tion. Miller, who is waiting the feath sentence, after failing to sever an ar last week, undertook to starve himself. Concerning what occurred yesterday the sheriff said: "When I went to Miller's cell he turned his back to me, but he finally dropped his surly manner and talked quite freely. At first he seemed firm in his resolve to starve himself to death, but he finally allowed reason to prevail. After he consented to take his meals he grew more cheerful. I ordered a meal for him which he ate." Miller, as the result of his five days' fast, was be-
