Had Narrow Escape.

Julius Goldberg reports a very narrow escape from being run down by a switch engine and cars at the Sycamore street crossing last night. He was going home in his buggy, and was being driven by a negro porter, when they approached the crossing. It was a very dark night and just as they got on the crossing the rear end of a Pullman car loomed up right against them. Mr. Goldberg jumped and the buggy cleared the track just in the ace of time. Mr. Goldberg says all that saved him was the fact that the car was moving very slowly. He is today a very strong advocate of better lights at this crossing or gates or some other precaution that will make it less risky to traffic.

Joe Sartain Dead.

Joe Sartain, one of Troupe's former citizens and a man universally liked by all who knew him, died at Palestine Wednesday night Nov. 1st. His remains arrived on Thursday morning's train and were buried that afternoon in the City Cemetery.

Mr. Sartain was a consistent Knight of Pythias and was buried under the auspices of Cascade Lodge No. 96 of Troupe.

Deceased was only 37 years of age, and in his untimely demise the country loses a most excellent citizen. Banner extends its sympathy to the bereaved family in this sad affliction—Troupe Banner.

Killed a Pellican.

A phone message from the pumping station of the water works company says a large pellican was killed out there this morning by the pumper. A flock of six of them lit on the lake, and one of them was killed. He measured eight feet from tip to tip, and is a fine specimen. No doubt he will be stuffed.

Since the above notice was made, Ed Hudson phones us that he has seen the bird and that it is a beauty. It weighs sixty pounds and has a beautiful coat. It will be brought to the city, and can be seen at Harris' lunch counter this afternoon.

Home Missionary.

"I am not a pessimist but a most discouraged optimist," says Mrs. Geo. Sexton, in speaking of the great tide of immigrants pouring into Galveston—1000 in the month of September. We, who live in Galveston on the picket line as it were, are becoming alive to its terrible import, and are praying that united protestantism may fortify herself before it is too late. The Baptists have one lady missionary to meet every ship which arrives, and Methodism has one deaconess. Galveston has 35,000 inhabitants. Of that number only 5000 are protestants. Two missionary Sunday schools and a kindergarden, under the supervision of no denominations, are the only agencies which are being used to reach our cosmopolitan population. The church is beginning to look upon Galveston as a strategic point, to be held against all odds as a basis of future missionary work. Come down to Galveston and help us. **

Lady Maccabees.

Mary V. Reid Hive No. 24 will have a called meeting Monday, November 6th, promptly at 3 o'clock in the old Herald office, for the purpose of transacting any necessary business. All members urged to be present to meet our state commander, Mrs. Laura B. Hart. Mrs. FLEET, Cor. Secretary.

San Antonio Fair.

There has a Southern Fair had so varied and interesting attractions as will be seen at the San Antonio International Fair, which opens Nov. 18th and 29th. On the Midway or Pike there will alone be half a hundred shows, not to mention the sensational spectacle of a collision between two 80 ton passenger locomotives on the afternoon of Nov. 26th. There is to be a daily flight by the Carl Meyers Air Ship, which is being brought to San Antonio at a great expense, as is also the Igorrote Village of 75 inhabitants, depicting life in the far away Philippines.

All prominent railways throughout the State agree that it is a physical impossibility to explode the boilers of engines in a collision where the locomotives are running light, or in other words without a string of cars following them. The engines to collide at the San Antonio Fair will have no cars behind them, and in addition to this steam plugs will be inserted in the boilers in order to make doubly sure there will be no explosion. Every precaution possible will be taken for the safety of the spectators.
