PRESBYTERIANS GATHER

In Atlantic City For 122nd General Assembly, Which Will Convene Tomorrow Morning.

(Herald Special.)
Atlantic City, N. J., May 18.—Commissioners and other visitors have been arriving in large number today for the 122nd session of the Presbyterian General Assembly, which will convene at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning in the auditorium on the Steel Pier. During the day a number of special trains arrived bringing the delegates from Chicago and the west. Ample arrangements have been completed for the entertainment of the 750 commissioners, and everything is in readiness for the moderator to call the gathering to order.

The leading features of the opening day will be the sermon of the retiring moderator, the Rev. James M. Barkley, D. D. of Detroit, and the election of his successor. Although many prominent ministers have been suggested for this honor, the Rev. Dr. George Alexander of New York City and the Rev. Dr. Mark Matthews of Seattle for some time have been looked upon as the leading candidates. Rev. Dr. Alexander is moderator of the New York Presbytery, and one of the foremost men in his denomination in the country. The Board of Foreign Missions is understood to be extremely favorable to the choice of Dr. Alexander. Rev. Dr. Matthews, whose name was presented at the last general assembly, is pastor of a Seattle church with a membership of more than 3,000, one of the largest in the west. Others whose names are more or less prominently mentioned in connection with the moderatorship are Dr. William L. McEwen of Pittsburg, Dr. Edgar P. Hill of Chicago, Dr. Robert McKenzie of New York City, and Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, the noted evangelist, who has lately returned from a world-wide tour.

A heresy attack is to come before the assembly this year, but nobody can be found who thinks the case will take a serious turn. It is to come before the assembly in the nature of a complaint against the action of the Synod of New York, which sustained the Presbytery of New York, in ordaining Alexander Black, a Union Theological Seminary student. The case has already had wide prominence. When Mr. Black and other student candidates applied for licensure a year ago, before the Presbytery of New York, their examinations were not sustained. A committee of the presbytery was appointed to confer with them, and upon the committee's favorable report the presbytery, by a majority vote, sustained the examinations of the candidates, thus virtually reversing the former action. The candidates were then licensed, a majority protesting and filing their objection in proper form. The charges are formidable against Mr. Black and his fellow students, but their defenders are powerful. Something may happen, but from present signs the protest against their ordination will have no very serious consequences.

The various reports prepared for presentation to the general assembly show that the financial affairs of the church are now in better shape than for many years. All of the mission boards are out of debt, all ahead of their appropriations, and none of them with any distracting burdens. One of the boards is no less than $40,000 ahead, while another has a balance of $22,000 on the right side of the ledger.

A CAR LOAD OF BABIES

Can Be Disposed of in the City of San Antonio and Southwest Texas. Other Notes of Interest.

(Herald Special.)
San Antonio, Texas, May 18.—If you have any spare babies, up to the number of thirty or thereabouts, send them to this city, but don't attach any string to their future status. The milk in the cocoa is that there are in this city thirty women who were promised a baby each by the New York Foundling and Orphan Asylum but who were disappointed because the babies never came. Ostensibly the wee ones did not appear on the scene because they were in great demand in the territory through which they passed, but there is said to have also been a contributory cause. The fact that the babies would only be given into Catholic homes created quite a little stir among would-be mothers of other denominations and is even said to have caused them to write to Governor Campbell protesting against this seemingly unjust discrimination. The state's executive looked into the matter and found that the babies would be well taken care of by local Catholics and for this reason saw no cause why he should interfere. Whether San Antonio got no babies on account of this action taken or whether it was simply a case of exhausted supply is hard to say at this time. At any rate the babies did not come and the crowd of women that met the train on which the babies were scheduled to arrive went home disappointed. Any one wishing to make up a carload of youngsters will have no difficulty in disposing of them in this city and Southwest Texas. But there should be some variety. Tow-heads and blue-eyes are the favorites.

Youngster Shows Great Grit.

(Herald Special.)
San Antonio, Texas, May 18.—Thirteen-year-old Milton Applewhite of this city is a good neighbor, incidentally he knows how to take care of burglars. Puzzled as to what a man should be doing in the residence of a next-door neighbor, he decided to await results and was ready for action when a few minutes afterwards an individual of doubtful appearance left the house with a large bundle under his arm. Milton surmised that the man was a burglar and asked him what he had in the bundle. To this the man made no reply other than to speed down the road. But the youngster proved equal to the occasion. Picking up the half of a brick he started after the man and soon gained on him. When less than ten feet behind the burglar the boy threw the brick with all his strength and succeeded in landing it neatly on the head of the pursued, causing him to fall to the ground in a groggy condition. Not waiting for further developments the thief took again to his heels as soon as he could, while the boy staggered home under the weight of the loot. As a reward for his act Milton was presented with a new suit by the neighbor.
