BURTON A SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS MAN.

If you want the affairs of the city handled in a business-like manner, you should vote for J. B. Burton.

That Burton is a capable business man is proved by the successful manner in which he has handled his own affairs and he has declared, "If I am elected I promise to give the same kind of attention to the city's business that I do to my own and to devote all of my time to it." Burton meant exactly what he said when he made that promise and he can be depended upon to carry it out.

There has never been a town-building proposition that has not been supported by Burton's time and money. He has always responded to every call for money or work when the welfare of Chickasha demanded it. True, he has never made much noise about it but he has always been "there with the goods" when he was needed.

Burton has business and property interests in Chickasha and he is as deeply interested in the city's welfare as any man can be. As a property owner he is as much interested in a business administration of affairs as any man in the city and no man is better qualified than he to give us such an administration.

Measure him in any way you choose and Burton will not suffer by comparison with any man who has ever been offered as a mayoralty candidate. His business ability is unquestioned—he has proved it by his own achievements; his loyalty to Chickasha and interest in her welfare have likewise been proved; he is worthy of the highest honor in the city and that he will fill the office with distinction to himself and to the satisfaction of the voters cannot be doubted for a moment.

Make Tuesday a banner day for democracy.

Score again for the Irish. It took Justice O'Gorman to break the senatorial deadlock in New York.

No, it isn't a noisy campaign. Every democrat has made up his mind to stand by the nominee and that settles it.

We want "larger crops" and if the special train which the Rock Island is to send out next week will help to bring them, we should give it a rousing welcome.

If Henry Johnson can be induced to enter the greatest cattle contest in the world, we ought to get behind him and make him do it. Grady county could have no bigger advertisement than to win the capital prize for cattle feeding.

In printing the list of appointments for the state medical board the Oklahoma along with the regulars and other schools of practitioners gave the "eclecticists." We submit that this is mixing theology and medicine pretty badly. Of course the "eclectic" school was meant.

By the choice of the voters it will be Mayor Burton after next Tuesday.

Make it unanimous for the annexation of the Caddo county townships in the election, April 4

Just deposit a democratic ballot in the box next Tuesday and you will make no mistake.

You won't find better aldermanic timber anywhere than the democrats have placed on their ticket.

The smoke of battle is so thick in Mexico today we can't see at this distance whether the peace dove is going or coming.

The only question is as to the size of the majority Tuesday. Let's make it one to which Chickasha democracy can "point with pride."

About the worst fool is the "April fool." Lest we be misunderstood we hasten to add that we're not among those who were "stung."

The monthly bulletin of the state board of agriculture makes a fine showing. The crop outlook for the state is indeed encouraging.

Just as a kind of recreation preparatory to entering the senatorial game Mr. Haskell has decided to build a few railroads.

Don't overlook the democratic rally at the city hall Monday night. Some of the best speakers in town will entertain the crowd and it will do you good to hear them.

Even Guthrie forgot her enmity toward Oklahoma City long enough to place a few flowers on the bier of C. G. Jones. And Jones was the king in the capital removal fight!

Another thing, the republicans won't be bumped so hard when they fall this year because they are not making their usual loud pre-election claims. It's a very sensible way for them to act.

There is no question as to Burton's ability to make an acceptable mayor. During his long residence in the city he has measured up to every requirement as a splendid citizen. He understands the conditions and needs of the city as well as any man and no safer man could be placed at the head of city affairs.

J. B. Burton has been identified with every progressive movement in the history of Chickasha. As a citizen he has done his duty at every stage of the game and no man can say aught against him. He won the nomination for mayor by a large majority and he should receive the support of every democrat in the election Tuesday.

WAR THEN AND NOW.

New York Tribune: Dr. Rogers, dean of the Yale Law School, was right in reminding his hearers at Buffalo the other evening that war is now a more serious evil—"an infinitely more heinous crime against humanity"—than it was in Washington's day. The nations are much larger now than they were then, and a war between large nations is, of course, more destructive than a war between small ones. Invention, moreover, has greatly increased the destructive and death-dealing power of armies and navies. Military operations, in brief, have advanced equally with industrial activities, education processes, social refinements and scientific research. If civilization has not gone forward on a powder cart, the powder cart has moved forward with civilization.

While war has become more serious, however, its horrors have also been much mitigated, both by law and by the increase of scientific skill. The rights of non-combatants are more respected. Prisoners of war are better treated. The wounded and sick are cared for far more humanely and efficiently. Sanitation, such as the Japanese practiced in their Russian war, had not been invented in Washington's time. The Red Cross had not been founded. Florence Nightingale had not been born. These are circumstances which justice requires to be taken into consideration in comparing war in the eighteenth with war in the twentieth century.

There is something more to be said to the same effect. Wars are both shorter in duration and less frequent in occurrence now than they were in Washington's time. So protracted a struggle as the Seven Years' War, not to mention the Napoleonic wars and the Hundred Years' conflict between England and France, would be impossible in our time. Compare the wars between Prussia and Austria, Germany and France, and Japan and Russia, with those of the eighteenth century. Nor is there any such light-hearted readiness to engage in war as there was then. Nations realize its seriousness. They hesitate to resort to it. They have developed elaborate and often highly efficient agencies of diplomacy, arbitration and adjudication for averting war through peaceful disposition of what would formerly have been regarded as inevitable causes of conflict.

Not any or all of these things can justify unnecessary war, or make war less than one of the most dreadful scourges which ever afflict humanity. But it is desirable to keep them in view as a reminder of the gratifying and encouraging fact that humanitarian progress has not neglected to deal with this as with other evils for its marked abatement if not yet for its entire extinction. If war has become more serious and more criminal, peace has at least in equal measure become more powerful and more prevalent.

"DAD," HERE'S TO YOU.

We happened into a home the other night and over the parlor door saw the legend worked in letters of red, "What is Home Without a Mother?" Across the room was another brief, "God Bless Our Home."

Now what's the matter with "God Bless Our Dad?" He gets up early, lights the fire, boils an egg and wipes off the dew of the dawn with his boots, while many a mother is sleeping. He makes the weekly handout to the butcher, the milkman and the baker, and his little pile is badly worn before he has been home an hour. If there is a noise during the night, Dad is kicked in the back and made to go downstairs to find the burglar and kill him.

Mother darns the socks, but Dad bought the socks in the first place, and the needles and the yarn afterward. Mother does up the fruit—well Dad bought it all, and the jars and sugar cost like the mischief. Dad buys the chicken for the Sunday dinner, carves them himself and draws the neck from the ruins after every-one else has been served. "What is Home Without a Mother?" Yes, that is right, but what is home without a father? Ten chances to one it is a boarding house—father is under a slab and the landlady is the widow. Dad here's to you! You've got your faults—you may have lots of 'em—but you're all right, and we'll miss you when you're gone.—EX.

A SMILE OR TWO.

Is that man a good weather prophet?

I should say he is. Sometimes his weather is a few days ahead of time of a few days behindhand. But it always gets there.—Washington Star.

"What you want to do is to have that mud hole in the road fixed," said the visitor.

"That goes to show," said Farmer Cortosel, "how little you reformers understand local conditions. I've pretty nigh paid oww the mortgage with the money I have made haulin' automobiles out o' that mud hole."—Christian Register.

Marks—"Say old man, did I ever tell you about the awful fright I got on my wedding day?"

Parke—"sh-h-h! No man should speak that way about his wife!"—Smart Set.

I think I had better get a job before we marry.

Don't be so unromantic, Freddy. I won't need any clothing for a long, long time.

But you may want to eat almost immediately, my dear.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Paw, did Adam name all the animals?

So we are told, Tommy. Of course he did.

That's one on you, Paw. The ornithomachus hadn't been discovered then.—Chicago Tribune.

Life's Blessings

Women who use Mother's Friend are saved much of the discomfort and suffering so common with expectant mothers. It is a penetrating oil that thoroughly lubricates every muscle, nerve and tendon involved at such times, and thus promotes physical comfort. It aids nature by expanding the skin and tissues and perfectly prepares the system for the coming of baby. Mother's Friend assures a quick and natural recovery for every woman who uses it. It is for sale at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers.

BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

For the mother in the home to be strong and well, able to devote her time and strength to the rearing of children, is one of life's greatest blessings. Often the bearing of children injures the mother's health, if she has not prepared her system in advance for the important event.

Kind Lady—Whose little girl are you?

Little Girl—Don't know yet; but tomorrow Billy Jones and Sammy Smith are going to fight and settle the question.—Chicago Daily News.

SCRIPTURE.

Romans 13:1-8.

Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that are ordained of God.

Whosoever therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God; and they that resist shall deceive to themselves damnation.

For rulers are not a terror to good works, but to the evil. Wilt thou then not be afraid of the power? do that which is good, and thou shalt have praise of the same.

For he is the minister of God to thee for good. But if thou do that which is evil, he shall be afraid of thee; for he is the minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil.

Wherefore ye must needs be subject, not only for wrath, but also for conscience sake.

For this cause pay ye tribute also, for they are God's ministers, attending constantly upon this very thing. Render therefore to all their dues: tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honour to whom honour.

Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law.

Averts Awful Tragedy.

Timely advice given Mrs. C. W. Loughby, of Marengo, Wis., (R. No. 1) prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. Doctors had said her frightful cough was a "consumption" cough and could do little to help her. After many remedies had failed, her aunt urged her to take Dr. King's New Discovery. "I have been using it for some time," she wrote, "and the awful cough has almost gone. It also saved my little boy when taken with a severe bronchial trouble." This priceless medicine has no equal for throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Brown & Co. d-w
