

Most Men Think They are Hard to Fit!

FEW of them are actually so, in fact. A whole lot depends upon how much care is taken in looking after you and helping you select just the Suit or Overcoat best adapted to the special needs of your individual appearance.

WE show clothes in varieties enough to suit all comers, but every model correct according to correct fashion.

We'd rather be out of business than out of styles.

Short Stories OF THE TOWN

Buys Burk Cottage.

Duval Burk has sold to Jacob Nebberzell, the four-room cottage at 167 Colorado avenue. The sale was made by Jonas Cook. Consideration, $1,100 cash.

Death of An Infant.

The month-old infant of Mr. and Mrs. William Aster died at their home in this city Sunday morning of pneumonia and was buried in the afternoon in the Odd Fellows' cemetery.

"Curley" Pays Salaries.

On behalf of City Clerk "Curley" Reynolds, is busy today in writing out checks covering salaries of all officials and employes with the exception of the fire and water departments. The salaries being paid today total $944.50.

Recovering from Burns.

D. C. Nichols, who was so seriously burned some days since by a gasoline explosion which badly wrecked the motor delivery car he was driving at the time, is recovering nicely from his injuries and may be able to return to his business duties within the next week or ten days.

Will Begin Revival.

The church of God will begin their fall revival meeting Sunday, November 8, at 116 South Sixth street. Services will begin at 7:30 o'clock each evening, and the word of God will be preached against the power of sin. "Please attend this meeting," says an announcement made by the pastor

Wants Them Wholesale.

Leonard Hawn is authority for the statement that Ross Cox wishes to correspond with some manufacturer of golf balls with a view of laying in a supply at wholesale prices. In straining the Sabbath at the golf links yesterday, Mr. Hawn states Mr. Cox scored about one thousand and lost twenty-seven golf balls. Of course, the whole matter, was charged to the winds.

Wants An Aeroplane.

An indignant lady in this city states that she thinks the police force should discard the automobile which is now in use and get an aeroplane. The lady stated that when a drink-crazed negro, armed with a murderous knife, wanders abroad in the land, people want a policeman and want him right now, and don't want him to have to lose time cranking an auto when he should be in a position to fly.

Trouble in Store for Boys.

Complaint has been made that certain boys about town are in the habit of defacing and pilfering autos while the owners of the cars are attending church. In several cases, it is reported, handsome cars have been marked up and badly damaged. In at least one case boys were seen in the act of committing this kind of vandalism, but they got away before they could be apprehended. It is rumored that some plain clothes men will be detailed to look after the offending youngsters, and if they are caught it will probably cost their parents some real money.

Addition to Daily Express Force.

George E. Ellsworth arrived in the city today from Shawnee to take a position as "ad man" and general solicitor for the Daily Express. For the past four years and more he has been connected with the Shawnee News-Herald and he comes here highly recommended as to personal character and ability. For seven years he handled advertising for one of the leading papers in Springfield, Mo. Miss Fannie Whitaker of this city began work today as reporter for the Express, her particular "assignment" being the personal mention department.

Funeral of Mrs. Descombes.

The body of Mrs. J. Descombes, a pioneer in Chickasha, whose death occurred last week at her home in Portland, Oregon, arrived here Sunday morning on the Frisco and funeral services were held at 4 o'clock p. m. at the First Presbyterian church, interment in Odd Fellows cemetery following. Rev. E. B. Tels, the pastor, paid a beautiful tribute to the deceased, who was a charter member of the church and numerous floral offerings attested the esteem of friends. The pall bearers were William Frasier, Jonas Cook, Dr. D. M. Johnston, A. Haisht, C. E. Rose and Howard Miller. John Hancock of Kingfisher and Victor Payne, of Watonga, both relatives of the deceased, were here to make arrangements for the funeral.

Little Girls' Hats, Made by Home Milliner

There are some styles in millinery, especially in that designed for small people, that are always good. The "tam" reappears season in and out, only varied by differences as to size and fabric or color and trim. It is always sure of a welcome by mothers and misses. From four years up to the age where the young lady forgets to have a birthday—all the maid asks of it is to keep in line with fashion's vagaries.

A pretty tam for the miss from four to sixteen is shown here. It is made of dark velvet (in this particular instance midnight blue), with two-color cord trimming and a white pendant cord and tassel of silk. The cord trimming is of white and the color of the tam.
The hat at the left is a familiar shape with crown slightly higher than in the last two seasons, and soft at the top, as befits a shape that proclaims that it is up to date. It is covered with velvet and the top with a band of ribbon, shirred on about the lower part of the side crown. A narrow ruffle is left upstanding at each edge and that at the lower edge rests on the brim. Here it covers the band of white fur that makes a soft fluff about the face of the little miss.

The underside of the brim is covered with a shirring of white satin ribbon. This hat is one of those that the home milliner may undertake to make with every chance of success. She is first to secure a light buckramette frame and unless the frame is made with a soft top crown of net, its buckram top crown is to be cut out. It should be remembered in fitting a frame that it should be a little large for the head to allow for the facing and lining.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

A Party Bag.

Have you ever gone to a party and faced the problem of where to put your handkerchief? Party dresses as a rule are not provided with pockets. A girlie is a dangerous hiding place for a handkerchief—if one desires to keep the handkerchief. A pretty finish to such a costume, as well as a serviceable finishing feature, is one of those dainty little bags just large enough to hold a glove handkerchief and a vanity box. They are done in silk and figured satin and shirred on a ribbon which hangs on the wrist.

Some people make an effort to be happy and trust to luck to be good.
