

HEAD OF CHURCH DISCUSSES CONFLICT

SAYS SIMILAR SPIRIT TO THAT IN EUROPE PERVADES HERE

Only Prayer Will Avert Crisis—Women's Relief President Urges Unity to Keep Their Grains and All Other Provisions.

The final session of the National Women's Relief Society of the Mormon church was brought to a close Monday afternoon at the assembly hall, and during the remarks made by President Emmeline Wells, was "the most successful and the best attended relief conference ever held." The program was devoted to mutual affection, remarks by members of the organization and an address by President Joseph F. Smith. In the morning the sisters held a mass meeting in the tabernacle building, and following the afternoon session, the genealogical classes met to discuss their activities.

President Smith warned against the spirit which he said was pervading this country similar to the spirit that played in Europe prior to the commencement of the war. He said that if the proper steps were not taken immediately, this spirit would bring the same ruin and devastation to the United States which now is evidenced in Continental Europe.

"Notwithstanding the apparent peace which we are enjoying in our country," said President Smith, "we are not without our serious troubles. Some of them are exceedingly dangerous in the path they are moving. The positive results which may emerge from these troubles are parallel to the condition of Europe today."

"There is in our midst today the same spirit which is responsible for the European crisis. This spirit is steadily growing in importance and power, and will, if not destroyed, undoubtedly bring strife and contention to our country identical to that of Europe. There is a great deal of internal dissension, unrest, dissatisfaction and trouble in our own political, industrial and religious life. This is the same spirit which was displayed in Europe before the outbreak of the war. Do not forget or ignore it. Its importance is beyond our realization."

Mrs. Wells Urges Fraternity.

Mrs. Emmeline B. Wells, president of the Women's Relief society, urged the members to save and keep whatever grain and provisions they did not use for their immediate wants. She told how she first received her mission to "save grain" from Brigham Young in 1878 and stated that the present conflict in Europe emphasized the need of storing foodstuffs to prepare for famine and want. Mrs. Wells intimated that more extensive and explicit instructions in regard to saving grain would be forwarded to the state presidents within a short time.

Mrs. Emily S. Richards spoke of "The Attitude of Utah Women to Peace" and stated that if women had a voice in the affairs of the government, the present war in Europe would have been averted. She said that the army, navy and national guard were essential to preserve peace according to the present standards followed by nations, but their elimination was only a matter of time. The evil spirit of militarism, according to Mrs. Richards, was the one enemy all women had in common and she urged the teaching of friends and members of families its folly and wickedness.

ORGANIZE STATE WIDE MOVEMENT

WILL ASK FOR REFERENDUM

Politics Not to Be a Feature of Organization—Droste Ush to Become Dry by Vote of All People Without Regard to Party Affiliations.

The Federation of Prohibition and Betterment Leagues of Utah was organized at a convention held Monday in Salt Lake City. The object of the organization is to obtain state wide prohibition in Utah and the enforcement of all laws for the suppression of vice growing out of the liquor traffic and kindred evils. The convention was attended by sixty persons representing twenty-one different organizations throughout the state that are in sympathy with prohibition and the uplift of mankind. The league will treat the question of prohibition as a moral and not a political issue. Among those who attended the meeting Monday were prominent democratic, republican, progressive and socialist as well as nonpartisans.

No effort will be made by the federation to interject its principles into state politics this fall, the avowed purpose of the organization being to secure for the people of Utah a referendum of the liquor problem, with the whole state as a unit, by securing the passage by the legislature of an effective state wide prohibition law and to obtain the approval of the same by the qualified electors of the state, to further the cause of national prohibition; to act as a central, co-operating clearing house for town, city and county leagues, and societies whose aims are to assist in securing additional legislation on, and enforcement of, all laws for the suppression of vice connected with and growing out of the liquor traffic and kindred evils; also, to take any other steps that may seem best in removing from the state and nation the evils due to the use of intoxicating liquors, narcotic drugs, prostitution, etc.

REPUTATION FOR TRUTHFULNESS MAKES ADVERTISING PAY

By HOLLAND.
A DVERTISING pays. Every one knows that. But not all know exactly why and how it pays and why it continues to pay continuous advertisers.

It pays because of the reputation the advertisers have made for telling the truth, for fair dealing and for business honesty. IT IS WICKED TO LIE, AND IT IS ALSO FOOLISH. Just think how extremely foolish it would be to pay for advertising space in which to spread falsehoods.

Merchants know that their reputations for truthfulness in the advertisements is their best business asset. They know that to make their advertising valuable it must be believed; it must be truthful day after day, week after week, month after month.

Read the advertisements in this paper closely and remember that back of every statement is the reputation of a leading merchant, a reputation he has spent years in acquiring and which he will guard closely.

PRESIDENT SMITH OPENS CONFERENCE

closer touch with activities throughout the church; ward teaching is being rapidly developed, but in this same states are still indifferent; here is an opportunity to use every priest and teacher and every man holding the priesthood.

Advices Monthly Taken.
A movement has been inaugurated to encourage the monthly payment of tithes. President Smith said this is the only proper way to pay tithing. Latter-day Saints should remember to pay to the Lord what they owe him before they use their means in other directions. Two companies each day go through the temple to perform ordinances for the living and for the dead. The work of the bishop is both spiritual and temporal. He should not try to do all the work himself; he should divide the responsibilities with his counselors and they in turn should call in men who hold the priesthood to assist them.

PRESIDENT SMITH CRITICIZES WOMEN'S WEARING APPAREL

With a parting blessing from President Joseph F. Smith, work of the conference came to a close Tuesday afternoon. The head of the church praised those who had attended the sessions, both for their work at the conference and during the last six months, and urged that their zeal be increased. The farewell message also contained advice to the leaders of the various departments. President Smith urging that the women of the church especially be more careful lest their conduct offset their teachings. He criticized the extreme dress of some women teachers and their apparent weakness in regard to some of the rules of the church.

Work of the conference continued through three days, and at each of the six main sessions held in the tabernacle, President Smith, presided and practically all of the higher authorities were present. Addresses covering a variety of subjects of interest were given and an excellent program of music was heard at each session. As President Smith said in his farewell talk, the conference had been a success and had shown the church to be in a thriving condition.

MODISHLY DRESSED WOMEN TURNED FROM TABERNACLE

With evident wrath and indignation, President Smith addressed his closing remarks to the Mormon women, some of whom, he said, had been turned away from the tabernacle because of the disgraceful styles in which they had bedecked themselves.

"We have had to turn them away from the house of God because we cannot maintain such ungodly modes of dress. I am not kidding now; I am delivering a solemn warning. Let the women take heed. There is significance in what I say. Some of the sisters who are supposed to be teach-

PAPER MARKET ADVANCES

News Print Expected to Reach Very High Mark.

While only a slight advance has been made on paper up to this time, The Advocate is advised by its wholesale buyers that a considerable rise in the price of nearly every grade is inevitable. The ordinary news print in particular is expected to reach the highest mark in the history of newspaper manufacture.

"There is a large increased demand for news print from South America," write the Carter people, "due to their European supply being cut off, and there will be a still more considerable demand from England, France and Spain, which countries have been receiving most of their print from Norway and Sweden."

"It is reported that the call for news print in Paris alone has become so great that a single daily paper has its circulation 1,500,000 copies and other papers in proportion. At this critical moment the supply has been crippled and paper is now being rationed out and publishers compelled to cut their issues to mere bulletins.

"The careful student of present commercial conditions will be impressed with the atmosphere of uncertainty which seems to surround all buying and selling. This exists even among experts, each in his own line. No one seems to know and very few are willing to predict. Our price today is so and so. We will not quote you for tomorrow" seems to be the temper of the moment. This is but the natural consequence of our inability to forestall the duration and devastation of the European war. One thing seems clear, that the advance in all grades of paper are necessary and it is not unlikely that advance will follow advance, as values must continue to climb until not only the terrible strain of the war is relieved, but after, as the period of recuperation must needs be slow."

Why Not Publish It.

When you want a fact to become generally known, the right way is to publish it. Mrs. Jos. Kallians, Peru, Ind., was troubled with belching, sour stomach and frequent headaches. She writes: "I feel it my duty to tell to others what Chamberlain's Tablets have done for me. They have helped my digestion and regulated my bowels. Since using them I have been entirely well."
