Judging from the reverberation, Freddy must have rung the bell in the Carbon County News office.

Is it really a fact or have we simply imagined it that there was a ticket in the field under the head of "Citizens' Ticket?"

The "Angels" lost all of their long feathers at the republican primary and then the democrats relieved them of even the pin ones.

The Salt Lake Evening Telegram has been sold to George E. Hale, formerly business manager of the Herald-Republican. C. C. Goodwin is retained by the new management as the editorial scribe. Although on the other side of the hill and pretty nearly the bottom Judge Goodwin still retains a foremost position in the editorial field of the daily press.

J. L. Ester, recently of Myton, formerly employed as manager of the Mail Messenger, is the new business manager of the Salt Lake Progressive. J. H. Turner resigning to attend to his private business. Up to the present time the principal items of interest in the Bull Moose paper seems to be the news letters from Ephraim and therefore

THE FLUELESS GAS HEATER.

At this time of the year, when many feel that it is not cold enough to use the general heating system of the house but is too cool to be entirely without heat, the use of portable gas or oil heating apparatus is a great convenience. Cleanliness and comparative low cost of operation make this type of heating deservedly popular. Unfortunately, many of these heaters are used without a flue pipe to carry off the products of combustion. The use of such heaters is to be deprecated. This is especially true of those devices of low efficiency that make it practically imperative that the doors and windows be kept closed if the object sought—that of raising the temperature of the room—is to be obtained. These heaters put a premium on insufficient ventilation. The current issue of a high-class monthly magazine carries a full page advertisement of a gas heater that is specifically recommended for use in the children's playroom. It is advertised as "the ideal heat for the nursery," and in heavy type the claim is made that it "will not vitiate the air." Such advertisements are dangerous, says the Journal of the American Medical Association. There may be times when one is willing to sacrifice health for comfort for a short time; when an increase of temperature in the room is sought even at the expense of vitiated air. When this is done with a full knowledge of possible dangers, it may not be too severely criticized. But to lead people to believe that any room can be heated healthfully for any length of time by means of flueless gas or oil heaters is dangerous doctrine. An efficient gas or oil heater with a flue attachment is an admirable piece of household apparatus; a flueless heater—except for the most temporary of uses, and then used with a full knowledge of the dangers involved—is an abomination.

People who desire the best in eye glasses call at the Lewis Jewelry Store immediately to consult W. W. Lewis, the optician, knowing he is a graduate of two of the best optical colleges in this country and the only registered optician in Eastern Utah. He will adjust your glasses free of charge.—Adv.

DOORS THROWN OPEN TO LEADER OF THE MUTANTS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 20.—America's doors were opened today to Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, and during the few weeks covered by her lecture engagements the British militant suffragist leader is free to go where she will in the United States. An order releasing the much discussed visitor from detention at Ellis Island, N. Y., and revoking the deportation order of the special inquiry board was issued today after President Wilson had conferred with Secretary Wilson of the department of labor and a formal hearing before Immigration Commissioner Caminetti on Mrs. Pankhurst's appeal had been concluded.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Briml of Helper are in Price this week. Mr. Briml attending court and Mrs. Briml visiting Price friends.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

To my Friends and Other Citizens of Price:—
I STAND FOR Strict regulation of saloons, not the wiping out of them, as my opponents claim, which can only be done by a wet and dry election.

Strict enforcement of all Ordinances now on record.
Enactment of new Ordinances for the benefit of all citizens.

Full publicity of all public affairs, not to reward my friends, but to enlighten all taxpayers.

Awarding of contracts and work only by competitive bids, without favoritism.

Reduction of city taxes without retarding improvements.

Appointment to the several offices of Capable Men who will enforce the Ordinances and give us a dollar's worth of service for every dollar spent.

Respectfully submitted,

JOE B. ROBERTS,
Citizens' Candidate for Mayor.

Ladies and Gents!

Solled, muddy shoes? That's where you lose: Appearances will tell.
Here in this chair, I'll put a glory upon them: Something swell! I'll also fix those yellow "bricks" and make them black as night. No acid used, no shoes abused—with black I treat you white. Each pair I shine is rich in tone with patent leathers, pard! Selected stock that none can "knock." That's all. Don't lose this card.

LET HIM REST.

Breathes there a man with soul so dead;
Who never to himself hath said:
"My trade of late is getting bad;
I'll try another sightless ad."
If such there be, go work him well,
For him no bank account shall swell,
No angels watch the golden state
To welcome home the millionaire.
The man who never asks for trade
By local line or ad displayed,
Cares more for rest than worldly gain,
And patronage but gives him pain.
Tread lightly, friends; to no rude sound
Disturb his solitude profound;
Here let him live in calm repose,
Unthought except by men he owes.
And when he dies, go plant him deep,
That naught may break his dreamless sleep—
Where no rude clamor may dinel
The quiet that he loved so well.
And when the world may know its loss,
Place on his grave a wreath of moss,
And on the stone above, "Here lies
A clutzup who wouldn't advertise."

The Remington Cuts And The Autoloader Always Ready

REMINGTON UMC

AUTOLOADING SHOTGUNS

ANY way you look at it, the Autoloader is the highest development in modern shotgun design. It puts five loads at your disposal by merely pressing the trigger. It puts the recoil in useful way—to eject the empty and slip in the fresh shell. It saves the gunner's shoulder—sides his spot of annoyance—increases his shooting success.

Your danger is that in your enthusiasm over the autoloading principle, you may forget to insist on getting the finest embodiment of that principle—the Remington-UMC Auto-loading Shotgun.

The possible advantage of the Remington-UMC auto loader is small here. What you want to do is to get one of the Remington-UMC loaders in this section to demonstrate them to you on the gun itself.

If a man came to your desk and showed you a pen or pencil that would add or subtract as it writes?

Of course you would; anybody would!
We have no such pen or pencil, but we have something better. We have a typewriter which does all this, and you know that the typewriter is three times as fast as any pen or pencil. This typewriter is the
