IN FINE SHAPE.

Mayor Bowers took occasion to say at the council meeting last night that Palestine financially is in better shape than it has been in many years; was decidedly in better shape than at any time since he was made mayor. He said the city was nearer even with all its obligations, and was taking better care of its debts than ever before. As an instance, he stated as a fact that the last of the refunding notes, handed down to his administration by former administrations, had been paid, amounting to thousands of dollars; that the bonds on all the school houses, except the ones just built, the payment for which has been provided for, are either paid, or would be immediately paid from funds now on hand, and which will be used for that purpose by resolution adopted by the city council.

This is indeed a good showing, and one for which Palestine citizens should feel proud.

It is very satisfactory to know that you live in a city that is promptly taking care of its obligations, and which has no trouble in placing any bonds it may issue for any purpose. A city's credit should be as jealously guarded as should be the credit of an individual. And the way to do that is to promptly meet obligations as they come due.

How would a great cotton mill strike you? That is what is offered Palestine now. Surely things are coming this way.

The dirt is flying—not on the inter-urban, but in the air.

Politically, this old town is as quiet as a lamb. What a nice thing it would be to pull off a real decent city campaign, shorn of all its bitterness, hurrah and wrangle.

Many a bill on which much time has been spent in the legislature is hung up on "suspension" day, to be assassinated in the wind-up. And this is considered smooth politics by some of the legislators.

"The thing that surprises me most," says a school teacher, "is that most adults can not tell instinctively the right hand from the left." And a thing that surprises a great many people, is how many people there are who can not tell right from wrong, even when they meet it in the broad path of duty.

If Palestine can only take care of the things that are coming her way! An interurban railroad from Palestine to Corsicana; a railroad from Paris to the Gulf, via Palestine; a railroad from Palestine to Waco; the State railroad from Rusk to Palestine; a hundred thousand dollar bank; a hundred and fifty thousand dollar cotton mill; a Baptist college. Look at them! Count them! How many do we get?

The San Antonio Express says the trouble with some of the legislators is they think the country editor is the man who should be cut off from a free railroad pass because the country editor has greatly offended some of the legislators. But the truth of the matter is, but few country editors ever travel on a free pass. Some of them are able to make advertising contracts with railroads, taking railroad mileage in pay for it. And this some legislators want to have discontinued.

NOT POLITICALLY.

There seems to be no doubt that Governor Campbell is a sort of Theodore Roosevelt in the Imperial State of Texas, if his influence with the legislature is considered.—San Antonio Express.

ENTHUSIASM FOR RAILROADS.

Speaking of railroads, and the enthusiasm of the people for them, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch says:

The people of St. Louis are in favor of railroads. They want more railroads. They are enthusiastically in favor of more railroads.

So are the people of Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Tennessee, Texas and many other States on the map whose public sentiment can be accurately defined from the St. Louis standpoint.

This enthusiasm is of long standing. It is set, obstinate, determined. It began to show itself between 1840 and 1850, rising then to its high keys; and in spite of ing ever since. Nothing is more popular in St. Louis or in any part of this country in a radius of 500 miles of St. Louis than a new railroad.

Suppose, for instance, that Mr. B. F. Yoakum of the Frisco-Rock Island system, who thinks the railroads are going to prosper in "spite of the unfortunate hostility to railroads," should wish to put down a hundred or five hundred or a thousand miles of new track in Missouri, Kansas, Texas or any other territory he might select for actual track, would he find hostility?

He knows and we all know what he would find. He would find them ready to use the supreme power of the State, its power of eminent domain to help the work. He would find them throwing up their hats for it, advertising it, "bragging" on it, making the most of it in every possible way.

Of course! Touch the button for more actual railroads with actual steel rails for actual trains to run over, and the enthusiasm will do the rest. That is, it will do all except issuing "securities" by the hundred million for the traffic to bear, with no real rails under them.

But that is not railroad business. That is another story.

THIS IS MY 49th BIRTHDAY.

Adolph S. Ochs. Adolph S. Ochs, who, while still under 50 years of age, has attained rank among America's foremost newspaper publishers, was born in Cincinnati, March 12, 1858. His parents had emigrated to the United States from Germany. While a young boy Adolph removed with his parents to Knoxville, Tenn., and it was in that city that he received his public school education and began his career. From the time he left school until he reached manhood he was in turn a newsboy, a clerk in a grocery store, a druggist apprentice and a printer. During the most of this time he was attending night school in order that he might become better educated. At an age when most young men are just beginning to figure on their future calling young Ochs became publisher of the Chattanooga Times, which was his first newspaper venture, and of which he is still the proprietor. A year later he established a trade publication, which was a financial success from the start and out of which he made enough money to acquire a controlling interest in one of the great metropolitan dailies in New York. Not yet satisfied with the extent of his field of operations, Mr. Ochs a few years later bought two of Philadelphia's leading newspapers, and is today, at

Marks of Distinction

What the Victoria Cross is to the British soldiers, the "Triangle A" is to cigars—the mark of highest merit.

Only soldiers of proven merit wear the cross.

Only the best cigars on earth bear the "A" (Triangle A).

You record an emphatic protest against low-quality high-profit cigars every time you demand the "Triangle A" brands.

*When you buy cigars
get your money's worth and be sure of it!*

Choose your cigars from boxes bearing the "Triangle A" mark of merit—then you know you're getting greater value than your money can buy any other way.

The "Triangle A" identifies the product of the American Cigar Company—the only complete organization with the only "stemmeries" equipment for scientifically developing the ripest fragrance of the best tobacco, for making a smooth, uniform blend, and for delivering the cigars to you in their best smoking condition.

The "Triangle A" on a cigar box guarantees full value, cleanliness, and unvarying quality.

The New CREMO

represents the best quality that can be produced and sold for five cents—it proves every claim we make for cigars sold under the "Triangle A."

Every box is extra-wrapped in glassine paper, sealed at each end with the "Triangle A" in red, to maintain perfect smoking condition and cleanliness until the box is opened.

OLD HICKORY CHIPS.

(By our Wise Man.)

Harry Thaw might have a few alienists make a critical examination of Jerome.

Senator Bailey makes a noise a great deal like a man who has had a narrow escape.

They do say Paris eats 40,000 horses a year. No wonder there are so many horseless carriages there.

"Insanity," says a Chicago editor, "is a disease like pneumonia or typhoid fever." Boil your brain food.

When you see a picture of a girl in a large hat, it's a thousand chances to one that the girl is Evelyn Thaw.

What the czar needs for the new duma is not the threat of bayonets, but the election of a Speaker Cannon.

Ambassador Bryce remarks, "I was touched when I landed in New York." But he doesn't tell us for how much.

The doubling of Caruso's salary may have the unfortunate effect of encouraging some more monkey business.

Speaking of a two-billion dollar congress, the poor foreigners who pay the tax, as our Republican friends say, must be considering emigration to America.

Money is popularly supposed to do some loud talking, but the $173,000 that disappeared from the Chicago sub-treasury must make its wants known by signs.

A Western financier is sure that "the people and the railroads are coming together." But the people would like it better if fewer of the railroad trains were coming together.

"I don't claim to be versed in the wisdom of politics," remarked Governor Hughes recently. He will find plenty of men in New York who think they can teach him a thing or two before his term is ended.

Twenty-five years ago the capital invested in cotton mills in South Carolina was less than $3,000,000; now, ac-ording to Wm. E. Curtis' research, the aggregate investment is $82,337,000. A few years ago, it was the New South, now it is the "Busy South."

Surgeons now declare that the attempt to cure evil dispositions by removing pressure from the brain has proved a failure. The only success in that line was achieved by the old-time operation which removed the head itself.

The prediction that this will be a windy March need not fail of fulfillment because congress has adjourned. A good many statesmen who have little to say on the floor of either house jump a good deal of atmosphere between sessions.

A woman who is expected to praise her neighbor's hat must feel like the man who is called upon to ask the blessing at the table right after cutting a gash in his thumb with the can opener.

"The equality of the States is dearer probably to New England than to any other section of the country. Abolish State lines, and New England would make only one senatorial district," says the Louisville Post. Well, that would still be satisfactory to Senator Lodge and the president, as Lodge would remain "it."

POSTMISTRESS INDICTED.

Wept Bitterly When Arraigned in Federal Court at Tyler.

Tyler, Texas, March 11.—Deputy United States Marshal Spradley brought a young lady before Commissioner Butler here Saturday on a warrant issued from a grand jury indictment. The young lady is postmistress of a country town. The indictment is based on alleged false reports to the government. The accused wept like a child, notwithstanding that Commissioner Butler assured her that the officers of the court would extend to her every courtesy consistent with their official obligation. Her bond was fixed at $250. Every citizen in her neighborhood was willing to sign her bond.
