The Grandest Opening of All.

The grand opening of the Chickasha Milling Company yesterday was an opening to please everybody. Messrs. Sutton, Nichols and Munroe were busy welcoming the guests and showing them the process of making flour from time the wheat left the sixty thousand bushel elevator through all the elevators to the rolls, through cleaners, scalpers, scorers to the rolls and sifters, dusters and bolts and finally into the packers.

This was nearly all dumb show. The wheels were all going, the belts flying, and the great engine throbbing, but no wheat was running into the rolls. It was merely the first starting to test the machinery, and allow visitors to see the process. The casual observer could realize as much in seeing it thus as if in the actual operations of making flour.

There may be a timidity in starting such a vast amount of machinery as is found here, and well there may be, but in this case there were no changes to make, no stoppages, nor halts. Every wheel turned right, every belt and pulley was correct, and from the first revolution of the big engine in the early morning until 6 in the afternoon the great mill run as steady and smoothly as a watch.

The machinery is all new and of the very latest improved pattern, and with the knowledge of his business the miller, Mr. Nichol, assures us that no flour can be better than the Chickasha Mills can and will make.

The visitors were plenty and were highly pleased and the grand opening will prove a good drawing card for the mill and make Chickasha flour the demand of the ladies of the city.

The towns of Duncan and Rush Springs are kicking over the out line boundary as laid down by the Hinckley corps of surveyors, claiming the same as too small and too irregular. The newspapers are laying much faith in the Atoka agreement and inclined to rebel on the authority of the Hinckley surveyors.

working under a later law than the Atoka agreement, and as an amendment to the Curtis law, and the towns below us can rely implicitly on the fact or theory that the Curtis law is the sticking stuff and will prevail in the end. Boundaries may be small and irregular but the surveyors are following instruction and doing for the best in every case. Put your faith in the government.

The cowboy tournament at Granite has changed its date to September 20, 21 and 22.

One squad of surveyors is camped on Andrew Martinez's farm.

The congregation assembled at Red Cliff on the 19th inst. to hear Bro. Methven preach were surprised witnesses of an Indian wedding. The contracting parties were Miss Annie Jones and Mr. Tennyson Berry.

Mrs. A. C. Christolm with her two children from Ft. Smith, Ark., who have been visiting Mrs. H. V. Rose left for home last Thursday night. Mrs. Rose and Helen went as far as Chickasha with them returning Saturday morning.

Rev. and Mrs. S. V. Fatt are expected home this week. Their school will begin Sept. 17th.

Ethel Gray (daughter of A. S. Gray) is visiting Helen Rose this week.

Helen Rose has the distinction of being the first Indian killed.

The smallest baby ever born in the Territory is reported at the home of John Casey, near Ft. Gibson. It is eight inches in length, and a comon finger ring slips on its arm to the shoulder. At last report it was spry and lively and bade fair to live.

The above has been floating around this territory for a month or more. Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Armstrong of Chickasha have in their little two-year-old tot a baby that weighed only one-and-a-half pounds at birth. Baby lived and little Bess is now a two year-old and the brightest, cutest and sweetest baby in the world, so her mother says, and so say we all.

There's the remains of a fine woman about the Empress Dowager of China, to borrow language of Pold Sweetlepipe regarding Sairey Gamp.

Our esteemed contemporary at Comanche, I. T., is inclined to allow the townsite question to drag along and await the coming of the townsite commission, rather than plat their town at their own expense. That may do in the case of Comanche, but for a city that is forging ahead it is too slow. The townsite commission is too slow. To await that coming is to wait forever. Chickasha wants an immediate settlement, and to get it the quickest way is for the city to make its own plat.

In spite of its profusion of booze parlors Granite has always been a tame and well regulated town but Monday it broke loose with a record of five fights. A couple of minor or preliminaries then a big railroader called "Klondyke" got funny in the Dixie store. Deputy Cole tried to arrest him but lost his gun. Then Joe Mills hit him under the ear with the hard side of a six shooter. Another small scrap then the big thing came off when Wilson called Uncle Rock Douglas a hard name Uncle Rock had too much Tennessee blood and Granite booze in him to stand it and took a shot at him but fortunately for both his aim was poor and it only cost him $25.

Oh no, we don't need incorporation, a cooler and a city marshal. —Granite Enterprise.
