Lone Star Pete - "Why, this doggasted book says the feller wot was agoin' ter get married felt as happy as though he was treading on the air!" Mr. Yorker - "Isn't that all right?" Lone Star Pete - "Not out this way, stranger; fellers don't feel happy when they're treading on air." - Break yn life.

Tommy - "Oh, maw, we was up to the park to-day and saw a garter snake 'most a yard and a half long." Miss Figg - "Pshaw, child, garter

Hogg Alliance Programme.

San Antonio Express.

The Waco News suggests the following programme, which it seems to hope may be adopted at Houston.

The News offered the following order of business for the Hogg organization at Houston: First taking up the pass word by Secret Circular Gass. Second, prayer by Chaplain Web Finley. Third appointment of a committee on good of the order. Fourth, singing, after which prayer by Rev. Sam Dixon. Fifth the governor will enter and the Alliance will rise in a body and remain standing with heads uncovered until his excellency is seated beside the chaplain. Sixth, silence for five minutes. Three taps at the outer door will be heard at this point and the door keeper, Scum Duncan, by name, will shove the flap aside and say, "Who comes there?" Answer - "Farmer Shaw, Tom Brown and McGaughey." Gass vouches for them and they enter, but have forgotten the sign. Sam Dixon asks, "What is the Alliance?" and Tom Brown looks straight at Hogg. Hogg lolls his tongue and Tom, Mac and the farmer catch on and the loll goes all the way around the hall. Seventh, lecture by Horace Chilton on "Six Months in the United States Senate." Eighth, nomination of Hogg for governor. Ninth, report of the committee on good of the order. The report will be adopted and the Alliance will adjourn for two years.
