Regimental and Company Appointments for Session of 1909-1910 in Military Ranks

At this time of the year, just after the close of school, there is much interest among all the student body of the Agricultural and Mechanical college of Texas regarding the promotions of the cadet corps. The boys have all scattered to their homes throughout Texas, but they are waiting for the order.

In making the appointments to the positions, the commissioned officers are taken from the senior class and the non-commissioned officers from the junior and sophomore classes, the corporals being the sophomores. All promotions are made on the condition that the student will have such grade that he will make the class to which the office is assigned. From the freshman year the students await with anxiety the time when they can wear a saber and a shoulder strap. The promotion list is made up by Captain Andrew Moses, commandant of cadets, and is approved by the president of the college.

To be lieutenant colonel next year Arland Langdon Ward of Houston has been selected. Cadet Ward is taking an agricultural course; he was president of the junior class during the past session and is to be president of the Young Men's Christian Association next session. He is also president of the Houston club. He is one of the most energetic students in the school, a young man of fine habits, obeys discipline and stands well among his fellows in school. He will be business manager of the Battalion, the student publication, next year. All the positions which he holds in school have been given him by his fellow students except this position of lieutenant colonel, which comes from the commandant.

Other appointments are as follows: Majors.—E. P. Arneson and R. G. Sherrard.

Captain and Adjutant.—E. W. Smith.

Some of these students have unfinished work behind them in order to make the class promotions, and the military promotions are dependent on the standing in the classes.

Lieutenant-Colonel Ward is specializing in veterinary science.

DANCING IN THIS CHURCH.

Innocent and Healthful Amusement, Said Pastor.

Atlanta, Ga., June 14.—Tripping the light fantastic toe on a hardwood floor and it well waxed, to the sound of piano music, was the novel scene that the First Universalist church presented Thursday night. A number of the young people will dance in the club room of the church weekly. Rev. Dean Elwood, the pastor, said today of the dancing:

"I consider dancing an innocent and healthful amusement. There is no evil in it unless you make evil out of it. I believe every church ought to have a place for social purposes. I do not believe in letting the devil have all the good things."

CAME HOME AFTER 33 YEARS

Rip Van Winkle and Enoch Arden Knocked Out by Texas Man.

Special to the Eagle.

Quintana, Texas, June 14.—After an absence of thirty-three years, during which time he had long been mourned as dead by his relatives, Earnest Brown returned to Quintana. When Brown's father, Col. R. R. Brown, died several years ago an effort was made to locate him, advertisements being placed in all the leading papers of the country.

Brown's sister, Mrs. J. B. Brown, is overjoyed at his return. He is now 60 years old.

BRYAN BOYS CAPTURE PRIZES

Write Best Essays on Cotton Seed Products in Cotton Seed Crushers Contest.

Austin, Texas, June 11.—The Texas Cotton Seed Crushers' Association recently offered $225 in prizes to Texas school children for essays on some subject pertaining to cotton seed meal, the subjects given out by the association. In the contest the first prize is $25, the second $15 and the third $10.

In offering the prizes there are three sets of the first, second and thirds, according to the divisions of the schools made by the association into three groups. The groups consist of: Group 1, schools having more than 500 white pupils; group 2, all schools having between 300 and 500 white children; group 3, all schools having less than 300 white children.

The winners of the contest as announced are as follows: Group 1, first prize, Ewing W. Taylor, Ballinger; second prize, Esther Black, Taylor; third prize, Clarke Rider, Mineral Wells. Second group, first prize, Mel-mouth Y. Stokes, Jr., Lampasas; second prize, Helen Whisand, Houston Heights; third prize, George H. Carter, Roby. Third group, first prize, Hiram Downard, Bryan; second prize, E. J. Fountain, Jr., Bryan; third prize, Gertrude Ober, Boerne.

From the above it will be seen that both the first and second prizes in class three amounting to $25 and $15 respectively, were won by Bryan boys. Hiram Downard winning first and E. J. Fountain, Jr. second. This certainly speaks well for these two boys as there were evidently more contestants in class three than any other, because this class included all schools with less than 300 students. That means that a majority of the towns and villages and all the country schools of the state were in this class. That both of them are students in Alien Academy is also a high compliment to their school and speaks highly for the splendid training they have received. It is an argument that cannot be controverted that the training given at Alien Academy cannot be surpassed in Texas.

The Eagle congratulates the young men on their success, and assures them that if their future course shall be marked by the same persistent efforts that have characterized their past work, that a bright future awaits them.
