It is evident that up to the present time Harriman holds the record for the biggest Fish stories.

No matter what punishment is meted out to Harry Thaw, the long suffering jury will have atoned for all their sins.

There is a Massachusetts man one hundred and four years old who has voted the Democratic ticket without variation and it is suggested that he be put on the list for the Carnegie hero medal.

The Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington has an expert statistician, who after an exhaustive examination of the cost of the transportation of the United States mails by railways, finds that the Government pays the road $31.75 per ton for conveying mail matter from New York to Buffalo, but that the express companies pay only $12.50 per ton between the two cities for the same weight. The question is why should the Government pay more than the express companies? The same statistician estimates that a railway mail car costs $6,000 and that the Government pays an annual rental of $5,447 for this car and that the roads subtracts $1,200 per annum for maintenance and repairs, giving the road a net annual profit of $4,247 on an investment of $6,000, and Congressman Tawney, Chairman of the Appropriation Committee, has found that there are postal cars that have been running twenty-five years and have earned $106,175 each, but he, in fairness, states that the average life of such cars is only fifteen years, which would make their net earnings a little more than $70,000. These figures suggest that Government ownership and operation might be one hundred times as profitable as the Patent Office, from which the United States derives a large annual profit through fees from inventors.

The Chicago millionaire who last winter offered to make a bond of one hundred millions of dollars and to take charge of the Postoffice Department, reduce letter postage to one cent, and to give the country better service than it ever had, and to make over to the Government all the earnings above seven per cent net, was not bluffing. It was an offer made in good faith and it would have saved the Government seventy-five millions of dollars a year, and made the contractor and his backers multimillionaires.

Over half a hundred suits for divorce were filed in Denver in the first half of March, and yet March is held to be a dull month in the divorce market.

A Chicago professor says that poetry is a sign of barbarian. This is a little hard on Indiana, but Illinois always was jealous of the Hoosier State.

"Missouri will stand by the mule," says the Augusta Herald. That is all very well, but she should take care not to stand behind it.

"The country needs me," says Mr. Harriman, and the only thing that will convince him to the contrary is to run for office.

NOTICE—TAXPAYERS.

Austin, Texas, March 29, 1907. To the Tax Assessors of Texas: You are directed to give notice to taxpayers in your respective counties to call and correct their assessments and give in any money and notes or other property not heretofore given in, and place the full value on all property. Instruct them that if they do not do this, you will ask the Commissioners Court to place the proper valuation on same. W. J. McDONALD, State Revenue Agent.

The Tax Assessors' Association of Texas in session this date in this city passed a resolution requesting all the State and county papers of Texas to publish the foregoing notice by the State Revenue Agent.

IN MEMORIAM. W. L. Moseley died in Jefferson, Tex., March 13, 1907. He was born in Donaldsonville, S. C., July 28, 1843. Came to Texas in 1870, and was married to Miss Mattie Connor in Jan., 1873. He leaves a wife and four children, besides many relatives and friends to mourn his loss. Bro. Moseley has been in feeble health for some time, but his death was sudden and unexpected. He was confined to his bed scarcely twenty-four hours before the summons came. He was prepared to meet his Saviour in peace. Converted in 1872 he entered the blessed experience of perfect love in 1902.

He had only lived in Jefferson two or three years, yet such was his godly walk and conversation that he left the impress of his Christian character upon the community. Modest and retiring he did not make acquaintances rapidly, but those who knew him best loved him most. He was a man who dared stand by his convictions of right and truth. He lived the faith he professed, exemplifying in his daily walk the experience of perfect love he claimed. He kept the faith, fought the good fight, and hath received the crown. We miss his kind ministrations, his prayers, and godly counsel; but we sorrow, not as those who have no hope, because we shall see him again in the glory of our coming Lord. His body rests in Oakwood cemetery, awaiting the Resurrection morn. his Spirit rests in the Paradise of God.

To the faithful wife and loving children we extend most sincere, heartfelt sympathy. Their loss is the loss of us all, but Christ power to save and to keep to the uttermost has another witness, and heaven has another saint. We mourn his loss and rejoice in his triumph. J. Woodson.

Our Girls With Voices. Numerous ambitious girls throughout the country will be alternately chilled and thrilled by an article on studying singing in New York which appears in the May number of the New Idea Woman's Magazine. The writer plainly states that in the artistic metropolis of our country the profession of voice teacher is "beset by conscienceless montebanks," quotes the opinion of Director Hinricks of the Metropolitan School of Opera that ex-stars makes the poorest teachers. They have a natural gift of song. They don't know how they sing. Having no method how can they teach one? and affirms that to get really to the top of the singing world "a Euro pean debut is essential." All this is disheartening to the girl with a voice to train, but there is another side to the story. This tells of a school of opera in connection with the leading New York opera house itself, the pupils of which are given admission to all the operas, the promising ones even being allowed to "tread the boards, as members of the chorus, as flower girls in Parsifal and even in small parts." Note is made of "Madame Rappold, the Brooklyn nightingale, who burst into fame" without the European debut, and, for the girl not dramatically inclined, of the excellent fields for voices in concert, oratorio and church work.

Whooping Cough. I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family in cases of whooping cough, and want to tell you that it is the best medicine I have ever used.—W. F. Gaston, Posco, Ga. This remedy is safe and sure. For sale all druggists.

A Managing Widow. A certain young widow who has just changed her wardrobe for brighter hues gave a dinner party not long ago. The rooms were decorated with a great profusion of flowers. Roses in masses were on the mantels, and the dinner table burst into "farms" without the abundance of flowers was unusual. One of the guests could restrain her curiosity no longer and when the dessert was brought in said: "Well, Mrs. Blank, you're rather spreading on the flowers tonight." "Yes," replied the fair widow brightly, "but tomorrow I am going to take them out to the cemetery and put them on poor Tom's grave."

TO AILING WOMEN. A Little Sound Advice Will Help Many a Sufferer in Jefferson. No woman can be healthy and well if the kidneys are sick. Poisons that pass off in the urine when the kidneys are well are retained in the body when the kidneys are sick. Kidneys and bladder get inflamed and swollen, crowding the delicate female organs nearby, and sometimes displacing them. This is the true cause of many bearing-down pains, lameness, backache, sideache, etc. Uric poisoning also causes headaches, dizzy spells, languor, nervousness and rheumatic pain.

When suffering so, try Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that cures the kidneys. You will get better, and health will return when the kidneys are well. Mrs. J. F. Slayton, living eight miles from Atlanta, Texas, on E. F. D. No. 1, Queen City, P. O. says: Kidney trouble bothered me for a year, causing intense suffering in the small of the back and pain in the sides. At times it would be so bad that I would just have to give in and lie down. The kidney secretions were scanty, with a burning sensation in passing. I tried several medicines in vain before I got Doan's Kidney Pills. They helped me at once and finally cured me entirely, as I have felt no return of the trouble since. To recommend Doan's Kidney Pills is therefore a pleasure.

"A Tax Payer's" Hand Bill.

"A Citizen" wants to notice the "dodgers" distributed in Jefferson during the "wee small hours" of the morning of March 30, in the year of our Lord 1907. (I go the trouble to record the exact date because the date of all "important" events should be recorded for benefit of posterity.) I will not reply but will leave that to other "tax-payers" who are not in harmony with the sentiment expressed in said "hand bill." This "Tax Payer" classes himself as one of the "best citizens" of Jefferson and complains of "persecution." I have sought to attack nothing but low dives, houses of prostitution, prostitutes and lawlessness in general, and if this is a "persecution" of the "tax payers" and "best citizens" of Jefferson I have not said half that ought to have been said. I want "Tax Payer" to tell the people how an attack upon a brother "persecutes" him. I heard a great many citizens who pay taxes state upon the streets that they did not feel "persecuted" in the least.

Now I do not believe this "hand bill" represents the sentiments of the "best citizens" and "tax payers" of Jefferson. The following are the reasons I have for believing it does not represent the "best citizens":

1st. The best citizens would have gone to the JIMPLECURE and explained to the editor that they were being "persecuted" and demanded that he desist; but this "tax payer" goes abroad to have his printing done and never asked the use of the columns of the JIMPLECURE that would have been freely given him.

2nd. The best citizens would have shown how and when they had been persecuted, but "Tax Payer" merely says they are "persecuted" and tired of it and leaves the public to guess the rest.

3rd. The best citizens would have denied the truth of what "Citizen" had said or admitted its truth and used some argument to show why the truth should not be spoken; but this "tax payer" repeats the truth of a statement. "Citizen" never made an "Tax Payer" would have to be in or near a house of prostitution all the time to make the positive denial he has made, and uses no argument save that he is "persecuted" and tired of it.

4th. The best citizens would not have evaded every good thing in the Bible from Genesis to Revelations and sought to distort a part of the 3rd chapter of Ecclesiastes into a defense of brothels and libes.

5th. The best citizens would not have made their reply to "Citizen" in the silent watches of the night. They feel that Jesus Christ spoke the truth when he said that man loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil.—John 3:19. The best citizens do not believe this old town can be built up by following the leadership of a tax payer that seeks to condemn a crusade against "lost and lawless" by having hand bills printed abroad and on the only night for weeks that the plying moon had veiled her face with dark rain clouds and the threatening elements had driven most people to shelter, this "tired" and "persecuted" "best citizen" and "tax payer" with a stealthy, cat-like tread, fearing to awaken honest people that were sleeping the sleep of righteousness, tacked his "Important Word to Reasonable people" upon telephone poles all over the city. Our old town is being ruined by persons who do their work in the night.

There is indeed a time "to" all things and I think that prostitutes and their supporters have just about had their time in Jefferson and its now "high time" to effect the setting of their sun.

I want to tell "Tax Payer" that I don't see much difference in the cleanliness of a bird that will foul its own nest and one that will try and keep it foul. I don't believe who befouled it; I have been trying to clean it and you seem to be tired of my operations.

I have said more than I intended to say. I could abuse and apply vile epithets to "Tax Payer," like he has done me, but I am a gentleman and won't do it. I don't mean to say that he is no gentleman I mean only that "it" can't do it and be a gentleman.

I don't call this a reply, because if this "tax payer" represents the best citizens and tax payers of this town and county I have no reply to make, but I won't apologize. What do the citizens and tax payers say about it, anyway? We want to hear from you.

Next week I will give my name in the JIMPLECURE and tell you why I wrote over a fictitious signature, and I ask "Tax Payer" to do likewise and tell why he did his work in the night, and how he knows "positively" that two thirds of the married men don't go to the Campbell hotel. A Citizen.

Cured of Rheumatism. Mr. Wm. Henry of Chattanooga, Tenn. had rheumatism in his left arm. "The strength seemed to have gone out of the muscles so that it was useless for work" he says. "I applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and wrapped the arm in flannel at night, and to my relief I found that the pain gradually left me and the strength returned. In three weeks the rheumatism had disappeared and has not since returned." If troubled with rheumatism try a few applications of Pain Balm. You are certain to be pleased with the relief which it affords. For sale by all druggists.

Cockfighting in England. Cockfighting is still enthusiastically carried on in many parts of England. But no educational expert would now pronounce it a very becoming sport for gentlemen, as Ascham did when he wrote his "Scholmaster" in the sixteenth century. Colet was centuries ahead of his time when he discouraged cockfighting in his statutes for St. Paul's school. The typical statutes of a north country school of that period direct that the master "shall have, use and take the profits of all such cock-fights and potations as are commonly used in schools." In Scotland particularly one morning a year was given to cockfighting, and the dominie's perquisites, all the cocks killed and a shilling from each boy, sometimes amounted to a quarter of his total fees. This lasted at least until 1828, though Manchester Grammar school dropped the practice a little earlier.—London Chronicle.

Quemona's Deadly Work Had so seriously affected my right lung writes Mrs. Fannie Connor of Rural Route 1, Georgetown, Tex. "that I coughed continuously night and day and the neighbors' prediction—consumption—seemed inevitable, until my husband brought home a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, which in my case proved to be the only real cough cure and restorer of weak, sore lungs." When all other remedies utterly fail you may still win in the battle against lung and throat troubles with New Discovery, the real cure. Guaranteed by W. J. Sedberry druggist, and $1. Trial bottle free.
