GREAT FARMERS UNION EXHIBIT IS IN PROGRESS

NO FINER DISPLAY OF FARM PRODUCTS EVER MADE IN TEXAS.

Horse and Hog Exhibit Good.—Ninety-Eight Entries in Boys Corn Exhibit.

The Farmers' Union exhibit of farm products and live stock, planned early last spring, opened this morning at the Farmers' Union Warehouse in this city. Exhibits poured in all day yesterday and Mr. F. W. Yeager who has charge of the farm exhibits, together with a large force of assistants, was kept busy piloting space and arranging the exhibits in the best manner possible for convenient inspection of the visitors. Many exhibits came in this morning and it was 10 o'clock or later before all were in place.

The Union warehouse was gaily decorated for the occasion. Flags were displayed on the outside and on top of the building and on the inside both flags and bunting were used.

On approaching the warehouse the scene resembled one of our great state fairs. The great throngs of people, the hundreds of vehicles, the flags fluttering to the breeze, the merry-go-round, the high dive ladder, and various other things, gave evidence of some great holiday attraction and something of more than passing importance to the people of Brazos county.

In this connection the Eagle would like to state that the exhibit is a grand success in every sense of the word. Notwithstanding it is the first one attempted, the success is as complete as if it had been in operation for years.

Not only that, but it should, by all means, be made a permanent feature. The success of this, the first attempt, only goes to show what can be accomplished along these lines. It would be added to from year to year, the farmers would be constantly preparing for it, and in only a few years the farmers of Brazos county would have a show worthy the patronage of the people from the remotest parts of Texas and from other states.

The Eagle has always claimed that Brazos county is the "Garden Spot" of Texas and the products now on exhibition in this city, prove that our contention is true.

The educational feature of an exhibition of this kind is more than worth the effort required to get it up. Here the farmers come together, they see what their neighbors are doing, they discuss matters and methods pertaining to the farm, and in this way each man receives new ideas, and a new inspiration to improve his farm, his methods of farming, his live stock and everything about his home.

Just as the Eagle predicted, the exhibits are a revelation, and far exceed the expectations of the people, and especially the people of Bryan.

The exhibits of the various Farmers Union locals are arranged in different parts of the building. There are seven unions represented as follows: Steep Hollow, Cottonwood, Leonard School House, Kurten, Reliance, Smetana, and Nory Tabor. The exhibits consist of various varieties of corn, cotton, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, oats, millet, sorghum, maize, broom corn, ribbon corn, gobbers, different grasses, flax, pears, peaches, vegetables of all kinds, watermelons, cantaloupes, canned goods, and preserves of all kinds—in fact everything that can be grown in a farm, orchard or garden.

Following are the individual exhibitors who have a display of all kinds of farm products: F. W. Yeager, J. D. Steele, A. D. Locke, W. H. McVay, J. H. White and Fountain Bros. These exhibits are wonderful, and if they were not there to show for themselves it would be impossible to believe that so many things could be gathered together from one farm. Each of the individual exhibits, like the union exhibits, look to be perfect and it is difficult to determine how the judges are going to decide how one is better than the other.

Besides these Union and individual exhibits, there are hundreds of special exhibits, where just one or two articles are shown. It was impossible to secure the names of all these special exhibitors.

The poultry exhibit is fine, and some extra good hogs are also shown.

The horse show was another revelation, there being perhaps a hundred or more fine colts shown. They were beauties too and none of the state fairs could show a finer collection of colts.

The boys corn show is the chief attraction and everybody is anxious to take a good look at the handiwork of the boys of Brazos county in corn raising. There are ninety-eight entries, and the corn raised by these boys is easily the best display ever made in the South. The writer saw the wonderful corn exhibit at the World's fair from the great corn growing states of the West, and the corn show by these Texas boys is as fine as any shown there. Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock this exhibit will be arranged together with the ninety-eight bright eyed little boys who raised it, and a picture taken of it. The picture will be shown in the Eagle next week.

Mr. M. S. Broach of Tabor, has his combined home canner and washing machine on exhibition and demonstrated its use today. It is highly interesting to all who saw it.

The Bryan Oil Mill and Fertilizer Company has a special exhibit showing Star Brand Fertilizer, meal, prime cottonseed oil, flour muffins, flour bread, and cookies made with cotton seed oil instead of butter.

Buchanan-Moore Company have an elegant exhibit of buggies, saddles, harness, furniture, rugs, art squares, etc. They show a bed room and dining room furnished complete. The exhibit is in a little house made of bamboo porch screens. Their exhibit is in the nature of a rest room for ladies and is well supplied with comfortable chairs and rockers.

J. Allen Myers, the "Hot Kutter," has an exhibit of hardware, implements, etc.

Chas. Gainer Jr. has his pony "Billy Taft" on exhibition. He is five years old, 26 1/2 inches high and weighs 68 pounds. He was the center of attraction for the children.

Music was furnished by the Z. N. D. band from near the College and the members of the band were all dressed like farmers and their wagon was decorated with all kinds of farm products.

Col. James Hayes Quarles of the A. and M. College came in this afternoon and extended the Union an invitation to attend the Farmers-Congress on July 27, 28 and 29 and to bring their exhibit to the congress. The invitation will be accepted.

The Eagle is requested to state that for the benefit of all who could not go today and will not be able to go tomorrow, that the exhibit will be kept open Sunday.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock Prof. J. H. Allen will speak and deliver the Buchanan-Moore Co. buggy and harness to the winner in the boys corn show.

Horses in Pantaloon.

"Equine sunbonnets are very well," said a veterinarian. "But what would you say to equine trousers? You'll see them in Guaymas. There the mosquitoes and greenhead flies are so thick that horses and donkeys, unless their legs are cased in cloth, become unmanageable with the pain. Guaymas is in Ecuador. It is directly under the equator. The heat there is insufferable. Up and down its narrow and foul smelling streets in bluish clouds of buzzing insects walk horses and donkeys in sunbonnets and pantaloon."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

No Accent.

Many stories are told of a former Canadian bishop who had passed his youth in Scotland, but flattered himself that not a hint of his origin could be gained from his speech or manner. One day he met a Scotchman, to whom he said at last abruptly, "Hoo lang hae ye been here?" "About six years," was the reply. "Hoo, man!" said the bishop sharply. "Why hae ye na lost yer accent, like myself?"

It Didn't Work.

"I haven't anything fit to wear," she said. "Neither have I," he replied. "Let's stay at home." Taken up thus, there was nothing for her to do but hurry and get ready.—Buffalo Express.

The Chump.

Miss Gett-Thayer—Do you know, Mr. Slowboy, you remind me of the Venus de Milo. Mr. Slowboy—But I've got arms. Miss G.T.—Have you, really?—Boston Transcript.

Time and Life.

What we call time is but a single sun ray thrown across the infinite void of eternity, and life is but a floating flicker or mote that vanishes even as it becomes visible thereon.—Exchange.

Perhaps.

"Who was it said that art was long?" "I don't remember now, but I think it must have been somebody who was trying to learn to fiddle."—Chicago Record-Herald.

FROM BANK TELLER TO BOLD BURGLAR

Lived at Rockaway Beach and Stole From Fashionable Cottagers.

Special to the Eagle.

New York, July 23.—Confessing to a number of daring burglaries at Rockaway Beach, Ralph Sherman, a tall young man of fine appearance, has admitted that five years ago he was the teller for a large bank in Williams street at $5,000 a year.

Sherman's method of burglary was so bold that he was enabled to commit many crimes, he confessed, without being detected. His capture was quite a sensation, a detective imagining that he might have information about a man the police were seeking. When the detective approached Sherman the latter ran and when he was caught he had jewelry on him from a number of burglaries. He said that he had been in the habit of watching for cottagers who went into the surf and during their absence he boldly walked into their homes.

Sherman left the bank to establish a translation bureau, being able to speak a half dozen languages. He failed in this and then took up burglary as a profession.
