THE MOSQUITO PROBLEM.

The Eagle has made frequent mention of the mosquito problem in Bryan and the necessity for an active, earnest campaign, to the end that the city may be rid of this terrible pest.
Both for the public health, and the public peace and comfort. It is a disgrace for a community to suffer a mosquito plague year after year as we do, especially a plague such as we have in Bryan. Intelligent communities are getting away from the mosquito idea and are denying the truth of the old idea that people must suffer every spring and summer the torments of a mosquito plague in the belief that it is one of the dispensations of providence. They are fighting them everywhere in both large and small cities and are winning the fight. The following from the Galveston News shows how earnest, how active, how thorough the campaign in New York, the greatest city in all the world:

"Health authorities of New York City are engaged in the most comprehensive campaign they have ever undertaken for the extermination of the mosquito. The experience of last summer, when extraordinary rains and consequent standing water throughout the municipal and adjacent areas stimulated the propagation of mosquitoes, taught them the necessity of beginning early to prevent their multiplication, if they would avoid a repetition of the pest. They have therefore been steadily engaged in the fight for a week or so. As breeding-time of the anopheles comes later there than here, the authorities feel that they have put their agencies of prevention to work in ample time to forestall the coming of another summer plague.

"They are going about their task in a remarkably thorough manner. Realizing that the people, themselves, are largely responsible for the mosquito affliction, they are seeking to educate the people in the prevention and extermination of mosquitoes. About one million booklets are being sent out for the instruction of the public in their destruction. Every moving picture show in the city is presenting pictures illustrating the manner in which mosquitoes are propagated and distributed from place to place. They are expecting the most fruitful results in this campaign of education, however, from efforts being made in the schools where the pupils are being made thoroughly acquainted with the mosquito question in all its ramifications. The children, once enlisted in the fight, will be of value to the campaign.

"The New York plan is not at all unsuitable for application here. It would be to our advantage to try it."

THE TRUE RING.

In the discussion through the press throughout the country relative to the position of the German-American citizens in regard to the war as it concerns the United States, The Eagle has expressed the opinion that all of them are in sympathy with Germany as between the nations of Europe, but loyal to the United States when the interests of this country, their adopted home, are called into question.
That our position was correct is borne out by the following from the Bellville Times, whose editor is a German-American, and which, besides expressing the natural sympathy for Germany, also contains the true ring of loyalty to the United States:

"A letter addressed to the editor of the Times, and signed 'A Friend,' asks: 'Are you a German sympathizer?' We do not know who that friend is, but that makes no difference. Yes, we are a German sympathizer. When we first opened our eyes to behold the beauties of the world we were then stationed on German soil. We remember the kindergarten, and the frozen Oder in the city of Breslau, and have seen thousands of German soldiers drill on the 'Exercirplatz.' We have hundreds of happy recollections of that country.

Now we are in America, and have been here many years. Though of German descent, we are an American citizen, and propose to remain loyal to the country in which we live. As for our sympathy in the present European conflict, naturally it is with Germany. If you will ask a man whose parents came from England with whom he sympathizes in the European war you will find that he will not say Germany or Austria."

THAT GREATER CHARITY.

In the great march of progress that has been made in this country along all lines, in all activities—social, political and industrial—none has been greater than the progress made in charity. Charity has been revolutionized completely during the past few years.

The Pittsburg Gazette says "The world is full of charity; but the trouble is only the conspicuous kind gets on the front page with big headlines." Taking this paragraph for a text, State Press proceeds to give as complete, concise and correct a definition of true charity, modern charity, as it would be possible to express in human language. State Press says:

"The world is thickly studded with charitable acts. There never was a time when there was as much of public of private charity as now. Thousands in Europe have begged themselves in succoring their ruined neighbors and countrymen. Millions there are giving all but their meager crusts and rags that others also may have crusts and rags. In this God-blessed America tens of millions of dollars have been given gladly and inconspicuously to the victims of the war demon across the waters. These large gifts have been going abroad for nearly two years and are still going, and no giver is asking that he be praised of men. Meanwhile charity is not lessened at home. In our politics, our religion, our commerce, we are year by year enlarging our conceptions of duty; and such enlargement invariably leads to increased liberality in dealing with the poor and the sick and the helpless.
We are learning not only to give liberally, but to give wisely. We are discovering ways and means whereby the strong may help the weak to strengthen themselves. The old way was to encourage beggars by doling out mites from day to day. The newer way is to find a cure for those diseased and work for those capable of it. The old way was to hold the beggar in contempt and at arm's length. The new way is to investigate his worthiness, encourage his self-respect and put him in the way of earning his living. Charity has become more intelligent without having grown less kind."

From the instructions given on Tuesday it looks like Governor Jim will head the boys to the St. Louis convention.

AT THE QUEEN.

Today brings the funniest comedy ever produced, either on the screen or stage. It is the howling comedy, "Excuse Me," from the book by Rupert Hughes, and is produced by Henry W. Savage for the Pathe Gold Rooster Masterpieces, and features the famous star comedian George F.
Marion, supported by Vivian Blackburn and a rollicking cast.

Most everyone has read this screamingly funny book, but it is many, many times funnier when in the pictures.

The admission price for this premier attraction will be only 15 cents for grown-ups and 10 cents for children under 8 years, still the management guarantees this to be one of the best attractions ever shown in Bryan.

The Bryan Spring Pageant moving pictures, with nearly every one in Bryan appearing in them, will be shown Friday afternoon and night at the Queen. Come and see yourself as others see you. All children are urged to attend Friday afternoon and avoid the night crowd. In addition to this, there will be a fine program and the admission will be 10 cents for everybody, and every man, woman and child in Bryan will have to attend to pay for the production of this local picture.

On Saturday the Queen will have the famous stage star and beauty, Miss Ethel Barrymore, in a grand Metro feature play, "The Kiss of

WORK STARTED ON GOOD ROADS

First Dirt Was Broken Wednesday in the Building of Brazos County Good Roads.

The beginning of the work on the Brazos County good roads was started yesterday when Mr. W. E. Gandy broke dirt with a large crew of workmen and teams on the Koppe Bridge Road. Today twelve teams and a large crew of workmen will turn dirt preparatory to the piking of the Benchley Road, under the supervision of Mr. George Wall.

Messrs. Hayden and Bates, general contractors, stated to a reporter this morning that contracts for 51 miles of the roads to be built had already been sublet and that the sub-contractors who were not already on the ground at work had their stuff moving and would be in actual road building by the last of this week or the first of next.

The contract for building the concrete bridges has been let to Mr. E.
W. Campbell and he has everything moving now with which to construct the bridges and the work will be pushed at once and rushed to completion.

The following are the sub-contractors that have signed up with Hayden & Bates, the general contractors, to complete the work:

College Road, W. C. Boyett; Rock
Prairie, A. K. Patterson; Koppe Bridge, W. E. Gandy; Jones Bridge, W. P. Hill; Benchley Road, George Wall; Dilleshaw Tap, W. I. Deal & Son; McCree Bridge, Curtis Pritchard; Madisonville, A. K. Patterson.
