THE CALL OF THE OPEN.

God's great acres out under the arched heavens, in the freedom of the valleys and hills, are calling to the people of the towns and crowded cities as never before to come and inhabit the earth and enjoy the fullness thereof. Never before were such opportunities offered the people to abandon lives of semi-slavery and become their own masters—equal in all things to their fellows. The whole trend of government, State and National, is being directed more and more in the interest of agriculture, to remove the obstacles that have long impeded its progress, and bring it into its own. An exchange, in discussing this subject, says:

"Why more of the toilers who grind their lives away in the crowded cities do not migrate to the open country will always be one of the mysteries. Opportunities for advancement in agricultural pursuits are far more promising than the sweatshops of the North. Uncle Sam has a labor employment bureau and can and will direct many of these workers to localities where labor is wanted, and life is freer, healthier and more enjoyable from every standpoint. A recent issue of the Chicago Tribune gives a little evidence brought out by an investigating committee, who visited one of the city's sweatshops. 'Save' is the message printed on the pay envelopes distributed to employees. How much they will save may be judged by looking at the amounts enclosed:

"Two dollars and sixty-six cents for thirty hours, or 55c per hour.
"Eighty-five cents for eleven and one-half hours, or 75c per hour.
"Seventy-two cents for nine hours, or 8c an hour.
"Two dollars and seventeen cents for twenty-three hours, or 74c an hour.
"One dollar and eighty-seven cents for thirty-one hours, or 6c an hour.
"Two dollars and thirty-one cents for thirty-two and one-half hours, or 74c an hour.

"One dollar and sixty-four cents for twelve hours, or 13.6c an hour.
"One dollar and eighty-two cents for twenty-four hours, or 7.4c an hour.
"Eight cents for a maximum of ten hours, is 80c a day, or $4.80 for a week of six days."

A great battle is expected to be fought between Villa's army and the Carranza garrison at Agua Prieta, on the border opposite Douglas, Ariz. The dispatches tell us thousands of spectators are already present on the American side to watch the sanguinary conflict. This is a great country and the people have assuredly been educated up to the spectacular and the love of thrills when they assemble to witness a carnage of death as if it were a football game.

There will be from five to seven thousand people here for the University A. & M. football game. The greater part of them, it is true, will come on special trains, but all of them will have to have at least two meals here. Had you thought of that, brotherin and sisterin?

Japan has signed up with the allies not to make separate peace. Reading between the lines The Eagle believes that Japanese armies will soon be fighting side by side with the allies against the Germanic powers.

GINNING PLANT BURNED.

$3,000 Loss in Fire Near Huntsville Thursday Night.

Huntsville, Tex., Oct. 20.—Thursday night about 11 o'clock the big ginning plant of Gus Bowden, situated ten miles west of Huntsville, was completely destroyed by fire. The loss on buildings, machinery, etc., is about $3,000, with no insurance. Fifty tons of seed, six bales and some loose cotton were burned, but the bulk of the ginned cotton, 200 bales, was saved by rolling into the tank. The fire caught in the lint room, where some hands had been sleeping. The plant was one of the largest in this section and will retard ginning in that neighborhood until it can be rebuilt. Mr. Bowden had met with an accident at the gin that morning, severely cutting his hand, and was in the care of his physician. The insurance policy had lapsed only a few days.

WHAT A MOTHER SHOULD BE.

A very helpful and inspiring sermon to mothers is contributed in the November Woman's Home Companion by Charles E. Jefferson, pastor of the Broadway Tabernacle, New York City. In his sermon Dr. Jefferson tells some of the characteristics an ideal mother should possess. Following is an extract of what he has to say regarding the love of a mother:

"A mother may understand all mysteries and all knowledge, but if she has not love, she is nothing. Strange to say, some mothers seem to be deficient in love. It is a divine law that only as one loses himself is it possible for him to find himself. Now a few mothers have lofty notions of their social or artistic or literary gifts and strong ambitions to develop these to the utmost. They begrudge every moment they give to their children. They hand them over to governesses and nurses, and at the earliest possible moment send them off to boarding school. In this way they rob themselves of that enrichment of affection and discipline of spirit which God has provided for mothers who faithfully perform their duties. They lose also the highest raptures which a mother's heart can know.

"Mothers who are unwilling to be bothered by their children cannot expect their children to know or love them. If in the morning a mother refuses to rise up and serve her sons and daughters, she will find in the afternoon that they will not rise up and call her blessed. Many a mother reaches the end of life with a lonely and hungry heart because, when she was young, she was too busy to knit the hearts of her children to her."

Fastbudy — I was up to see Marguerite last night and when she was not looking I kissed her.

Slink—Did she get angry?
Fastbudy—No; she just refused to look at me the rest of the evening.—Siren.
