PERSONAL NOTES.

G. M. Jowers of Buffalo is in the city.

J. M. Daniel of Georgetown is here today.

Judge John M. Duncan of Tyler is in the city.

Congressman Gregg has returned to Washington.

Posey Smith returned to his post of duty at Tyler today.

Mrs. Jeff Reagan and children have returned to Dallas.

W. H. Porter, now with the Cotton Belt, spent the holidays with his family here, returning to Tyler this morning.

P. F. Gwynne and wife left this morning for Fort Worth, where Mr. Gwynne has accepted a position. He has been book-keeper for the Davidson-Pearson Grocery Company, and is a young man of splendid ability.

Start the New Year right. Bring me your grocery order tomorrow. That would be a most sensible step, and in the right direction. I want your trade, and in exchange for the favor will give you the best of bargains in first-class goods. A trial is all I ask.

J. S. TEMPLE,
The Grocer.

New Year Events.

The Y. M. C. A. has kept open house today to its friends, the reception being under the auspices of the ladies' auxiliary. They will also receive tonight.

Mrs. G. E. Dilley received her friends at her home on South Sycamore street.

The members of the Congregational and the Christian churches both held watch services last night, and saw 1904 come in peaceably.

Major Brashers entertained a party of young friends at his home last night, and watched for the New Year.

A balloon was sent up about 7:20 o'clock, causing a great many to warp their rubber.

New Year greetings were sent out very generally and exchanged with the glad hand more freely.

The business houses closed up at noon, and the clerks and bosses are all at home now writing out their New Year resolutions—may be.

The New Year came in as quiet as a lamb last night. The reason was it is leap year, and behaved like a lady.

The old year is not entirely dead. All of December's bills have got to be paid yet.

This being leap year, there should not be a bachelor left to tell the tale by 1905.

AID FROM ROCKEFELLER.

Oil King Paid Off Mortgage on Farm of Boyhood Playmate.

John D. Rockefeller has paid off the mortgage on the little Nebraska farm of Charles Austin, a boyhood friend, whom he has not seen for many years, says a Sioux City (Ia.) dispatch.

Mr. Austin lives near Dakota City on a little place on which was a mortgage of several hundred dollars. The fruit crop by which he lived has been a failure for two years, and he was in hard straits. As a boy he was a playmate of Rockefeller, but as young men they drifted apart, and when Austin learned of the financial standing of his old friend he wrote him a letter of congratulation. Since then they have exchanged one or two letters annually.

Several years ago Mr. Rockefeller's friendship was the means of giving positions to Austin's two sons in the Standard Oil employ at Sioux City. This year Mr. Rockefeller, learning of Austin's misfortunes, paid the mortgage. Mr. Austin says he knew nothing of it till notified by the recorder's office that it had been paid.

Novel Jungle Fashion.

According to the Electrical World, telegraph wire belts have recently been added to the costume of fashionable east African belles. The telegraph authorities discovered the new fashion. They found great difficulty in maintaining lines through the forests. One of their society reporters, technically known as a lineman, while "covering" a native lawn fete in the jungle noted the new fashion and upon questioning some of the social leaders was informed that it was the custom for the young men to present their partners with these belts as trophies. Now the company has made the tribal chiefs responsible for the telegraph lines in their territory, and the young chiefs have to buy the belts at so much per pound.
