There are three ways of dressing—good, bad and indifferent.

It all depends on the price you pay, your own ideas, and the tailors who do the work.

$25 to $35 is a lot of money for bad or indifferent clothes, but placed in the hands of the right tailor it means a suit that is good.

If your inclination runs to that amount we would like to do you the good service of taking your measure.

500 patterns of high grade fabrics to select from.

FOUR TICKETS IN COLORADO POLITICS

THE INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE IS POPULAR.—SOCIALIST CANDIDATE IS IN PRISON.

Special to the Herald.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 12.—The most spectacular political campaign ever waged in Colorado is now at its height. Ring rule and the domination of corporation in politics are the chief issues, though there are other questions figuring in to add spice to the campaign.

The fireworks of the campaign and the thing which has tended most to raise it above the ordinary level of political contests in popular interest is the candidacy of Judge Ben B. Lindsey for the governorship on an independent ticket. Judge Lindsey is pretty well known throughout the country as the author of the Juvenile Court law in Colorado, which has formed the model for similar legislation in twenty-four states. He is a foe of ring rule and talks as freely of corruption in his own Democratic party as in the opposition party. Judge Lindsey desired the Democratic nomination for governor if he could secure it without giving any pledges or promises. When it became apparent that Senator Patterson and his followers were to control the state convention Judge Lindsey refused to allow his name to go before that body.

As the campaign has progressed it has become evident that the independent voters are rallying to the Lindsey standard in great number. Lindsey is making his campaign practically without money. He has no organization and has refused to accept a single dollar of corruption money. If elected Judge Lindsey will go before the legislature with a demand for the enactment of a primary election law, which will take party machinery out of the hands of corporation bosses, and run Colorado of corporation control. He will also ask for other important legislation affecting the judiciary of the state.

The Republicans experienced much difficulty in making up their state ticket. The names of half a dozen party leaders were mentioned in connection with the gubernatorial nomination before the convention met, but no one of them was desirous of entering the contest under existing conditions. Finally, when the convention met, the nomination went to Philip B. Stewart, a Colorado Springs lawyer. But Mr. Stewart declined to make the race unless William H. Gabbert, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, who is running for re-election, withdrew from the ticket. The objection to Judge Gabbert was based on the allegation that he favors corporations. After Mr. Stewart's declination the Republicans finally induced Dr. Henry A. Buchtel, chancellor of the University of Denver, to accept the nomination.

Alva Adams, the Democratic candidate, is one of the most widely known men in Colorado politics. After having filled two terms in the governor's chair he was a candidate again two years ago. On that occasion he claimed to have defeated Jas. H. Peabody, Republican. In the contest that ensued the Supreme Court unseated a sufficient number of Democrats in the senate to give the Republicans control of that body. The senate then declared Peabody re-elected. It is as a result of this turn of affairs that Adams seeks a vindication this year. As a matter of fact, however, Adams was desirous of having a try for the senatorship, but Senator Thomas M. Patterson, owner of two Denver newspapers and virtually the Democratic state boss, could not see it that way. He practically forced Adams to accept the gubernatorial nomination and then had a plank inserted in the party platform that effectually puts Adams out of the running in the senatorial contest.

The effect of the Socialistic campaign, with William D. Haywood at the head of the ticket, is problematical. The Socialists do not expect to elect their candidates, but they will draw votes from both the old parties. They will have the strong backing of the Western Federation of Miners and of the labor organizations in general.

Candidates For Governor.

Republican—Rev. Henry A. Buchtel, a Methodist clergyman, formerly a missionary in Bulgaria and now chancellor of the University of Denver.

Democratic—Alva Adams, twice governor, and three times previously the party nominee.

Independent—Ben B. Lindsey, popularly known as "the kids' judge," because he framed the Juvenile Court law and is judge of that court.

Socialist—William D. Haywood, secretary of the Western Federation of Miners, now confined in the Idaho state penitentiary charged with the murder of ex-Governor Steunenberg of that state.
