IRON ORE ROAD SOON COMPLETED

First Train Dec. 6th.—Ore City to Celebrate Mining Activities Will Begin at Once.

The early completion of the Port Bolivar Iron Ore railroad to the heart of the iron ore beds of East Texas will mark the beginning of a new era of development in East Texas heretofore not dreamed of.

It has already been marked by the building of a thriving town of several hundred souls, several stores, planing mill and cotton gin, all built and in operation long in advance of the advent of the railway.

This town of Ore City, which is to be the concentrating point of the Iron Ore industry to be carried on along modern lines by The Ore City Co. and interests, owning in excess of two hundred million tons of the finest iron ore to be found in the United States. A great washing and crushing plant for refining this ore will be established near Ore City, which when refined, is to be hauled to Port Bolivar, and thence transhipped by ore carrying vessels directly to the blast furnaces in Pennsylvania.

While this is a tremendous step forward in the development of the East Texas Iron Ore deposits and will prove a highly profitable business, as well as give permanent and lucrative employment to many workmen, its profits will compare as pennies to $10 bills with that to be made when the blast furnaces and rolling mills are erected in the heart of the East Texas iron ore country, as they will ultimately be.

The inauguration and successful prosecution of this first development work at Ore City means the upbuilding in north-east Texas of a great manufacturing metropolis, thickly girted with factories and teeming with life. It means the building of a model city of beautiful homes, substantial business houses, wide streets and shady boulevards, parks and recreation resorts.

Ore City is preparing to commemorate the completion of the Iron Ore Railway, with a great celebration on December 12th. On that date special trains will be run over the M. K. & T. and M. & E. T. to the junction of the Iron Ore R. and all lines entering Longview (where the Iron Ore R. connects with the Santa Fe, I. & G. N. and T. & P. and especially low round trip rates have been promised. From Longview the crowds will be taken on special trains over the Iron Ore Railway to Ore City. Here they will see a town but a few months old which already numbers fifty odd residences and nearly a dozen business houses and manufacturing industries, with numerous others to be erected as soon as material can be hauled in over the newly completed line.

At Ore City the visitors will see the nucleus of what is to be a model city in all that the name implies. Broad, well graded streets, which have already been laid off, and business and residential lots graded and ready for the structures which will soon adorn them. Here they will find themselves in the midst of an old settled agricultural section, settled by a thrifty set of farmers, each of whom owns and works his own farm. Here is the center of the great fruit belt of East Texas, the home of the Elberta peach and the finest fruit, berry and truck country to be found anywhere. Also immediately adjoining Ore City are some of the finest pine and hardwood forests in the world and already one big corporation is having the ground cleared for a big saw and planing mill, dry kilns and wood working plant. The coming of the railroad into this section will mean not alone the development of the iron industry on a big scale, but will mean a great impetus to agriculture and timbering pursuits. The hardwood forest will mean the establishment of wagon and furniture factories, spoke and handle plants, etc., and the fact that it is a favored fruit and vegetable country will mean the establishment of box and crate factories and canning factories to take care of the excess of fruits not shipped fresh.

HAVE HIGHEST RECOMMENDATION S. A. Davis, 627 Washington St., Connorsville, Ind., in his 54th year. He writes: "I have lately suffered much from my kidneys and bladder. I had severe backaches and my kidney action was too frequent, causing me to lose much sleep at night, and in my bladder there was constant pain. I took Foley Kidney Pills for some time and am now free of all trouble and again able to be up and around. Foley Kidney Pills have my highest recommendation."

Ore City believes in her future and her people want everyone in Texas to come to Ore City on the 12th of December and see for themselves the wonderful strides the town has made in the first few months of its existence.

A big barbecue and basket picnic will be held in the shady groves adjoining the town and the visitors will have the inner man amply looked after, and the brass band which meets you at the train will furnish music while you are satisfying your appetite and quenching your thirst from the nearby spring.

Every citizen of Texas interested in the welfare and material advancement of this great state should be sure to attend this celebration at Ore City, and see the nucleus of what seems certain to be the next great industrial movement of the entire southwest and one which promises to be far reaching in its beneficial effects.

Announcement Bridge.

Matrimonially speaking, of the past week was an intensely interesting one to society, indeed so swiftly has one announcement followed another this season that every one is in a constant state of pleasurable excitement as to "who next."

Of course, there are always interesting little rumors flying around, but Friday afternoon at Miss Arabelle Gibbons' bridge there was a genuine surprise in store for the guests in the announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Mable Jeanette Clapper and George A. Gibbons, Jr., which was made by the hostess in the most delightful and original manner.

To begin with, there were nine tables of players and the game was played in the midst of lovely blossoms, principally yellow, in the big living room, while in the adjoining rooms pink and red flowers were in evidence.

Tallies in the form of enlarged question marks hinted of something out of the ordinary, but no mention was made of the interesting bit of news until the beginning of the first game. when at each table the guest holding an ace of hearts suddenly discovered something unusual in its appearance, then like a wave of electricity the announcement spread from table to table until the whole room was in a flutter. Upon each ace appeared a tiny Cupid, while through the ace was an arrow and the side the name of the young people and the date of the wedding, January 31, 1912.

About sixteen additional guests joined the players after the game when a salad and ice course was served and the souvenirs awarded. Mrs. C. H. Markham winning the highest score, and receiving a silver filigree vase and Miss Agnes Carter the consolation, a vase of similar design.

Miss Clapper is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Clapper, recently of Lafayette, Ind., but now residents of Houston, and has already become a favorite in the younger set, while Mr. Gibbons is the son of Mrs. G. A. Gibbons and prominently identified with the business and social life of the city. The wedding in January will be among the notable events of the New Year.

Mr. Gibbons will be remembered as the genial "best man" at the Collins-Sprong nuptials last year.

Prospects for next year's sugar crops are bright.

RAMSEY GIVES PLATFORM OUT TO THE PUBLIC

Is Opposed to the Policy of Legislative Rest. The Wrongs and How to Remedy Them.

In the Sunday papers Judge Ramsey gave to the public the platform on which he will make the race for governor before the Democratic primary next year. It was all that his most ardent admirers could have wished for—a paper of high character setting forth clearly his views upon public questions and free from demagogic plauditude. There was no sop to any clan or class, but a platform if carried into execution will be good for the whole state.

He comes out clearly against the policy of "legislative rest"—the meaningless slogan of the present governor. He claims, and correctly so, that if we have faulty laws, that it will take legislative action to correct them; and that if we are in need of other laws they should be enacted. In this respect he says:

"I recognize that the government cannot do all for our people that their destiny lies largely in their own hands, and that people and lessons of religion, honesty, courage, truthfulness and fidelity must be taught in the church, in the schools and above all, at the fireside. But just laws enacted in a spirit of fairness, justly and fairly enforced, can aid much to promote the interest of society and achieve the well being of our citizenship. I am not one of those who believe that there remains nothing to be done for the people of Texas except to fill the office and spend the money collected from the people in taxes.

"I am unalterable opposed to a policy of mere negation and to Legislative paralysis and Governmental inactivity. "It would be as idle even if it could be truly stated that we have many foolish and faulty laws to sit down in helpless despair and feebleness and say that we decline to do anything, as it would be for the farmer to abandon his crop and turn out his field, because it was overgrown with weeds and poisoned with brambles and briars."

In brief Judge Ramsey favors:

1. Adherence to party platforms.
2. Opposed to unlimited use of money in elections, and in favor of further restrictions thrown around the ballot to protect it.
3. A stricter rule in relation to the payment of poll taxes.
4. Laws for the protection of labor, among them and employers compensation act.
5. Change in the court procedure.
6. Favors the resubmission of the prohibition amendment.
7. The regulation of the liquor traffic, removal of the saloons from the residence sections of the cities, limiting their number, increasing the tax, daylight closing law, the unbroken package law, prevent drinking on premises where sold.
8. In favor of nominations by majority vote.
9. A liberal policy toward our schools.
10. The encouragement of agriculture.
11. In favor of the initiative and referendum and restricted use of the recall.
12. To encourage irrigation and conservation of our natural resources.
13. Highest development of the Confederate Home.
14. Good roads.
15. The employment of as many of the State convicts as possible within the walls of the penitentiaries.
16. The encouragement of capital by just and wise laws.
17. Enforcement of all criminal laws.
18. Opposed to the combination of license, lucre and liquor.
19. Given above.
20. Opposed to political proscriptio.—Wills Point Chronicle

When Her Back Aches

A Woman Finds All Her Energy and Ambition Slipping Away.

Jefferson women know how the aches and pains that come when the kidneys fail make life a torture. Backache, hip pains, headaches, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles, all tell of sick kidneys and warn you of the stealthy approach of Dropsy of Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only. They attack kidney diseases by striking at the cause.

Can Jefferson sufferers desire stronger proof than this woman's word? Mrs. E. M. Rogers, 407 Lake St. Marshall, Texas, says: "Words but feebly express my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills. About six months ago I had pains in the small of my back that robbed me of my rest. I felt tired and weary, lacked ambition and was all run down. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, I resolved to try them and procured a supply. I received good results from the first and after I had used the contents of several boxes, I was cured. I can now attend to my household duties without the slightest inconvenience and am in excellent health."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
