A MAN OF THE HOUR.

General Coleman Du Pont of Delaware is an aspirant for presidential honors. Why shouldn't the republicans nominate him? He is a powder maker and he believes in preparedness and war. He is worth $50,000,000 and he is a patriot.

He has made these admissions himself and a patriot always tells the truth.

General Du Pont has powder factories. He owns stock in many plants where ammunitions are made. He is the possessor of a colossal fortune. The elephant is running on three legs and the bull moose is gasping his last gasp. Publicity and powder should be given the right of way and Du Pont is willing to pay the freight. Make way for the patriot of Delaware.—Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald, Editor of the Fort Worth Record.

Full Speed Ahead.

He was the slowest boy on earth, and had been sacked at three places in two weeks, so his parents had apprenticed him to a naturalist. But even he found him slow. It took him two hours to stick a pin through a dead butterfly, and four to pick a convolulus. The only point about him was that he was willing.

"And what," he asked, having spent a whole afternoon changing the gold-fishes' water, "shall I do now, sir?" The naturalist ran his fingers through his locks.

"Well, Robert," he replied at length, "I think you might now take the tortoise out for a run."

A Reasonable Explanation.

One of the questions in the San Francisco Examiner's animal story contest, upon which children are asked to write, is: "Why does a cow need two stomachs?"

Bad experience evidently had much to do with the deductions of Miss Mark Schley, of Fruitville, for he replied:

"So when she has an ache in one of her stomachs, she can use the other one."

EVERY TIME YOU EAT

You realize the importance of the quality of your groceries. That is our specialty quality. It cost us a little more, and we have to meet same prices as other dealers, but we find from experience that it pays in the long run, because we never lose our customers and we are always gaining new ones. It's the quality that does it.

What Would We Do Without Sugar?

GATHERING SUGAR CANE

We are so used to sugar that we are likely to forget to give it its proper important place. Right now if somebody asked you what sugar was good for you'd probably say—"Oh! to put in coffee and tea and for making candies and desserts." That's it—we all think of sugar as a sweetener and overlook its value as a food.

The chemists classify sugar as a hydrocarbon—that name may or may not be interesting to us, but what is interesting is their statement that it has, as a hydrocarbon, equal food value with the starchy foods and by digestion largely adds to the fatty tissues of the body.

Why do we eat sugar anyway? Your first answer might be: "Because it is sweet and tastes good." Of itself the answer would be correct, but the more important fact is that the body craves sugar because it needs it. And when the body craves something it gives us an appetite for it. So primarily that's why we like sugar and things made with sugar and not just because they are sweet.

In view of the fact that sugar has gone up so tremendously of late these facts are interesting because we find that instead of the luxury sugar having gone up it is the FOOD sugar that has raised its price. Yet—even though the price is up we have to have our sweet food just the same.

Certainly the makers of that delicious beverage Coca-Cola must have discovered that sugar is up, because one of the principal ingredients in making Coca-Cola syrup is fine cane sugar. Think of it!—they use an average of 80 tons of sugar a day—about 4 carloads. But unlike many manufacturers that company has itself borne the raise and so you and I pay just the same today for our bottle of glass of Coca-Cola that we've always paid. Incidentally, this phase of the situation is a good reminder of the benefits one gets from drinking a beverage as pure and good as Coca-Cola. Not only do we please our palates and derive wholesome refreshment from the drink but we also give our systems that bit of sugar sweetness that they crave and which is necessary to health and tissues. Is it any wonder then that Coca-Cola is so popular and so universally drunk that it has been called "the drink the nation drinks"?
