THURSDAY, NOV. 28, 1912.

The dove of peace is having a hard time of it to find a secure roosting place in Europe these days.

Bulgaria appears to be about the whole thing in this Balkan springing, and has proven too much for Turkey.

Another and more conspicuous Turkey than the Thanksgiving bird appears to be getting it in the neck at this time.

Thanksgiving comes to us today with all its suggestions of gratitude for the benefits enjoyed during the year and the good cheer of family reunions.

European shipping companies exhibit a more practical idea of what the completion of the Panama canal will mean for the commerce of the world than do our own shippers, judging by the activity in European shippers.

So quietly have the people of the country acquiesced in the result of the recent national election that one would hardly think that less than four weeks have elapsed since the thunders of the campaign were reverberating from one part of the country to the other.

It is believed that the democratic majority will continue the policy of revision by single schedules and that the policy of a tariff commission will also be continued under some form. There is little doubt that the best thought of the day is leading up to a regulation of tariff duties by a non-partisan commission, similar to the interstate commerce.

According to the returns of the Journal of Commerce of New York, the fire loss in the United States and Canada during October of the present year aggregated $13,651,850, as compared with $13,945,000 for the corresponding month in 1911. The fire losses for the first ten months of 1912 reach the sum of $191,181,600 as against $192,923,800 for the corresponding time in 1911, and $194,535,650 for 1910.

Democracy is fortunate in coming into power at a time when indications are especially bright that the next eighteen months will be unusually prosperous ones. Factories are busy as a rule, and the railroads likewise, while the crop of 1912 is the largest that has ever been produced. It is estimated at ten billion dollars and about a billion dollars of this will be sold abroad and that amount of cash received therefor, which will be a wonderful stimulus to business.

Coal occurs amongst the stratified rocks of the earth's crust in seams or bands, distinctly parallel or conformable to the strata above and beneath. The unfortunate term "vein" is sometimes applied to a coal seam. This term should be reserved for those deposits of metallic ores and spurs, which fill up fissures or gashes, which cut more or less vertically across the stratification of their containing rocks, or "country," as the metalliferous miner calls it. A seam of coal is clearly of more recent age than the bed it rests upon, and older than the bed that rests upon it. As a rule there is a clear plane of demarcation between the seam and the under and overlying beds. The thickness of seams varies from a mere fraction of an inch, sometimes called "coal pipes," up to many feet.

HELPS A JUDGE IN BAD FIX.
Justice Eli Cherry of Gillis Mills, Tenn., was plainly worried. A bad sore on his leg had baffled several doctors and long resisted all remedies. "I thought it was a cancer," he wrote. "At last I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and was completely cured." Cures burns, boils, ulcers, cuts, bruises and piles; 25c at all dealers.—Adv.

KNOCKING PRICE ROUTE

Ogden People Active in Opposition to the "Midland Trail."

OGDEN, Nov. 25.—From indications the selection of the transcontinental automobile route from Salt Lake City to Nevada by way of Wendover will have no effect on the building of the route around the northern shores of Great Salt Lake through Box Elder county. According to County Commissioner Moroni Skene a macadamized road through Weber Canyon and on to the Nevada line by the north route will be in operation before the one proposed by A. L. Westgard. Skene is of the opinion that the Ogden and Wyoming route will be the most popular path.

It is held that the building of the north route will be much cheaper than the Midland trail on account of the Soldier Summit road between Price and Grand Junction. It is also contended the snow falls so heavily on the divide between Thistle and Colton that it will be impossible to use the road except during the summer months. The route proposed through Wyoming and Ogden may be used all the year round without inconvenience.

The Weber county commissioners are willing to improve the highway in this county to compare with the remainder of the route, and the Box Elder county commissioners are expected to macadamize the route to the Nevada line.

Approves Midland Trail.

A. L. Westgard, pathfinder, telegraphed Salt Lake City friends last Monday night from Los Angeles that "today finished the season's work and my trip, during which I have mapped three transcontinental routes."

"The Midland trail of 2547 miles is splendidly scenic and nearly two hundred miles the shortest of any of the four routes surveyed by me."

ANOTHER PIONEER PASSES

Funeral Services For Elias H. Cox of Huntington, Saturday.

Funeral services for Elias H. Cox, one of the best known pioneers of Emery county, were held at Huntington last Saturday. Bishop Nielson was in charge of the services. The ward choir gave several selections and the floral tributes were numerous. Patriarch William Black offered the invocation and William A. Guyton pronounced the benediction. Lifelong friends of the deceased paid high tribute to his life of usefulness. The speakers were Patriarch Peter Johnson of Cleveland, A. W. Horsley and Oliver J. Harmon of Price, D. C. Woodward, D. H. Leonard and Bishop Nielson of Huntington.

He was born at Union in Salt Lake county, December 19, 1856. While a young man he went to Castle Valley and was one of the first five men to pioneer the way from Blaine county and settle on the east side of the Wasatch range. He held many positions of trust in both civil and religious spheres. He was the first superintendent of district schools of Emery county. At the time of his death he was a trustee of the Huntington district. A large family survives.

Deceased was one of the first surveyors of the state and did the original survey for Price township. He was well and most favorably known in this city.

D. D. Houts, attorney for Edward B. Johnstone, was in Price Tuesday on matters in connection with furnishing a bond for his client. It is now expected it will be arranged for this week. Johnstone is some better, his rheumatism bothering him less the last few days.

PHOTOGRAPH OF THOSE ATTENDING THE OLD FOLKS' REUNION LAST SATURDAY

Written for The Advocate by ex-Bishop E. K. Hursley.

The old folks of Price were entertained at City Hall, Saturday, November 23d in a royal manner. Widows were included and a most enjoyable time was had. At 10:30 o'clock of the forenoon two automobiles under the care of George A. Nixon and Mrs. Joseph B. Sharp covered the city and brought them safely to the hall. At 1 o'clock a sumptuous dinner was served.

Twenty-five lodges were pinned upon those over sixty years of age and a present of a large arm chair was given to the oldest person present, Jens Petersen, 87 years of age. After dinner a short program of songs, speeches and recitations was given to the enjoyment of all present.

Much credit is due to the committee of arrangements and those who assisted in the care of the old folks. The Price band gave several well appreciated selections on City Hall steps.

If You Value Your Eyesight

You will equip your reading table with a Rayo Lamp

Authorities agree that a good kerosene oil lamp is the best for reading. The Rayo is the best oil lamp made—the result of years of scientific study. It gives a steady, white light, clear—mellow. Made of solid brass, nickel plated. Can be lighted without removing chimney or shade. Easy to clean and rewick.
