whose happiness is dependent upon you.—Commoner.

Let Everybody Work.

And the world would be more happy and contented. Just consider how much pain and trouble results in your body, when your liver or stomach stop working. Happily, you can soon set them to work again, cure your pains, and restore yourself to health and contentment, with Dr. Caldwell's (laxative) Syrup Pepsin. Try it. Sold by E. R. Roach Drug Co. at 50c and $1.00. Money back if it fails. 41

"The Panhandle Daily."

The Childress Post pays the following compliment to the Herald in its announcement to shortly begin the publication of a first class daily paper here. The Post says:

The Amarillo Herald has announced that after the 15 inst. the Herald will publish a daily paper to be known as "The Daily Panhandle." New presses, type setting machines and all the paraphernalia of a modern city paper has been purchased and they propose to give the Panhandle a live, up-to-date daily paper. The Post wishes this new venture much success and believes if the paper is made thoroughly alive and progressive it will be a paying proposition as the people of the Panhandle appreciate "doing things" and our brothers of the Herald have that kind of way about them. Here's to you boys!

Notice to Architects.

Plans and specifications for a ten room school building, of either brick or artificial stone, heated from basement, to cost approximately $10,000.00. Plans must be submitted before June 20, 1906. J. A. FAIRLY, Portales, N. M. 46-47P Secretary.

Panhandle Land Episode.

A good story is going the rounds on George C. Long, a prominent stockman of Canyon City.

About 15 months ago one of Mr. Long's neighbors, who owned 14,000 acres of land, offered it to him at a low price and he bought it. A couple of months later Mr. Samuel Charles, a prominent farmer and land owner of Gatesburg, Ill., stopped off at Canyon City looking at the country, and Mr. Long showed him the land he had bought and priced it to him at a fair profit. After looking it over and using an auger to bore down five or six feet in the ground, and thoroughly examining the soil, Mr. Charles bought it. After the trade was consummated and papers made out Mr. Charles asked Mr. Long what the land cost him. As Mr. Long had made a nice profit, he was reluctant to say, when Mr. Charles remarked that it didn't make any difference, as he expected to make more money out of the land than Long did, even if some one had given it to Mr. Long. Mr. Charles refused $12,000 profit for his bargain this spring, and Mr. Long says that if immigration continues into the Panhandle during the next twelve months as heavy as it has the past year, Mr. Charles' predictions will come true within two years from the time he bought it.

Baseball Notes.

Burns, a second baseman and utility pitcher, has arrived from Indiana and will be in today's game.

"Bill" Davis, a last year star, is here and will probably be seen in the blue uniform this afternoon.

Mike Hollander will remain here for the present and will hold down the third bag for the Amarilloites.

Donavon's work in center was a feature at Dalhart this week, while his batting was also good.

Artesia is said to be the strongest team in New Mexico and the fans will undoubtedly see a good game.

Skating Rink Party.

A small but congenial party of skaters enjoyed an evening at the rink Tuesday night after the regular evening session. Many who would like to attend these special sessions object to the lateness of the hour when they are allowed the rink, and it is hoped that the management will shortly see fit to have special evenings which will be devoted to private skating.

James Word.

Following the sad death of Charles Word last Monday morning, his twin brother, James Word, passed away Tuesday evening after a short illness from pneumonia contracted from a severe case of measles. At the time of the death of Charles Word the little fellow was dangerously ill and was not aware of the death of his brother and often called for him during the last few days of his illness. He was 12 years of age and a son of Mrs. Chas. Word. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Ferguson of the Methodist church Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, interment being made in the Amarillo cemetery.

A Thousand Dollars Worth of Good

"I have been afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble for years, passing gravel or stones with excruciating pain," says A. H. Thurnes, a well known coal operator of Buffalo, O. "I got no relief from medicine until I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure. A few doses started the brick-dust-like substance and now I have no pain across my kidneys and I feel like a new man. It has done me $1000 worth of good." Foley's Kidney Cure will cure every form of kidney or bladder disease. Golding Drug Co. 44-52
