HAVING FUN.

A Hotel Proprietor Shows Silver Dollars on the Stage.
 Coney Island, N. Y.; June 18.—Ernest Pitsch, proprietor of the Palm hotel and the New York at St. Augustine, Fla., went on a spree and made things lively at West Brighton for a few hours. Pitsch had been drinking champagne at his hotel with some friends all night and at noon started to do the Bowery. After making things very lively for everybody in several concert halls he dropped into Count Vaca's West End Casino. Pitsch carried three large cigar boxes filled with silver coin under his arm. Soon the Smilax sisters, song and dance performers, appeared on the stage. They had just finished their first song and were leaving the stage when a shower of silver coins fell upon their heads. Pitsch had emptied one cigar box.

The Misses Smilax paid no attention to the valuable shower, but started to sing their second song, when came the contents of the second box. This was too much for the song and dance girls and they stopped to pick up the coins while the audience applauded in a wild manner. Soon the news spread around that a "guy" from the South was throwing money around at Vaca's and the Casino was crowded to suffocation. Florence French was next to appear and the third and last box of coins were thrown at her when she sang "Away Down South in Dixie."

Ella Wesner followed Miss French and the spectators roared when Miss Wesner began to gyp Pitsch.
 "I am a Southern woman; how is it you don't throw money at me?" she shouted.
 This was more than the hotel keeper could bear and going out to the cashier's desk he exchanged a $100 bill for silver. Pitsch placed the silver on a fire shovel and walking down the center aisle threw it over the heads of the orchestra members at Miss Wesner. The latter immediately picked up the coins and placing them in her little derby walked off the stage singing: "Hard Times Come Again No More."

Pitsch then bought the drinks for the entire audience, which numbered more than 600 people. Pitsch is very wealthy and has lived at Coney Island during the summer season for fifteen years.
 Count Vaca says Pitsch threw more than $500 upon the stage. After leaving the Casino the hotel keeper ordered the coachman to drive him to the bank in New York, where he said he was going to get a ton of silver coin and have some more fun.

—June was named in honor of Juno, a Roman divinity, who was worshiped as Queen of the Heavens. It is called the "month of marriages and of suicides."
 —"The Speed of the Earthquake" was the subject of a recent scientific lecture by Prof. Lancaster. He proved that the average speed of transmission of the shock is 15,000 feet per second.
 —Statistics prove that nearly two-thirds of all the letters carried by the postal service of the world are written, sent to and read by English-speaking people.

FEMALE SANDOW.

Wonderful Feats of Strength Performed by a Woman.

The reigning sensation in Paris is Miss Arniotis, who is known as the female Sandow. Her feats of strength are wonderful. Her strength is the result of a careful attention to hygienic laws. She has a mischievous figure, and is the essence of suppleness and very graceful. Her exhibition of strength differs from the ordinary performance of such nature, inasmuch as she has no special numbers put down on the programme.
 When she appears on the stage any member or members of the audience is at liberty to put her strength to the test in any way that he may choose. One very amusing incident occurred on this account. An aristocratic "high roller" and a lot of his followers were present at one of Miss Arniotis' performances and was rash enough to challenge her to throw the upright piano from the orchestra into the ring. The manager demurred, but the youth put up the price of the piano and added a couple of hundred francs to be given to the lady if she succeeded.
 Nobody dreamed that she would be able to do it, but much to the amazement and delight of the audience, save the gilded youth, Miss Arniotis, without a word, sprang nimbly upon the music platform, grabbed the piano and hurled it in to the ring, of course shivering the instrument into atoms. When she laughingly offered to treat the rash better and his friends the same way her kindness was declined with thanks.
 Then she was asked to carry two men, seated astride a barrel, with one hand, a feat which she executed with ease and grace. She is inclined to be roughly mischievous if any of her subjects attempt to gyp her. She took one luckless youth by the nape of the neck and slammed him into an empty barrel, which she then used as a baseball,earing the life out of the fellow as she tossed him in the air, all this because the man said he thought she was but a trickster.—Exchange.

LITTLE CURIOUS THINGS.

—January 1 has been New Year's Day ever since Julius Caesar "reformed" the calendar, in the year 45 B. C.
 —Prof. Masse, the Italian scientist, is authority for the statement that a man's blood is as poisonous as viper's venom.
 —One of the new rifles used by the Italian soldiers sends a ball with force enough to go through 5 inches of solid oak at a distance of 4,000 feet.
 —According to an investigator located at Davenport, Io., there are 20,000,000 microbes to each cubic inch of water taken from the Mississippi at that place.

MRS. MAYBRICK'S WRONGS.

Gail Hamilton Invites attention anew in The World to the case of Mrs. Maybrick.

The occasion is the refusal of the British Home Office to give consideration to new evidence which has been submitted without avail.
 Mrs. Maybrick was accused of murdering her husband by poison. The crime was never proved. It was not even established as a probability.
 The trial was a travesty of justice. The Judge was openly hostile to the prisoner, even to the point of malignancy.
 With such a trial a verdict of guilty was almost inevitable, and the woman was condemned to death. The English law offered her no appeal or rehearing. But the verdict was so manifestly contrary to the evidence that the Home Secretary of that time, Mr. Matthews, commuted her sentence to one life imprisonment. In America the verdict would have been set aside as monstrously unjust upon the evidence.
 There were two or three unexplained and suspicious circumstances in connection with Maybrick's death. Upon these mainly rested the verdict against the woman, who was required to prove her innocence when no guilt had been proved.
 Upon every one of those points new and apparently conclusive evidence has now been discovered and submitted to the present Home Secretary, Mr. Asquith. It seems fully to answer all the demands made by Mr. Matthews when he was asked to set the woman free. But Mr. Asquith declines to act upon it. He thrusts it into a pigeonhole, says it is "not sufficient," and decides that this countryman of ours shall remain in prison to the hour of her death for a crime which has never been proved, a crime of which his own office has in fact acquitted her.
 It is a monumental wrong, which can be corrected only by compulsion of public opinion.—New York World.

—The year 1719 was one of "so able births," bringing into the world such celebrities as Queen Victoria, John Ruskin, Walt Whitman, Charles Kingsley, Julia Ward Howe, J. G. Holland and Cyrus W. Field.
