

HOG IS THE KING.

Thousands Meet to Worship at His Shrine.

A GREAT DAY FOR COL. HOXIE.

The Guild Party and Distinguished Texas Citizens Entertained in Royal Style.

The Corner Stone of the New Buildings Laid With Due Ceremony—Addresses Made by Leading Citizens—Houses Adopted—Notes of the Day.

From Sunday's Daily. THE BARBECUE.

Over 5000 People at Packing House Problem—Distinguished Visitors.

Friday night, as announced in our Gazette, there arrived over a party of twenty-five representatives of the packing industry...

The first speaker, was in a happy frame of mind, and listened to with pleasure. He said: "We have met here this afternoon to lay the second corner stone of the great packing house of Fort Worth. It is only a few months since that it began operations, and there were some who feared because of the gigantic proportions...

Resolved, that Col. Hoxie and his committee are deserving of the thanks, not only of Fort Worth, but of all Texas who take a pride in the progress of the state, for establishing such an enterprise on so extensive a scale.

Resolved, that we hereby tender our most sincere thanks to Messrs. Masters, Sherman, and Santa Fe road for organizing this enterprise, and for making it possible for us to become better acquainted with Fort Worth and her business men.

Resolved, that we do hereby commend the Fort Worth packing house, and its products to all Texas and recommend they patronize it, and thereby aid in the upbuilding of home enterprise.

Resolved, that the resolutions be published in the Fort Worth Gazette, Daily News, Houston Post, and Galveston News. D. KEMP, Cameron.

H. HUBBARD, Caldwell. N. H. CHAMBERLAIN, Galveston. C. W. BROWN, Houston. J. W. KENNEDY, Brownham. C. N. YANCY, Temple. J. H. WEAR, Belton. M. MILLER, Clewley. J. B. NALER, Moody. JAMES PHILLIPS, Sealy.

Some Interviews. Among those most interested were the visiting merchants brought up by the Santa Fe road. Col. Hoxie said: "I am astonished. I had read in the papers about the Fort Worth packing house, but I had imagined it was all newspaper talk. I had no idea it was such a grand institution. It is the greatest thing in Texas. Look at those stacks of meat. No danger of starvation here. I want to go on record as saying that there is no fear of the future prosperity of any city in the world behind the packing house. I have seen such men as John R. Hoxie to promote such enterprises and such men as Col. Barnum to run the machine. Texas is an empire within herself, and this packing house and its success demonstrates that she can, if she will, become self-sustaining and independent. Why, with such men as Hoxie to take the lead, you could build a Chinese wall around Texas and she would still be prosperous. I feel like throwing my hat in the air and kicking it up again when it comes down, and giving three big cheers for Fort Worth and this packing house."

Col. L. R. Wade of Temple said: "I say, boys, I move we buy a carload of bacon today and have it shipped at once as a token of our appreciation of the genius and iron nerve of the man who has done this packing house in Texas, and with Texas men and shipped by Texas railroads, has invaded the general market. I have heard of it, but I have not seen it. I tell you that building is enough to cause every Texan to crack his heels together and yell, until Davy Crockett and Sam Houston come out of their graves to see what caused the racket. I had heard a good deal about Fort Worth and her packing house and her conservative, yet enterprising and thoroughly reliable character. Following this I am not afraid to look Fort Worth, TEXAS, TEXAS and TEXAS against the world for money, barter or cash."

H. Wear of Belton said: "This packing house is a grand thing. It is the new building addition to double its capacity before it has completed its first season. I for one shall hereafter buy all my meats from Fort Worth, and I am sure to demand it to get something of the superior quality of the product. Such enterprises as this are what Texas needs."

General Manager Barnum was in it. He said that every body saw what they came to see. Messrs. Hoxie and Barnum at one time got into the pen and served barbecued steaks and liquid refreshments to their friends, and the crowd generally like old times, and enjoyed it hugely. They saw that everybody got plenty to eat.

New Orleans took a large lot of packing house products yesterday. Capt. West did himself proud in his speech yesterday. Jay Gould and party were delighted with the packing house. Barbecued meat is pronounced an inspired eloquence.

Col. Hoxie laid his coat aside at an early hour, and appeared for his share. He was in one place for five minutes and then he was looking after the welfare of the visitors. General Manager Barnum was in it. He said that every body saw what they came to see.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

Col. J. L. Williams, Vice President. G. M. Barnum, General Manager.

Resolved, that Col. Hoxie and his committee are deserving of the thanks, not only of Fort Worth, but of all Texas who take a pride in the progress of the state, for establishing such an enterprise on so extensive a scale.

Resolved, that we hereby tender our most sincere thanks to Messrs. Masters, Sherman, and Santa Fe road for organizing this enterprise, and for making it possible for us to become better acquainted with Fort Worth and her business men.

Resolved, that we do hereby commend the Fort Worth packing house, and its products to all Texas and recommend they patronize it, and thereby aid in the upbuilding of home enterprise.

Resolved, that the resolutions be published in the Fort Worth Gazette, Daily News, Houston Post, and Galveston News. D. KEMP, Cameron.

H. HUBBARD, Caldwell. N. H. CHAMBERLAIN, Galveston. C. W. BROWN, Houston. J. W. KENNEDY, Brownham. C. N. YANCY, Temple. J. H. WEAR, Belton. M. MILLER, Clewley. J. B. NALER, Moody. JAMES PHILLIPS, Sealy.

Some Interviews. Among those most interested were the visiting merchants brought up by the Santa Fe road. Col. Hoxie said: "I am astonished. I had read in the papers about the Fort Worth packing house, but I had imagined it was all newspaper talk. I had no idea it was such a grand institution. It is the greatest thing in Texas. Look at those stacks of meat. No danger of starvation here. I want to go on record as saying that there is no fear of the future prosperity of any city in the world behind the packing house. I have seen such men as John R. Hoxie to promote such enterprises and such men as Col. Barnum to run the machine. Texas is an empire within herself, and this packing house and its success demonstrates that she can, if she will, become self-sustaining and independent. Why, with such men as Hoxie to take the lead, you could build a Chinese wall around Texas and she would still be prosperous. I feel like throwing my hat in the air and kicking it up again when it comes down, and giving three big cheers for Fort Worth and this packing house."

Col. L. R. Wade of Temple said: "I say, boys, I move we buy a carload of bacon today and have it shipped at once as a token of our appreciation of the genius and iron nerve of the man who has done this packing house in Texas, and with Texas men and shipped by Texas railroads, has invaded the general market. I have heard of it, but I have not seen it. I tell you that building is enough to cause every Texan to crack his heels together and yell, until Davy Crockett and Sam Houston come out of their graves to see what caused the racket. I had heard a good deal about Fort Worth and her packing house and her conservative, yet enterprising and thoroughly reliable character. Following this I am not afraid to look Fort Worth, TEXAS, TEXAS and TEXAS against the world for money, barter or cash."

H. Wear of Belton said: "This packing house is a grand thing. It is the new building addition to double its capacity before it has completed its first season. I for one shall hereafter buy all my meats from Fort Worth, and I am sure to demand it to get something of the superior quality of the product. Such enterprises as this are what Texas needs."

General Manager Barnum was in it. He said that every body saw what they came to see. Messrs. Hoxie and Barnum at one time got into the pen and served barbecued steaks and liquid refreshments to their friends, and the crowd generally like old times, and enjoyed it hugely. They saw that everybody got plenty to eat.

New Orleans took a large lot of packing house products yesterday. Capt. West did himself proud in his speech yesterday. Jay Gould and party were delighted with the packing house. Barbecued meat is pronounced an inspired eloquence.

Col. Hoxie laid his coat aside at an early hour, and appeared for his share. He was in one place for five minutes and then he was looking after the welfare of the visitors. General Manager Barnum was in it. He said that every body saw what they came to see.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

Col. J. L. Williams, Vice President. G. M. Barnum, General Manager.

Resolved, that Col. Hoxie and his committee are deserving of the thanks, not only of Fort Worth, but of all Texas who take a pride in the progress of the state, for establishing such an enterprise on so extensive a scale.

Resolved, that we hereby tender our most sincere thanks to Messrs. Masters, Sherman, and Santa Fe road for organizing this enterprise, and for making it possible for us to become better acquainted with Fort Worth and her business men.

Resolved, that we do hereby commend the Fort Worth packing house, and its products to all Texas and recommend they patronize it, and thereby aid in the upbuilding of home enterprise.

Resolved, that the resolutions be published in the Fort Worth Gazette, Daily News, Houston Post, and Galveston News. D. KEMP, Cameron.

H. HUBBARD, Caldwell. N. H. CHAMBERLAIN, Galveston. C. W. BROWN, Houston. J. W. KENNEDY, Brownham. C. N. YANCY, Temple. J. H. WEAR, Belton. M. MILLER, Clewley. J. B. NALER, Moody. JAMES PHILLIPS, Sealy.

Some Interviews. Among those most interested were the visiting merchants brought up by the Santa Fe road. Col. Hoxie said: "I am astonished. I had read in the papers about the Fort Worth packing house, but I had imagined it was all newspaper talk. I had no idea it was such a grand institution. It is the greatest thing in Texas. Look at those stacks of meat. No danger of starvation here. I want to go on record as saying that there is no fear of the future prosperity of any city in the world behind the packing house. I have seen such men as John R. Hoxie to promote such enterprises and such men as Col. Barnum to run the machine. Texas is an empire within herself, and this packing house and its success demonstrates that she can, if she will, become self-sustaining and independent. Why, with such men as Hoxie to take the lead, you could build a Chinese wall around Texas and she would still be prosperous. I feel like throwing my hat in the air and kicking it up again when it comes down, and giving three big cheers for Fort Worth and this packing house."

Col. L. R. Wade of Temple said: "I say, boys, I move we buy a carload of bacon today and have it shipped at once as a token of our appreciation of the genius and iron nerve of the man who has done this packing house in Texas, and with Texas men and shipped by Texas railroads, has invaded the general market. I have heard of it, but I have not seen it. I tell you that building is enough to cause every Texan to crack his heels together and yell, until Davy Crockett and Sam Houston come out of their graves to see what caused the racket. I had heard a good deal about Fort Worth and her packing house and her conservative, yet enterprising and thoroughly reliable character. Following this I am not afraid to look Fort Worth, TEXAS, TEXAS and TEXAS against the world for money, barter or cash."

H. Wear of Belton said: "This packing house is a grand thing. It is the new building addition to double its capacity before it has completed its first season. I for one shall hereafter buy all my meats from Fort Worth, and I am sure to demand it to get something of the superior quality of the product. Such enterprises as this are what Texas needs."

General Manager Barnum was in it. He said that every body saw what they came to see. Messrs. Hoxie and Barnum at one time got into the pen and served barbecued steaks and liquid refreshments to their friends, and the crowd generally like old times, and enjoyed it hugely. They saw that everybody got plenty to eat.

New Orleans took a large lot of packing house products yesterday. Capt. West did himself proud in his speech yesterday. Jay Gould and party were delighted with the packing house. Barbecued meat is pronounced an inspired eloquence.

Col. Hoxie laid his coat aside at an early hour, and appeared for his share. He was in one place for five minutes and then he was looking after the welfare of the visitors. General Manager Barnum was in it. He said that every body saw what they came to see.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

When Capt. West took the stand everyone knew that he would make a good speech and he did. He said that he would speak against Texas that she sold cotton and beef and mutton and that she had no other products. He said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products, and he said she had no other products.

FOR M'KINLEY.

The Bold Utterances of Senator Sherman on 1892.

M'KINLEY WILL BE GOVERNOR.

Mr. Blaine Will Not Aspire on Account of His Health—Harrison All Right.

The Senator is Disappointed That Cleveland Will Not Be Nominated—An Interesting Interview on Political Issues—The Force Bill.

Sherman on the Issues.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Senator John Sherman, in the course of a very interesting interview at Mansfield, Ohio, yesterday said, among other things: "I guess the administration is all right. Harrison has given the country a quiet, conservative administration, and I am of the opinion that the people approve and admire such a policy. They like safety and business sagacity in a president."

"No, I do not. It seems to be the disposition of the people to do away with the older party leaders and look for material in the younger element of the party. Say Mr. McKinley for instance. He is young and the convention is a long way off, but my judgment is that some man, younger than Harrison, will be nominated."

"No, I do not. I think that Mr. Blaine is quite unwilling to go through a second campaign as a leader. He is careful of his health, and he is, in view of the fact that his nomination will emphasize tariff and silver issues."

"Yes, I think he can be elected. He may lose some votes on the silver issue; but you must remember that a large majority in this state who are not in favor of the unlimited coinage of silver. For instance, right in this district is Congressman elect Harter who is an honest money man."

"I think, though, that a Democrat usually sticks to his party, no matter what the issue is, but even with what Republican vote we may lose on the silver question, the Republicans will carry Ohio."

The senator thought that the Northwest in the next presidential campaign would go back to the Republican fold.

"Whom do you think the Democrats will nominate?" "I am not now quite so sanguine that Cleveland will be the nominee. At one time I thought so, but in view of the opposition I now see and read of, I do not think he will be nominated."

"How about the force bill?" "It should have been passed," he answered. "I favor the bill, and I favor the bill, which passed the house of representatives. Under our magna charter the congress has a right to regulate congressional elections, and I think that a general principle, applicable to every congressional district in the land. This would have removed the cry of sectionalism."

"Because, strange to say, of the opposition from New England. Some of the New England states have enacted laws, which such a law of general application might have conflicted with, and from such quarters developed the opposition to the general law. Then, again, we had a division in the senate. In his general desire for free silver, he drifted away from the Republican party. Then there was Plumb, who is erratic on nearly everything."

STORM-SCIENCE. The Nebular Theory Exploded and Superseded by the Electric Theory of the Universe—Were Once Comets.

Special to the Gazette. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 11.—My last letter gave forecasts of the storm due to cross the continent from the 16th to the 20th. On the 16th the storm broke, and I have maintained, with probabilities of an extra storm wave in the Rocky-Allegheny valley at that time and in the Eastern states about the 20th. This storm will be most intense in the Pacific coast about the 22d, cross the Rocky-Allegheny valley from the 23d to the 25th and reach the Eastern states about the 26th. This storm will be most intense in the Pacific coast about the 22d, cross the Rocky-Allegheny valley from the 23d to the 25th and reach the Eastern states about the 26th.

Special to the Gazette. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 11.—My last letter gave forecasts of the storm due to cross the continent from the 16th to the 20th. On the 16th the storm broke, and I have maintained, with probabilities of an extra storm wave in the Rocky-Allegheny valley at that time and in the Eastern states about the 20th. This storm will be most intense in the Pacific coast about the 22d, cross the Rocky-Allegheny valley from the 23d to the 25th and reach the Eastern states about the 26th.

Special to the Gazette. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 11.—My last letter gave forecasts of the storm due to cross the continent from the 16th to the 20th. On the 16th the storm broke, and I have maintained, with probabilities of an extra storm wave in the Rocky-Allegheny valley at that time and in the Eastern states about the 20th. This storm will be most intense in the Pacific coast about the 22d, cross the Rocky-Allegheny valley from the 23d to the 25th and reach the Eastern states about the 26th.

Special to the Gazette. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 11.—My last letter gave forecasts of the storm due to cross the continent from the 16th to the 20th. On the 16th the storm broke, and I have maintained, with probabilities of an extra storm wave in the Rocky-Allegheny valley at that time and in the Eastern states about the 20th. This storm will be most intense in the Pacific coast about the 22d, cross the Rocky-Allegheny valley from the 23d to the 25th and reach the Eastern states about the 26th.

Special to the Gazette. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 11.—My last letter gave forecasts of the storm due to cross the continent from the 16th to the 20th. On the 16th the storm broke, and I have maintained, with probabilities of an extra storm wave in the Rocky-Allegheny valley at that time and in the Eastern states about the 20th. This storm will be most intense in the Pacific coast about the 22d, cross the Rocky-Allegheny valley from the 23d to the 25th and reach the Eastern states about the 26th.

Special to the Gazette. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 11.—My last letter gave forecasts of the storm due to cross the continent from the 16th to the 20th. On the 16th the storm broke, and I have maintained, with probabilities of an extra storm wave in the Rocky-Allegheny valley at that time and in the Eastern states about the 20th. This storm will be most intense in the Pacific coast about the 22d, cross the Rocky-Allegheny valley from the 23d to the 25th and reach the Eastern states about the 26th.

Special to the Gazette. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 11.—My last letter gave forecasts of the storm due to cross the continent from the 16th to the 20th. On the 16th the storm broke, and I have maintained, with probabilities of an extra storm wave in the Rocky-Allegheny valley at that time and in the Eastern states about the 20th. This storm will be most intense in the Pacific coast about the 22d, cross the Rocky-Allegheny valley from the 23d to the 25th and reach the Eastern states about the 26th.

Special to the Gazette. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 11.—My last letter gave forecasts of the storm due to cross the continent from the 16th to the 20th. On the 16th the storm broke, and I have maintained, with probabilities of an extra storm wave in the Rocky-Allegheny valley at that time and in the Eastern states about the 20th. This storm will be most intense in the Pacific coast about the 22d, cross the Rocky-Allegheny valley from the 23d to the 25th and reach the Eastern states about the 26th.

Special to the Gazette. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 11.—My last letter gave forecasts of the storm due to cross the continent from the 16th to the 20th. On the 16th the storm broke, and I have maintained, with probabilities of an extra storm wave in the Rocky-Allegheny valley at that time and in the Eastern states about the 20th. This storm will be most intense in the Pacific coast about the 22d, cross the Rocky-Allegheny valley from the 23d to the 25th and reach the Eastern states about the 26th.

Special to the Gazette. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 11.—My last letter gave forecasts of the storm due to cross the continent from the 16th to the 20th. On the 16th the storm broke, and I have maintained, with probabilities of an extra storm wave in the Rocky-Allegheny valley at that time and in the Eastern states about the 20th. This storm will be most intense in the Pacific coast about the 22d, cross the Rocky-Allegheny valley from the 23d to the 25th and reach the Eastern states about the 26th.

Special to the Gazette. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 11.—My last letter gave forecasts of the storm due to cross the continent from the 16th to the 20th. On the 16th the storm broke, and I have maintained, with probabilities of an extra storm wave in the Rocky-Allegheny valley at that time and in the Eastern states about the 20th. This storm will be most intense in the Pacific coast about the 22d, cross the Rocky-Allegheny valley from the 23d to the 25th and reach the Eastern states about the 26th.

Special to the Gazette. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 11.—My last letter gave forecasts of the storm due to cross the continent from the 16th to the 20th. On the 16th the storm broke, and I have maintained, with probabilities of an extra storm wave in the Rocky-Allegheny valley at that time and in the Eastern states about the 20th. This storm will be most intense in the Pacific coast about the 22d, cross the Rocky-Allegheny valley from the 23d to the 25th and reach the Eastern states about the 26th.

north and south of the sun's equator only seven degrees, which is about an average of the poles, and therefore they are at all times near the center of the electric radiations over the sun's equator, and which revolve with the sun. In accordance with these ideas we find that from the sun, the planet Mercury, moves 103,300 miles an hour; the next planet, Venus, 73,000 miles an hour; the next, being the earth, moves 68,833 miles an hour; Mars, 53,600 an hour; Jupiter, 28,744; Saturn, 21,224; Uranus, 14,961; and Neptune, 11,658. If the nebular theory were true, and if the whole space now occupied by our solar system were once occupied by a fog of matter which revolved in the direction the planets now revolve, and which was caused to revolve by the outer portions falling toward the center, causing rings to be thrown off forming the planets, the outer planets would have originally had greater velocity than the planets nearer the sun. If the nebular theory were true, the outer planets would not meet with as much resistance as those nearer the sun and therefore those farthest from the sun, if the nebular theory were true, ought to move with greater velocity than the inner planets.

It is also held by astronomers that the outer planets were formed first, and are the oldest, but as the nebular theory does this idea must be discarded. The electric theory of the universe claims that all the planets are the result of comets that have been drawn to our sun, and whose equatorians have enabled them to survive the severe ordeal they were compelled to pass through. Comets are evidently formed in chaotic space, and have acquired reference to the formation of atoms and molecules, and our solar system is constantly moving into new space never before occupied by it, approaching the space where these comets were drawn to our sun, growing in these fields of chaos, the sun's attraction starts them toward it. One of these comets with a weak electric atmosphere will fall to the earth or sun, or some of the other planets that may be in its path while moving toward the sun, and when they strike our atmosphere we call them shooting stars or meteors. But if this newly formed body is drawn to our sun, and its atmosphere, its electric atmosphere will not permit it to enter the atmosphere of any other well organized body, and therefore it becomes a comet. It is well known that the orbits of comets are very much elongated, and very near the sun, and receding to a great distance from it. It is also known that such a revolution around the sun these orbits are very much elongated, and very near the sun, and receding to a great distance from it. It is also known that such a revolution around the sun these orbits are very much elongated, and very near the sun, and receding to a great distance from it.

Special to the Gazette. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 11.—My last letter gave forecasts of the storm due to cross the continent from the 16th to the 20th. On the 16th the storm broke, and I have maintained, with probabilities of an extra storm wave in the Rocky-Allegheny valley at that time and in the Eastern states about the 20th. This storm will be most intense in the Pacific coast about the 22d, cross the Rocky-Allegheny valley from the 23d to the 25th and reach the Eastern states about the 26th.