THEY FAILED TO MAKE THE TRIP

TURN BACK ON ACCOUNT BAD ROADS NEAR STATE LINE.

Auto Party From Denver to Salt Lake City Compelled to Give Up the Trip at Cleco—Utah State Officials Will Be Asked to Take Steps to Remedy Conditions.

John P. Dode, manager of the Automobile Blue Book Publishing company of New York and Chicago, who left Denver last week to lay out a route from that city to Salt Lake City via Grand Junction and Green River, was forced to turn back at Cleco on account of the bad condition of the road from the west since the heavy rains, says Green River's Dispatch of the 17th. He reported that the Colorado end of the route was in good condition. This, of course, is anything but favorable to the state of Utah, as Dode plans to publish the story of this trip in next year's Blue Book, which is used by thousands of tourists.

A. L. Westgard, official mapmaker of the American Automobile association, which probably routes fully as many transcontinental tourists as the Blue Book people, is on his way to Denver with a similar mission in view, namely to lay out a road to Salt Lake City.

JUDGE JOHN B. MILNER PASSES AWAY AT PROVO

PROVO, Oct. 17.—Judge John B. Milner, one of the pioneers of Utah county, died at Provo this morning of old age and general debility. He was in his 82d year. A native of England, he came to Utah in 1859, settling in Provo, where he had lived the greater part of the time since. He taught the first school in Provo, and for a number of years was internal revenue collector for the government, afterwards serving in the territorial legislature one term. He was county surveyor for a number of years and was for two terms county attorney of Utah county. He also served as justice of the peace of Provo before statehood. In fact, Judge Milner filled nearly every office in the gift of the people during the early history of the county and city.

From the early sixties up to the time Utah was admitted into the Union Judge Milner was among the leading attorneys of the county. In politics he was a democrat, and was always foremost in advocating those principles. He is survived by three sons, G. B. Milner of Wellington; B. F. Milner of Alberta, Can.; H. S. Milner of Salt Lake City, and three daughters, Mrs. B. M. Roberts of Provo, Mrs. B. Bachman of Provo and Mrs. Jesse J. Knight of Los Angeles, Cal., besides numerous grandchildren and other relatives.

AVOID SEDATIVE COUGH MEDICINES.

If you want to contribute directly to the occurrence of capillary bronchitis and pneumonia use cough medicines that contain opium, morphine, heroin and other sedatives when you have a cough or cold. An expectorant like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is what is needed. That cleans out the culture beds or breeding places for the germs of pneumonia and other germ diseases. That is why pneumonia never results from a cold when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. It has a world wide reputation for its cures. It contains no morphine or other sedative. Says Saturday's Deseret News: "Dr. A. C. Young, state live stock inspector, is back from Carbon county, where he went to investigate reports about diseased horses. It was discovered that the animals had been smuggled in from Wyoming, and then smuggled back again. To what extent these diseased horses may have left contagious traces behind them will be ascertained by the inspector shortly."

E. B. JOHNSTONE BOUND OVER TO DISTRICT COURT

Edward B. Johnstone, accused of the murder of Brigham Taylor on the highway north of Helper about a month ago, had his preliminary hearing at Spring Glen last Thursday in the court of Justice John T. Rowley. He was bound over to the district court which convened here this week. No evidence was introduced and no bail allowed. Johnstone was charged with murder in the first degree. D. D. Houts and C. Stanley Price are his attorneys.

CHRONIC DYSPEPSIA.

The following uncollected testimonial should certainly be sufficient to give hope and courage to persons afflicted with chronic dyspepsia: "I have been a chronic dyspeptic for years, and of all the medicines I have taken, Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets have done me more good than anything else," says W. O. Matison, 7 Sherman street, Hornellsville, N.Y. Sold by all dealers.

PERNICIOUS HABIT IS CONDEMNED

THAT OF SHOOTING OFF COAL IN THE MINES.

Heavy Charges of Powder Produce An Unnecessary Quantity of Fine Coal and Render the Lump So Friable That It Disintegrates in Handling and Transportation.

Much has been said and written in condemnation of the practice, too prevalent in some of the coal mining states, of "shooting off the solid"—that is, of blasting down the coal without having previously undercut or sheared it, or "making the powder do the work." According to Edward W. Parker, the coal statistician of the United States geological survey, all authorities agree that the practice is reprehensible in the highest degree. The heavy charges of powder produce an unnecessary quantity of fine coal and render the lump coal so friable that it disintegrates in handling and transportation. The quantity and quality of the merchantable product are thereby materially reduced. These reasons in themselves are sufficient to call forth the condemnation of the practice and the demand for its abolition, but a far stronger reason is the increased liability to accident in a vocation that is hazardous enough when all precautions possible are taken to promote safety. The use of inordinate charges of powder weakens the roof and supporting pillars, and failure to undercut or shear the coal increases the danger frequently the cause of dust explosions. Falls of coal and roof in 1911 caused almost one-half of the twenty-seven hundred or so deaths in the coal mines of the United States, and explosions caused 14 per cent. The deaths from the more prolific cause, however, usually happen singly and are not reported outside the localities where the accidents occur, whereas the less frequent explosions involving the deaths of tens or hundreds of men are given prominence in the daily and technical press.

Much Improperly Mined.

In collecting the statistics of production of bituminous coal in 1911 the United States geological survey's schedules included inquiries as to the percentage of the output mined by hand, by the use of machines and by shooting of the solid. Replies to these inquiries were made by mines representing more than 90 per cent of the total output. The quantity of coal prepared for shooting by being mined either by hand or by machines amounted to approximately 298,377,000 short tons or 73.5 per cent of the total production. The quantity of coal shot off the solid amounted to nearly seventy million tons or 17 per cent of the total. The practice of shooting off the solid seems to have its strongest hold in the interior provinces, embracing the states of the Mississippi Valley, Michigan and Texas, although in the latter state, on account of its large proportion of lignite, a relatively small percentage (19.3) is shot from the solid. The principal offender in this regard is Arkansas, 90 per cent of whose product in 1911 was shot down without having been mined. Oklahoma reported nearly 80 per cent of its total production shot off the solid, Kansas 77.6 per cent, Iowa 68.4 per cent, Missouri 50 per cent, and Indiana and Illinois each 38 per cent. The states of the interior province or Mississippi Valley region altogether, with an aggregate production of a little over 23 per cent of the total output of the United States, reported over 60 per cent of the total quantity of coal shot off the solid in the whole country. These states produced 93,858,654 short tons, of which 42,872,000 tons or 45.5 per cent was shot off the solid.

Appalachian States.

The states of the Appalachian region are largely free from criticism on this point. The highest on the roll of honor in 1911 was Maryland, with only 0.5 per cent of its total production not properly mined. West Virginia was second, with 1 per cent. Pennsylvania, with 25 per cent of the total production of bituminous coal, reported less than 3 per cent shot off the solid, and Ohio, 26 per cent of whose production is machine mined, also reported less than 3 per cent shot off the solid. Compared with these, Alabama, with 44 per cent of its production shot from the solid, Tennessee, with 27.7 per cent, and Virginia, with 25.6 per cent, appear unfavorably. Among the Rocky Mountain States Utah, with 7.7 per cent shot off the solid, and Colorado, with 12.4 per cent, are the best examples; Montana, with 24 per cent, and Wyoming, with 29.8 per cent, are the worst. The total percentage in the Rocky Mountain States is much below that of the interior province.

DEFEATS HIGH SCHOOL

First Game of Football of Season at City Park.

Last Friday afternoon the first football game of the season was pulled off at City Park between the Price Academy and the Carbon County High School eleven, resulting in a victory for the academy by a score of thirteen to seven. So evenly were the teams matched that in the first half of the game the score was even—seven to seven. In the last half of the contest the academy scored six, when time was called—a victory for the academy.

Jackson, Thomas and Roy Frandsen for the academy deserve especial mention for their playing, although the whole eleven did some fine work. For the high school Lynn Fausett, Pierre Hobb and William Harsley did some splendid work. Both teams are pretty evenly matched. A return game will be played in the near future at City Park, as the high school boys don't believe the academy can do it again.

Quite a crowd was out to witness the game, both high school autos being run and free transportation given to those who wished to attend.

Tonic—Alterative

What is a "tonic"? A medicine that increases the strength or the tone of the whole system. What is an "alterative"? A medicine that alters or changes unhealthy action to healthy action. Name the best "tonic and alterative"? Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the only Sarsaparilla entirely free from alcohol.

Ask your doctor about it.

Bilious attacks, sick headaches, indigestion, constipation, dizzy spells—these are some of the results of an inactive liver. Ask your doctor if he endorses Ayer's Pills in these cases. The dose is small, one pill at bedtime.
