A Beauty.

The little stove C. B. Welhausen is offering as a prize to the little girl getting the most coupons out of the GAZETTE is a beauty and is on exhibition in the front of his store. The interest in the contest is growing, and the little girls are rustling coupons with all their might. Mr. Welhausen informs us that only coupons cut out of bona fide copies of the GAZETTE will be accepted.

A Fair.

Madame St. Francis, Mother Superior of the Incarnate Word Academy, is arranging for a fair and exhibition at the convent building a few days before Christmas. The exhibition will be conducted by the sisters and pupils of the school. Madame St. Francis requests us to ask the ladies of Shiner to assist her in any way they may see fit. In the fair they could render valuable assistance. It is for a worthy cause—to go towards paying off the debt on the convent building. About $100 was added to this debt by the wind storm last summer. The attendance at the school, is at present, about 65. The dengue epidemic has kept many away. The program for the exhibition will be printed in this paper in a few weeks.

Good Samaritans.

A case which clearly illustrates the goodness and generosity of the people of Shiner is that of Charles Joullin, the young man who was so badly injured by being thrown from a freight train here two or three months ago. When picked up Joullin did not have a cent of money, and with his thigh broken was perfectly helpless. This did not make any difference, however, to the good people who took him in charge. He was a man in distress and that was enough. He was taken to the City Hotel, a room set aside for him, his broken thigh set and every means taken to make him as comfortable and cheerful as possible. A subscription list was circulated for his benefit and nearly every one in town gave something for him.

Some time ago Will Mewes had Joullin removed to his room at Flato & Green's lumber yard and he is there now. Mr. Mewes gives him the best of attention, and his meals are sent to him by Mrs. Sarah Hughes, whose many acts of goodness to the sick and afflicted are well known. Joullin's parents live in Alabama and have sent him means to go home on. He has written for a brother to come and go home with him as he will have to make the trip on a cot. He has made several attempts to stand up but can not as yet. Although a perfect stranger and penniless he has been treated just as well here as though he was at home surrounded by his friends and relations. This surely speaks well for Shiner.

Mrs. Mary Mathias and children who were here visiting the family of Steve Holchak, left for home Monday.

Emil Lockman is in Moulton this week attending his uncle's furniture store.

The Lost Found.

Thursday of last week, Frank Darislek, a farmer living near Henkhaus' store at the Sheep Ranch came to town in a wagon drawn by a pair of mules. His little boy, about six or seven years old was along. About dark, Darislek started home, and the mules having been tied up all day were anxious to get home and started to run. Darislek fell out of the wagon and the reins went with him, so the little boy could not stop the team. They ran to Green's school house, and turning around came back to town. Meanwhile, Darislek had got back to town and reported his mishap, so the team passed through town without his knowing it. The mules made their way to Ferd Morris' where the little boy aroused Mr. Morris and managed to tell his story. He was taken in and the mules put in the stable. Meanwhile, Darislek was scouring the country in search of the outfit, and not finding it, reported that the team and boy had left the country. The next morning, Morris took the little boy home, and there was a general rejoicing in the Darislek household.

Postmaster Seydler has had the new post office building papered and newly painted, and it will be the nicest post office in this part of the state when it is completed. As soon as Dick moves in, we suggest that he invite the Schulenburg postmaster to come down and look at it. We think if he would pattern after it the sticker would let up on him.

Fritz Koether buried his seven months old baby boy last Wednesday. The disease was flux.

DER VORSTAND.

D. G. Helmers spent a couple of days in Flatonis last week.

Ben Welhausen some time ago became half owner of Griffith's meat market. The firm now reads Griffith & Welhausen.

Mrs. John Lattimer of Flatonis, came down Friday on a visit to the family of Dave Hughes.

Ed. Wehman returned Friday from a two weeks' visit to Berclair and Beeville.

A fine boy arrived at the home of Henry Janssen, our shoemaker, Monday night.

John Othold made the necessary bond last Thursday and was released from jail. He arrived in Shiner the same evening and is stopping with his wife and children.

It is rumored that 20,000 head of beef cattle will leave southwest Texas this week and next for the northern markets. They began moving Monday when three trains went north. Three went yesterday and three more today. This will continue until the cattle are all shipped.

A nice little sum was cleared by the fire company through Captain Thomas' Surprise Company's benefit performances last week at the opera house. The writer regrets that owing to ill health he was unable to attend the performances, which were reported to be first-class. Their engagement closed Thursday night.
