HIWATHA'S REDS DEFEAT MOHRLANDS

OF THE BEST GAMES OF THE SEASON SUNDAY LAST.

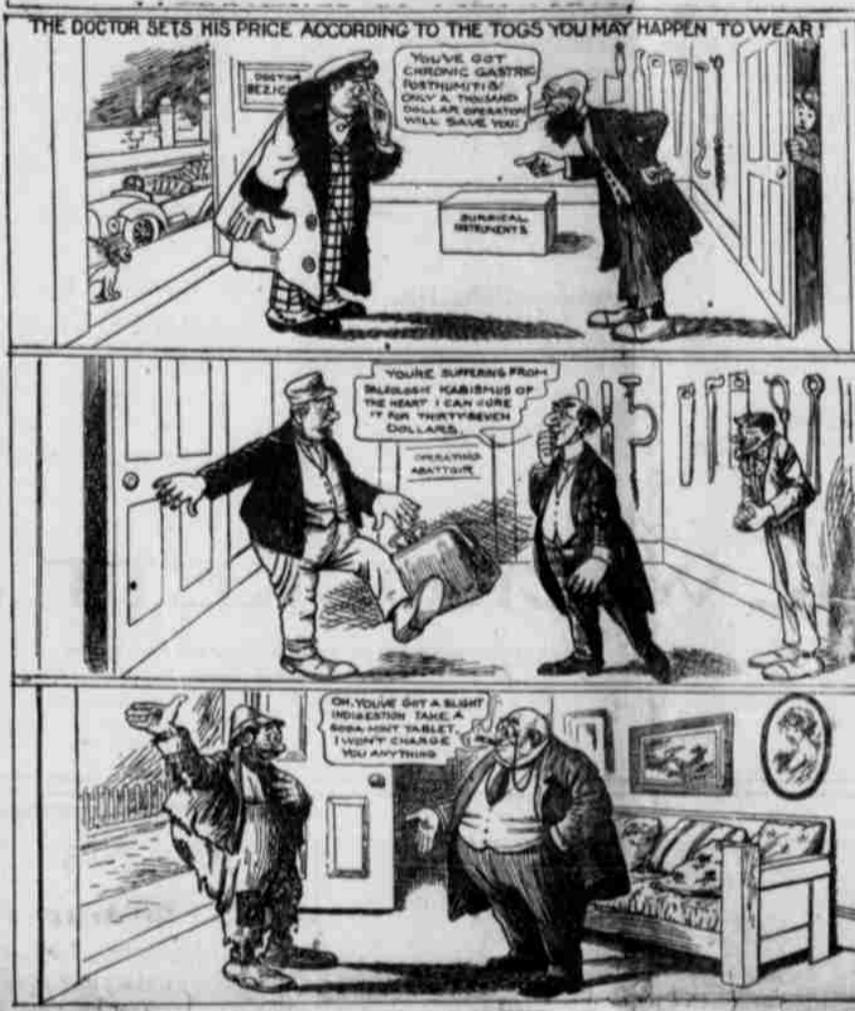

Diversity at the Two Camps to South Over Baseball Honors Season—Utah Pool Nine to Defeat Before the Twirl of the Midvale Aggregation.

Correspondence The Advocate.
HIWATHA, June 17.—The Hiwatha Reds defeated the Mohrland in a fast game at Hiwatha Sunday. Mohrland has a good in fact, a very good team, the pitching of White was too for them and the heavy bat of McPhoe routed them entire. The Hiwatha team has been strengthened by the acquisition of they, whose playing was greatly suitable for Hiwatha's heavy Downey is a collegian, a state of the University of Cork, he played sensational ball, attracting the attention of big leaguers, but he preferred to keep out of professional ball and Hiwatha be congratulated on procuring services. Mohrland was handicapped in having to work an inexperienced second baseman who was able to score one run for them. The same is true of their shortstop. Detective was at the game looking for a couple of players who escaped from the Union association, he stated after the game that he was misled in coming up, as the played here is entirely too for them. He departed immediately after the game for Clear Creek. Herewith the box score:

Hiwatha	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Downey 1b	5	2	2	11	0	0
McPhoe 2b	5	2	4	1	2	1
White 3b	5	1	1	2	2	0
Downey c	4	0	2	0	0	0

"ISN'T IT THE TRUTH?"

BY WALT MacDOUGAL.

BREAK IN THE ADVOCATE'S MACHINERY

Owing to a break in its linotype machine, The Advocate is one day late this week, appearing this (Friday) afternoon, twenty-four hours after its usual time for going to press. The break occurred last Tuesday and it was necessary to send to San Francisco for the broken part.

We feel that this explanation will "square" the management with its subscribers, who expect "the great moral and religious" throughout the county Thursday evenings and Friday mornings.

DISTRICT COURT PROCEEDINGS

One of the most important acts of the June term of district court, now in session, was the dismissal of the case against Former County Surveyor Turner, charged with defrauding the county. This action was taken Tuesday, on recommendation of District Attorney Cherry.

The two state cases against Former County Clerk Gwilym Jones are set for Saturday of this week. King & King have taken the place of D. D. Houts as attorney for the defense.

The murder case against Emanuel Sargakis, who has jumped his bond, was dropped from the docket.

The forgery case against C. A. Gray was dismissed on motion of the district attorney.

The trial of Gust. Karas, charged with burglary, is set for tomorrow.

The assault charge against George Dulose of Wellington, was dismissed.

The grand larceny case against James Martin, Frank Wilson, Kirk Smeitzer and Bert Hand, who are charged with robbing a Helper gambling house, is on trial today, and the cases against James Kelly, burglar; Frank Dusserre, burglar, and John Thompson, larceny, are to follow.

The burglary case against John Gallo is set for tomorrow.

In the case where Stanley Price sued R. W. Cook for attorney fees and the defendant appealed to the district court, appeal dismissed.

The following cases were dropped from the calendar: Philip Dennis, et al, vs. Spring Glen Canal Co.; State ex rel. Randolph, Sharp and Hamilton, vs. C. S. Pierson; Amanda Checketts vs. Henry Checketts; Lapham & Sorenson, vs. Wright Osborn company.

In the case of Helper State Bank vs. G. W. Laing, demurrer was overruled and defendant given 20 days to file answer. Same action in case of Joe Grako, vs. C. A. Franks.

Interlocutory decrees of divorce were granted to Maud from Ernest Jones; Mary from Clifford Robinson; Agnes from Arch McAllister, and Guiseppeina from Matteo Graviana; final decrees to Emma from J. V. Davis; Frances from Joseph Komnich.

The case of G. W. DuBose vs. Ezra Branch was dismissed at plaintiff's cost.

First National Bank of Denver vs. W. H. Frye, et al., set for July 1.

State of Utah ex rel. Neil Madsen vs. County Commissioners and C. A. Pierson, dismissed at plaintiff's cost.

Carbon County vs. Gwilym Jones, W. D. McLean, B. F. Caffey and P. N. Cameron, set for July 1.

Wright Osborn Co. vs. Various labor unions, dismissed at cost of plaintiff.

Verner Ferguson et al. vs. Consolidated Fuel company, judgment for plaintiff for $300.

A large number of foreign born persons were granted naturalization papers.

ITALIAN IS DEAD

Countryman Must Stand Trial For Murder at Coal Camp.

Casper Palmat, who was stabbed at Sunnyside on the evening of June 9th by Camillo Planero, has since died at a Salt Lake hospital. Later the murderer was captured at Green River and brought back to Price and is now in the county jail.

The preliminary hearing has not as yet been held and is not likely to be until after the present term of district court, when the man will be taken before the justice at Sunnyside. The trial will therefore, come up at the next term of court.

WELLINGTON IS STUNG

Commercial Club Tries to Save Money and Loose Thereby.

Some six or eight weeks ago a representative of Wellington's Commercial club visited the two printing establishments at Price and sought bids on a thousand letter heads and an equal amount of envelopes. The figures of the local concerns footed up less than nine dollars—$8.75 to be exact.

In the meantime, however, an Eastern concern proffered the club the work at about a dollar and a half less, and the job went East, along with a postoffice order for the amount, through C. S. Hill, the club's secretary. As yet there has been no word from the work or the postoffice order.

Tracers have been sent out in the hope of recovering the money advanced. The only regret of The Advocate, and we believe we express the sentiments of the other establishment at Price, is that the Wellington club was not "stung" for a still greater amount.

Considering what the newspapers at Price are doing for the country in general and this county and the state as a whole, it is small business for any commercial organization to send away from home for work of this kind.

RIO GRANDE IS BUSY

Corps of Surveyors Working On Colorado and Eastern Utah Line.

MEEKER, Colo., June 13.—With the arrival today of a party of surveyors for the Denver and Rio Grande, who began a preliminary survey from Meeker to Dragon, Meeker has begun to feel that its quarter century dream of a railroad is about to be realized.

The survey is being made through the White River Valley as far as Dragon. Where it will go from Dragon is not known. The survey will follow the White river, passing through the famous Blue Mountain country and Rangely.

The road will open up one of the richest countries on the western slope. No portion of this vast country is yet traversed by a railway line.

BOY IS DROWNED

Former Price Youth Loses Life In the Green River.

The body of Weston McPherson, the 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McPherson of Green River, was found at the state bridge there yesterday. The lad was drowned last Friday, and since then a constant search had been made for the remains. The parents are well known at Price and elsewhere in Carbon county. They, with the body of the child, passed through Price yesterday evening for Provo, where the funeral and burial will be held today.

Wallace, until the fireworks started, then Sautschl. Time two hours.

The Utah Fuels of Salt Lake City were trimmed at Midvale last Sunday by the latter nine. The score was twenty to three.

Price Owls and the Helper Owls club came together at the railroad town last Friday, the score being ten to five in favor of the Helper aggregation.

Price and Castle Gate play at the mining camp next Sunday. A good sized crowd will go up from here.

Jack Calvert, who was tried out as a pitcher by Price a few days ago, has returned to his home at Myton.

Harry Sautschl at Black Hawk is anxious to arrange a game with some of the upper camp clubs, preferably Scottfield, to which club he promises not to do a thing.

ROADS REPORTED SOLD

Denver and Rio Grande May Have Two Branch Lines.

Rumors have been persistent at Price and in Salt Lake City for several days now that the Castle Valley and the Southern Utah railroads out of this city to the mining camps south are to be taken over the first of July by the Denver and Rio Grande system. However, officials of the two lines who ought to know if there is anything to the reports profess ignorance of any deal.

Such, however, would not be surprising, for by the absorption of these lines they would not only be put out of commission as competitors, but would help the Denver and Rio Grande to reach Huntington Canyon, several miles further to the south.

Recently the Denver and Rio Grande completed a survey to Huntington Canyon, and the matter of building a branch out of Price has been up to the board of directors in New York since.

The output of coal at Black Hawk, Mohrland and Hiwatha is at this time some five hundred tons daily, and increasing all the time.

Everything marked in plain figures at the Eastern Utah Furniture company's store, a time price and a cash price, and that the lowest. Your neighbor paid the same as you, no more no less, at that store.—Adv.

MIDLAND TRAIL SURELY READY BY NEXT MONTH

Large forces of men and teams are putting the Midland trail through Price River Canyon, so that the roadway will be in readiness for the Indiana motorists when they come through here in July next.

The heaviest work is being encountered up Horse Creek Canyon beyond Castle Gate, a stretch of four to five miles. From Castle Gate town to Castle Gate Rock the greater part of the work of road building is done.

This expense has been borne by P. N. Cameron, who is opening up a mine beyond Castle Gate. Cameron has also recently built a substantial bridge there in connection with the road and his property.

ISSUES PAMPHLET ON GOOD ROAD REPAIRING

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.—Increase in the number and weight of automobiles and heavy auto trucks has prompted the office of public roads of the department of agriculture to issue a special pamphlet of instructions on the maintenance of highways. It recommends the inclusion of heavier and more substantial foundations in road building as a means of keeping down the cost of such maintenance.

"There is probably no subject in which the progressive farmer is more deeply interested," say the road experts in a statement issued today, "than that of having roads connecting him with his markets over which he may be able to haul the greatest possible loads. Good roads, like all other good things, are too expensive to build and of too much value to be neglected.

The pamphlet does not go into the work of road construction to any extent, but the experts have confined their recommendations to the best methods for keeping in repair roads already built.

TWELVE MILES OF ROAD JUST BUILT BY COUNTY

The county has just completed the building of twelve miles of road from Anderson's ferry near Cleco to the Colorado and Utah state line, according to Commissioner John E. Pace, says Moab's Times of last Friday. James M. Waring, deputy road commissioner, has had charge of the work. In many places new road was built, while the old road was repaired most of the way.

The road just completed is the one favored by J. P. Miller as the route for the Midland trail from Cleco east to Grand Junction. It is easily passable for automobiles at this time. Only eight miles of road are yet to be built to have a direct road from Green River to the state line, by way of Moab and Castleton. Those eight miles lie between Doney and the Dolores river.

Commissioner Pace is confident that the east and west highway through Grand county will eventually come down the Grand river.

Order Work On Trail Only.

By an order of the board of county commissioners at Grand Junction, Colo., all work on county roads except the Midland trail highway has been ordered stopped. The commissioners are desirous of having every effort for road improvement bent entirely toward the trail, and it is hoped that it will be in first-class condition by the time of the Indiana tourists.

Building Good Bridges.

Robert Woodruff, who is overseeing bridge work on the Midland trail, came in and spent Sunday with his family, says Thursday's Green River Dispatch. He reports that some very substantial bridges have been constructed of ties from the old narrow gauge road. Three hundred and fifty pounds of nails was used in building one bridge alone, which would indicate that it is of pretty good construction. They are now in the vicinity of Pinto, working eastward toward the state line.

UTAH HAS DROUGHT, SAYS WEATHER BUREAU REPORT

The national weekly weather bulletin issued by the weather bureau shows that for Utah a condition of drought prevails in all counties, despite the rains previous to last week. The same droughty conditions seem to hold in California, Nevada, Idaho and part of Oregon. In the East considerably more rain was reported, though none fell in the Dakotas, Northern Minnesota or Western Pennsylvania.
