GRADY CO. STANDS A1 IN STATE

That Grady county stands A1 in the state of Oklahoma with respect to low taxation and cash balances is the statement which was made by R. E. Bledsoe, tax agent for the state of Oklahoma, who was here making an examination of the county's books.

Tax Agent Pays Tribute to Efficiency and Condition of County Clerk's Office

in anticipation of the soft snap which he expects to have in connection with the enforcement of the amendment to the automobile drivers' ordinance. "The automobile owners and drivers are coming in fine now," he said this morning, "and the indications are that by November 15 no driver will be without a license. Since it is understood that those who got licenses under the old law are exempt there is little objection to it. The public is beginning to see that the ordinance was enacted for the good of the people and for their safety."

PRISONER HAS ALL PRIVILEGES

Is Not Confined in Cell Owing to Danger of Charge of False Imprisonment of Babe

By United Press.

Denying that she had passed the worthless checks but stating that she had passed through Chickasha less than three months ago and had spent the night here, Mrs. L. F. Clark, now in custody of county officers, gave an interview to a Daily Express reporter in the sheriff's office yesterday afternoon.

The prisoner with her ten-month-old babe is given the freedom of the jail and jailer's and sheriff's offices.

She spends much time on the grounds outside the building and is being treated more as a guest than as a prison inmate. The reason for this consideration is not a desire to show more deference to Mrs. Clark than to any other woman prisoner, but rather a determination not to implicate matters by imprisoning her babe and thus probably subject the sheriff's office to the charge of false imprisonment. Therefore, while the reception room adjoining the sheriff's office had been prepared for the deserted young wife it was not used when it was found that she was still accompanied by her child.

Mrs. Clark shows no sign of depression and is evidently contented with her present surroundings.

At night she occupies the jury room which is not in the category of a cell and therefore clears the officers of any suspicion of imprisoning the child. Though having been seen but twenty summers Mrs. Clark has had an eventful life. She had worked at Norman and Lexington and it was at the latter place that she fell in love with and married a man whom she had not known but six weeks and who, according to her statement, proved to be a loafer who could not or would not support her. What he ever did for a living she appeared not to know. That the officers of the law are on his trail for wife desertion and "maybe other things" she declared to the newsmen.

"Does your paper go down into Texas?" she asked, "for if it does maybe we had better not say anything about this for he is down there and he is smooth in getting away."

The prisoner stated that she was in Gainesville, Texas, on October 5, when she was arrested and brought back to Pauls Valley to answer to the charge of passing worthless checks signed by Mrs. John O'Connor, the same as were those which were passed in Chickasha. She gave $1000 bond there, believing that Pauls Valley people signed as sureties though she expressed uncertainty on this point as she was in Norman when she was notified of her release under bond. After being placed under an additional $1000 bond here yesterday by Judge Failer she told members of the sheriff's force that the Pauls Valley bond should serve for both places and that she should be released. That she anticipated early freedom and an early job was indicated in the interview yesterday when she propounded the query, "You don't know of anything now, do you?"

Mrs. Clark's married life was spent at Lexington and Mayesville.

Mrs. Clark has been identified by Harry Schwartz, credit man at the Hub, as the same person who presented and passed the checks on September 3 at the Hub clothing store. Mr. Schwartz has known the woman since she was a child.

BE CAREFUL OF GAS HEATER ADVISES DIXON

(By Samuel G. Dixon, Pennsylvania Commissioner of Health.)

This is the season of the year when many people instead of starting their furnaces use gas stoves to take off the chill. Not infrequently they use rubber pipe connections and in the majority of cases the stoves are not connected with a flue.

Such an arrangement is dangerous in the extreme. Every year many deaths are reported as a result of just such conditions. Coal gas or water gas contains a large percentage of carbon monoxide and this having little or no perceptible odor may be present without being noticed. There is no warning and unless material having an odor is added to the gas, the victim becomes unconscious and unless aid arrives a fatal result is almost certain to follow.

Do not use a gas stove without flue connections and proper ventilation.

Gas water heaters are often installed in bath rooms without outside connections and then there are made use of to heat the room. Such arrangements are extremely hazardous.

A free lecture on "The Law of Re-birth" will be given in the city hall Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock by Mrs. Rebecca L. Finner, leader of the Oklahoma City Theosophical Society.

SOUTH SQUAD FROZEN BY REED'S MEN

Chickasha High School Eleven Take Game From Lawton Yesterday by Count of 20 to Zero

BOTH TEAMS WERE IN PINK OF CONDITION

Hatchet of Hard Feelings Buried Between Old Time Rivals and Clean Game Was Verdict of All

Supported by an aggregation of sixty rooters and side line fans, the Lawton high school football team arrived Thursday morning fully endowed with jazz and otherwise prepared to administer the drubbing so long intended for the local bearers of the pig skin.

From the time Lawton's aspirants landed at their destination, Reed's men fully understood that it was no trivial or insignificant eleven which the referee's whistle would bid them charge. Indeed if either clan expected an easy victim as their prey such illusions were speedily revealed when in the first few minutes play each team sought vainly for a pregnable spot in their adversary's line. Battering assaults in the first quarter proved well nigh as much avail to the crusaders of the crimson and white as to the cohorts of C. H. S., and the stronghold of each underwent a crucial test from the time the ball was put into play. Lawton ranks were perceptibly heavier than were those of the purple and gold while from the very beginning the latter's speed held the visitors to a decided disadvantage. No decisive gains could be made by line plunges directed against either stronghold and the only other alternatives were consequently resorted to, viz. end runs and passes. Trick plays were attempted only occasionally and the game may properly be said to have fallen into the class of "copyrighted" football, very few sensations being in evidence.

Those showing the greatest dexterity among local demons of the grid were C. Goetting, whose long end runs netted valuable gains for Chickasha, and the Hills who were always reliable for the reception of long passes or ground gaining short end runs. Riddle played a stellar game at the pivot, never falling in his aerial tactics over the enemy's ramparts in spite of his almost disqualifying injuries received in the Pauls Valley game. Congratulations on a well generated game are due the Fox, whose coolly directed plays from his position at quarterback never miscarried even under strains of greatest moment. Wilson and Gardner at the line's extremities seemed magnetic for forward heaves and bagged much gain thereby. Excessive praise could scarcely be given the unflinching defense maintained by local guards nor the night invincible advances of Chickasha tackles. A clean game would best decide the nature of the foray directed by an invading squad, the objective of which was a clan for whom, of old, some animosity had existed and who, in turn, had felt unkindly toward the other. A very competent referee was compelled to make remarkably few penalizations, and these only for unintentional infraction of rules.

The game was called at 4 p. m. and by quarters was as follows:

First Quarter—Lawton kicks off and Chickasha fumbles on second down. A long pass to Chickasha failed as did an attempted long end run. C. H. S. lost the ball on downs only to recover it again when Lawton passed 30 yards which was tipped into Wilson's hands. A stubborn resistance on part of the visitors held Chickasha to a punting position and the latter returned the favor. C. H. S. fumbled two passes successively and J. B. Hill was called upon to carry the ball 15 yards around right end. After an ineffective line battering, Goetting again punted and Lawton was downed in the
