EVEN politics will grow monotonous.

SEVERAL of the Homestead strikers have been arrested on a charge of treason.

DOUBTLESS Mr. Murray is now trying to find a hole in which to hide himself.

THE Fort Worth Gazette has declared in favor of good government. It is for George Clark.

Hogg is an enemy to "home rule." He wants to have a hand in the local government of the state.

SENATOR COKE might have advised Clark and his followers to organize a suicide club. Coke himself seems to be bent upon political suicide.

THE Sultan of Turkey kneels down to pray on a rug set with diamonds and pearls, valued at $2,000,000. Doubtless, the good Allah is much moved by such expensive devotion.

TO RESTRICT IMMIGRATION.

Francis A. Walker, in the Yale Review, makes a wise suggestion in regard to legislation to restrict immigration. That some immediate measures should be taken to prohibit the tremendous influx of paupers to which America has been subjected the last few years, every one acknowledges. Mr. Walker's suggestion is to make a money test. He says:

"The United States should make proclamation that for ten years after January 1, 1893, a deposit of $100 shall be required from every alien entering its ports; that in case any person making such deposit shall depart out of the country within three years after the time of payment, the amount shall be refunded to him; that at the expiration of the term of three years the amount of deposit shall be paid to every depositor then remaining in the country upon the presentation of satisfactory evidence that he is at the time a law-abiding and self-supporting citizen; etc, etc."

The proposed law makes further provisions in regard to claims upon the said deposit, and mode of collecting it. The prime idea, however, is presented in the above quoted portion of it. To make such a requirement of aliens, entering our country, would prohibit the thousands of paupers who can barely scrape up their passage money and who bring us nothing but filth and ideas of rebellion against higher powers and classes, from coming here. The Chinese have been prohibited from becoming citizens, yet the chief objection to them was the fact that American labor could not compete with them. It cannot be denied, however, that the Chinese will work, making excellent cooks and laundrymen while thousands of these miserable European wretches don't care to work. They do nothing but tramp over the country with a lot of worthless trinkets to peddle. Many evils have grown out of this unrestricted immigration, and it is sincerely to be hoped that some measures for its restriction will be adopted. If anything requires to be taxed, let us put a prohibitory tax upon these socialistic cholera-breeding immigrants, and if a force bill is adopted let it be to force American immigration authorities to admit only respectable, sober, laboring men, who will make worthy citizens.

THE Galveston News recently published some interesting clippings from back numbers of the Houston Post (Hogg organ), to which we would add the following from the Post of May 20. "The grievance which Governor Hogg has against the press is not that it misreports him, but that it reports him at all." He would be glad if the newspapers would not publish his speeches in any form, in which event he could travel around the state and humbug the people with out let or hindrance. The governor has been challenged to specify a single instance wherein he has been misrepresented, but he has ignored the challenge. He doubtless feels like the Irishman when told by his lawyer that he should have justice.

THE Corpus Christi Caller of Aug. 17th remarked: "The convention at San Antonio two years ago was opened with such elegant expression as 'Soeey!' and 'Gimme Hogg and Commission!' And we will remark en passant that it has been 'Soeey!' and 'Hogg and Commission!' ever since, while progress has taken a back seat in the state." A queer remark that, as the Caller that time was en passant to the Hogg landing.

It is interesting to know that had Noah's famous navigation act taken place in these days, by the aid of the compass and navigation charts, he might have landed on the top of Mount Ararat some time earlier than he reached Mount Everest. Just think, Ararat was standing high and dry above water long before Everest, while the Ark was being buffeted by the cruel waves looking for the land.

ST. LOUIS Republic: A man near St. Joseph who had subscribed $5 to a church fund killed the man who tried to collect it, and who, to get even, took the delinquent subscriber along with him, as security, perhaps. The church loses two members and $5 and the community two citizens who, taken all in all, were earnest and energetic men in all their undertakings.

IT is said that out of 7,000,000 young men in America, 5,000,000 never attend church. It might be added that out of the 2,000,000 who presumably do attend divine worship, half of them are drawn there by their desire to worship the fair sex which is always well represented in the churches.

THE Houston Post, and a few other Hogg organs, after faithfully warning the people not to be humbugged by Governor Hogg, has itself fallen a victim to his snares. He is a poor physician who can save others but finds his medicines of no avail in his own case.

NEW YORK cuts her neighbor Brooklyn a provincial village. No doubt such unimportant places as San Antonio, Galveston or Houston are classed as the insect hamlets, while such microscopic places as the smaller towns are entirely out of sight.

CLEVELAND is kept busy these days writing letters. He emphatically denies Candidate Weaver's statement that he (Cleveland) declined to visit a certain Virginia home because Miss Winnie Davis was to be a guest of the house at the same time.

THE St. Louis Republic casts the mantle of charity over Gen. Weaver's chicken stealing war record, and says: "Let us draw a veil over the painful past and stick to the issues of the living present."

THERE is some talk of the apathetic condition of the presidential campaign, but no complaint is made in regard to the state campaign of Texas. Things are kept lively. No apathy here.

TROEBEL, the creator of the beautiful kindergarten system which now renders the little child's school life a happy dream, was once called an "old fool."

SAM JONES comes to Texas to "wake up San Antonio." If San Antonio has been asleep the last few weeks, Texas won't hold her when she does wake up.

MURRAY claimed that he could not publish Cleveland's letter because it was marked "personal." Grover's copy of the letter shows no such word.
