Chautauqua Literary and Social Club.

Met at their club room Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock. Meeting called to order by the president Miss Clara Miller.

The name of Mrs. R. H. Miller was presented for membership and she was unanimously elected a member of the circle.

Miss Clara Miller in a very neat little talk tendered her resignation as President, which was accepted with regret.

Nominations for president were Mrs. Hendrix; Mrs. Birge, Mrs. Cochran and Mrs. Johnson. Nominations withdrawn in favor of Mrs. Brown. Mrs. J. W. Brown was unanimously elected president for the ensuing year.

Roll call responded to by quotations from historians, poets, or men of affair, concerning the French Revolution.

Letter read from Mrs. Selwyn Douglass inviting the Circle to join the Federation clubs.

A committee was appointed to formulate some amendments to the constitution composed of Mrs. Cochran, Mrs. Robt. Johnson and Mrs. Rose.

The secretary was instructed to procure stationery for the Circle. The instructor for the afternoon Mrs. Geo. Fox required the answers to questions were:

Where is Paul Kruger?

What three great men have died in the last few days and what position did they hold in regard to our country?

Clara Barton was dangerously ill at Galveston, has she recovered?

Which one of the allied governments has gained the greatest diplomatic victory?

What control has the Secretary of the Interior over the Choctaw and Chickasaw schools?

Who was the Dowager Empress of China and how did she acquire her position?

Mrs. Robt. Johnson read a very interesting article in regard to the Federations of clubs written by Mrs. Selwyn Douglass.

Mrs. Fox very intelligently reviewed the history lesson including development of the revolutionary spirit under Louis XV.

Three very interesting and instructive papers were read by Mrs. J. W. Brown, subject, "the diamond necklace", Mrs. Robt. Johnson, "The wars of Louis XV and what France lost by them," and Mrs. Hendrix, "the life and history of La Fayette."

Mrs. Cochran assigned work for the following week.

Adjourned to meet at club room Wednesday, Nov. 7th.

An Automobile Trolley.

A French inventor has avoided one of the chief difficulties in the use of the trolley system for the propulsion of carriages not running on rails by making an automobile trolley which, while serving to connect the carriage with the overhead wires, is itself propelled by the electric current, under control of the driver of the carriage, so that it keeps step with the carriage and no strain is exerted upon the connecting wire. When connected with the wires in the ordinary way, a carriage that is free to move from side to side of the road drags its trolley after it, and in consequence the connection is frequently broken.—Youth's Companion.

Japs to the Rescue.

Japanese servants are the prevailing fad in society on the other side of the Atlantic. The Jap is regarded as "the Frenchman of the east," and is not only clean, but he refrains from gossip, possibly because his knowledge of the language does not admit of much chatter at present. When waiting he is allowed to wear his native dress, which always has the family crest embroidered on it, so that he not only adds picturesqueness but a distinct dignity to the family in which he condescends to serve. In time, no doubt, the idea will spread east, and may, perhaps, offer a solution to the ever-present and perplexing servant problem.—Malay Mail.
