Trouble That Brought About Tragedy Due to Money Matters.

New Braunfels, Tex., Aug. 4.—As the outcome of a disagreement over money matters Marvin E. Gwinn is dead and Felix Klappenbach, both leading citizens, under $3500 bond. The tragedy occurred at the Klappenbach residence which is occupied by two families. It is supposed the two men met in the narrow hallway upstairs, both armed. Klappenbach fired five shots, four taking effect. The first two were fired from a shotgun, No. 8 birdshot taking effect in his right shoulder, face and back. The other two shots were fired from a pistol, one entering his left breast, ranging upward, coming out at the side of his neck, the other shot taking effect in his left side and coming out at his breast on a line with the nipples. Parties first arriving on the scene of the shooting found Gwinn lying in a pool of blood on his back in the hallway, dead. His pistol was found lying by his side, but had not been fired.

RUN ASHORE.

Nippon So Badly Shelled That This Action Was Necessary.

San Francisco, Aug. 4.—Advises have been received here by the steamer Sibberia, just arrived from the orient that the former Toko Kisen Kaisha liner Nippon was so badly damaged by shells of Russian warships during the battle in the Sea of Japan that it was found necessary to run the vessel ashore to save her from being a total loss. She was one of Admiral Togo's scouting vessels and first discovered Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet on the morning of the great naval battle.
