THE KING BUILDING.

New York To Have an Iron Structure 200 Stories High.

A firm of architects in New York have drawn plans for the most tremendous building on earth, a structure 200 stories high. A capitalist of New York submitted the idea of such a building to the architects. At first they regarded the idea as visionary. "Examine it carefully," said their client and make your report." The architects did so. They concluded that their part of the work was practical and practicable; that a 200 story building could be erected, provided the vast sum of money necessary to construct it was forthcoming. This huge pile will be called the King building. Its plan somewhat resembles that of the Eiffel Tower, that wonder of the last Paris Exposition. But the King building will be nearly three times as large as the Eiffel tower and its construction presents vastly greater difficulties. The structure will occupy one large city block. It will, of course, be built of steel, just as the buildings that are now considered tall are built of steel. The framework of these buildings is like that of a bridge. The bridge is placed on end and surrounded by an outer water of stone or granite. In the 200 story building the bridge will be longer, that's all. Compared to this building, the twenty-three story pile of the American Surety company will be as a mushroom sprouting at the base of a tall flag pole. The King building will have 120,000 square feet of space on the 200 floors. It will contain 100,000 separate offices and suites. It will accommodate 400,000 people under one roof. Necessarily the first question to be answered in planning for this sky piercing structure was "How will people reach the upper stories?" The answer is: "By electrical elevators." Manufacturers of passenger elevators have been consulted. They are positive that it will be as easy to build elevators in a 200 story building as in a 20-story building. In the King building there will be express elevators and way elevators. The express elevators will stop, say at the twenty-fifth, fiftieth, seventy-fifth, one hundredth floors, and so on to the top story. It has been calculated that the express elevators will make the journey from basement to roof in two and a half minutes. The way elevators will stop at each story where passengers await them making an ordinary journey in ten minutes. There will be at least fifty elevators. It is the purpose of the projectors of the building to gather on its commodious floors 200 distinct communities of business men. On one floor will be the jewelers, on another the hardware dealers, on another the harness makers, and so on. So the conduct of great interests will be simplified and more work can be done in that building in four hours than can be accomplished elsewhere in an ordinary work day of eight or ten hours.

In the building will be retail clothing stores, haberdashers' shops, barber shops, restaurants, a physician's office and a drug store. In fact, it will be a city under a roof. It is proposed to lay out that vast roof as a garden in summer and to inclose it in glass in winter. It is also expected that some valuable meteorological knowledge will be obtained by means of the observations taken by the United States Signal Service at such a tremendous height. The King building will be, in fact, the highest type of present day development in architecture. It will be the first of the mighty fire proof structures that within the next twenty years will rear their heads in New York below Twenty-third street.

In the plans as drawn by Messrs. Harding & Gooch, it has been determined that the thickness of the lower walls of the building will be nearly sixteen feet, gradually diminishing toward the upper stories. —Ex.

AFRAID OF ENGLAND.

Central American Countries Want No Investments of British Money.

City of Mexico, Feb. 17.—Private advices from Central America show a strong popular sentiment in favor of Cuba and Venezuela and indisposition to accept British capital in local enterprises last investments be made a pretext subsequently for British interference.

The continued displacement of British and German cotton goods on the west coast by Mexican goods being sold much cheaper, being produced on a silver basis, is causing alarm among importers. One of the largest dry goods merchants here says trade will be lost to Europe and he has begun shipping Mexican goods to Mazatlan, where foreign prints formerly had a monopoly. It is predicted that within a few years the Mexican cotton goods will drive out European goods in Ecuador, Peru and Chili.

WASHINGTON AS A POLITICIAN.

Provided a Generous Vinous Feast for Voters; Hospitality for Those Opposing.

General Greely's article in March Ladies Home Journal upon "The Personal Side of Washington" will show that Washington was largely influenced by his environments, but also that he steadily tended toward the higher standards of the present age, especially as regards his habits and ideals. Of the first election in which he actively participated General Greely writes: "In his younger days Washington extended at his first election the usual post-election hospitality, which, in those days, consisted in the minimum amount of food with the maximum amount of spirits. We find him paying an account for such an entertainment for some four hundred voters, where the account was three shillings for food and thirty-seven for liquors. The capacity of the average drinker may, perhaps be placed at three quarts at a sitting, as derived from this account, which covered one hogs head of punch, one barrel of punch, forty gallons of punch, forty-five gallons of wine and forty seven gallons of beer. Washington, who was not present, expressed his surprise at their
