The Herald would like to borrow a couple of million dollars so that it can pay back the dime some of the local tight wads have not given to the railroad fund.

Today is shop and trainmen pay day in this good old town, and a big roll of C. O. D. has been disbursed. As a result the business men of the city have been very busy.

Anderson county should not lose an opportunity to exhibit her tobacco products wherever the opportunity offers. It is the best tobacco grown on the continent, and can be grown here to great profit. Smoke up.

The big contest, mention of which was made in yesterday's daily edition, is a Weekly Herald proposition, and only ladies living outside of the city can enter as contestants. The voting coupons will only appear in the weekly paper. The notice as it appeared in yesterday's daily was misleading, hence this explanation.

We had intended to write a beautiful sentiment on the passing of the watermelon for today's paper, but just about the time we got our type writer rubbed up a practical fellow drove up in front of our office with a load of melons, each one as big as a barrel, and yelled "watermelons." What can you write in the face of such evidence?

Truck farming has paid well everywhere it has been tried in Texas this year. It most generally pays when intelligently pursued. There's mighty good living in it, too. In connection with raising good cows, hogs and chickens, truck farming comes in powerful handy, and all these things together beat the average gold mine. They beat that Pass-Me-By mine clean to Colorado and back home, it matters not where you live.—Austin Statesman.

Strange, but the candidate who is to try issues with Governor Campbell has not put himself in evidence as yet. Really, if Campbell has done half the ruinous things to Texas that his political opponents and the disgruntled ones who were his friends have charged, he ought not to be given the governorship the second time without a protest on the part of somebody. Has that crowd not a fittin' man to put up against him? Or, are they without the courage of their convictions?—Austin Statesman.

From all appearances the striking telegraphers have lost their fight, and the companies seem to have won out with only a limited amount of inconvenience. Evidently the operators were in no position to conduct a campaign. They were not trustful of the heads of the union, and did not have the funds necessary to carry on the fight. Naturally the companies feel puffed up, and will likely continue to give the operators a very small slice while taking a very large one from the public.

Anderson county needs nothing so much as it needs more population. There are hundreds of acres of good, fertile soil in this county that should be making an income for some good family. On the other hand there are thousands of people in this country who need such homes as we can offer them. There should be some way of bringing such people here. No county in the state can offer better opportunities to the man who desires to engage in the truck business. All is needed is intelligent work.

A few people think it is a sign of smartness to say they never read the ads in a newspaper. But it shows anything but smartness. The fact is that the very smartest people, people who know the value of their money, and who have kept up with the times and know that advertising is a business whereby the merchant tells the buyer what he has and at what price, read the ads, and in doing so profit materially. If you have not the habit of reading the ads in your local paper, you are missing an opportunity that is presented every day. An illustration of the value of advertising, and how much the public depend on advertising was furnished the other day by one of the big department stores of a neighboring city. The junior partner in the firm decided that the advertising bills of the house were too heavy, and after much persuasion obtained the consent of the older and more experienced member of the firm to try the experiment of cutting out the Sunday ads. Monday morning came with its usual big special sales, and store was full of people as usual. The clerks called for additional help, and the junior partner felt puffed up. But when night came on and the sales were checked up there was a surprise in store. The sales were way short of previous Monday records, notwithstanding as many people had been to the store, and the clerks had been as busy. The heads of departments were called in for explanations, and they all gave the same report. They said that when the ads had appeared most people came into the store knowing exactly what they wanted to buy, and knowing what it was going to cost them. Without the ad to guide them the crowds came and ran pell mell over things looking out bargains. If you do not read the ads you could do so with profit. If you do not advertise you could do so with profit also.

Cross Ties Were Burned.

Several thousand cross ties burned near Kilgore yesterday, causing Nos. 7 and 5 to be delayed about twelve hours. The delayed train went out about 8 a. m. this morning, proceeding west.

The ties burned are a very serious financial loss to the road. They were stacked near the track for loading, and the fire was such a hot one the trains could not pass.

MEXICAN NATIONAL HOLIDAY TOMORROW

Special to the Herald.

City of Mexico, Sept. 14.—The streets of the capital are elaborately decorated in anticipation of the annual holidays. Tomorrow President Diaz will be seventy-seven years old, and the anniversary will be observed with the customary festivities throughout the republic. The president will hold the usual state reception and in the evening the time-honored custom of repeating the Grito of Hidalgo will be repeated. This ceremony will usher in the celebration of Mexican Independence Day, which falls on Monday. On that day the president will review the military parade, and at 6 o'clock in the evening will formally open congress and read his semi-annual message.

Hello! Hello!

One long ring to the readers of the Palestine Herald. Did you all ever give it a thought that this paper is one of the leading papers of the day, and gives better news than any other one, and can be found in your yard every evening, so as to learn what is going on in the city, and tell about the greasy man. Well, that is all right. Don't forget to ring 811 when you want baggage hauled quickly and promptly. Call for M. C. Williams' wagons. He will ever try and treat you nice, and with all due respect. When you don't feel like looking for a wagon after arriving on the trains just carry your checks home and be content, and after you have rested just ring 811 to call at said street and number for checks, please. 8-11-1m

IN THE LABOR WORLD

October 4 has been set by the Bookbinders' International Union as the date when an eight-hour day shall go into effect.

The Panama Canal authorities have discontinued hiring labor abroad, and 42,000 men are now at work, this being sufficient for the present.

Woodsmen and sawmill workers held a well-attended convention on Labor day at Eureka, Cal.

The international convention of Steamfitters and Helpers will be held in Detroit next year.

The International Spinners' Union, which is affiliated with the United Textile Workers of America and the American Federation of Labor, held its seventeenth annual convention in Boston this week.

Gratifying gains in membership were reported by the officers of the Vermont State Federation of Labor at the annual convention of the organization held recently in Burlington.

Nearly 200 iron moulders struck at Evansville the other day because of an order issued at the five stove foundries prohibiting the drinking of beer on the premises during the noon hour.

The success of the Missouri State Federation of Labor in the matter of obtaining the enactment of a number of laws in the interest of organized labor has attracted a great deal of attention in the East.

Machinists and other workers in the railroad shops of the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific and the Milwaukee railroads are to be granted the nine-hour day, for which the men have been fighting for years, as a trial. About 2,200 machinists will be affected.

The National Federation of Post-office Clerks, in annual convention at Indianapolis last week, adopted resolutions favoring the placing of all postmasters and first assistants in the classified list of the civil service, an eight-hour day, one month's vacation annually, a pension and a maximum salary of $1,200.

The organization of employees on the railway lines of the United States dates from the organizing of the Brotherhood of the Footboard, at Detroit, Mich., May 8, 1863, by the locomotive engineers, which association is known as the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Other branches of the transportation service followed, from time to time, so that now each branch of the service is organized.

The court of appeals of New Zealand has finally declared that the great strike of the slaughterhouse men and their sympathizers is illegal. The

HONDURAS DECIDES TO MAKE A BIG CHANGE

Special to the Herald.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—The State Department has been advised by the provisional government of Honduras that tomorrow, the anniversary of the political independence of Central America, has been selected as the date upon which Honduras will return to a constitutional form of government, adopting the provisions of the constitution of 1894. An election will take place next month for a permanent president, and it is understood that the leading candidates are Gen. Davila, president of the provisional government, and Dionisio Gutierrez, formerly a member of the cabinet and long prominent in the political affairs of Honduras.

workingmen who have participated in it, the court holds, have violated the award of the court of arbitration and may be fined, and in case of non-payment of the fine may be imprisoned for a term not exceeding one year. This means that all the partakers in the slaughtermen's strike are liable to fine or imprisonment.

Abolition of tips is the latest flat issued by the American Federation of Labor. It is proposed to establish a wage scale for hotel and restaurant employees that will prohibit the acceptance of tips from patrons. The Federation of Labor asks the public to assist in this by withholding all tips from waiters, porters, bellboys and other help in public places. Every union man in the United States will be expected to obey this order.
