United States Fuel company will have a payroll this month at the camps of Black Hawk, Hiawatha and Mohrland of between seventy-five and eighty thousand dollars after all deductions are made. The semi-monthly payroll is observed in all three camps.

The postoffice department is prepared to supply a new stamp of the eleven-cent denomination. This postage stamp is issued primarily for use in prepaying postage on parcels and postage and insurance fee on insured parcels. The stamp bears the head of Franklin in profile, from the front, looking to the left, and is printed in dark green ink.

Residents of the Nine Mile section coming in to Price this week state that about a dozen men and some dirty teams of Eggleston & Mathew are now working at Cottonwood bridge, a mile this side of Whitman ranch. The work through the canyon is about complete. About the same force is employed this side of Helper by the same firm.

The Sun's job department has the premium list of the Carbon-Emery fair in hand, which will make a pamphlet of about forty pages. It will be off the press and ready for distribution in about a week. The book will contain the rules and regulations of the association and will be liberally distributed throughout the state, especially in the towns of Eastern Utah country.

The vacancy in the Salt Lake City office of the United States bureau of animal industry caused by the transfer of Stephen P. Walsh to St. Louis has been filled by T. H. Baker of Austin, Minn., who arrived in Zion last Monday to take up his duties. Walsh had been in the Salt Lake City office of the bureau since 1909. Baker will work under Dr. P. E. Murray of the Utah division.

The Sun has received an invitation from the St. George Commercial club to the annual fruit festival to be held there September 24th and 25th. D. A. McGregor, president, and Ellis J. Pickett, secretary, are the signers of the invitation and extend to all Carbon county folks a hearty welcome to the Washington county city. An elaborate display and exposition of fruit and nuts produced in the district has been arranged.

Recent fishermen from Mohrland passed through Price last Friday by wagon from a trip of three weeks on the Yellowstone. Included in the party were J. P. Wadsworth, J. A. Black, Harvey Kriss, Dick Black, Frank Cleward, Joe Treloar and Roy Manshew. Some days they caught an average of a hundred and ninety trout all of good size, while they never failed to bag from fifty to a hundred. The editor of The Sun is under obligations to the party for a dozen beauties.

Last week a representative of the board of underwriters at Salt Lake City visited Price to look over the wiring of buildings here, which has been reported as a whole quite under the requirements insisted upon. The matter is likely to be taken up with the city council later on in the hope of having the defect remedied. Most cities of the class of Price have an ordinance regulating wiring. Some of the recent fires here are no doubt traceable to poor electric work. It is stated.

F. E. Dole has put his laundry business into a corporation with a capital of ten thousand shares of the par value of a dollar a share. The incorporators are D. D. Holgate, F. E. Dole, B. H. Dole, T. R. Holgate and R. W. Dole. D. D. Holgate, who is to be manager and secretary of the new company, comes here from Ely, Nev., and is a practical laundryman of several years experience. F. E. Dole will give a portion of his time to a laundry business which he owns at Montrose, Colo.

Grand Junction's Frontier Week celebration was a great success in every way, and of the contributions made by business men of that city 25 per cent or more is to be returned to the donors. Close to two thousand dollars was spent by the publicity committee, most of which went to the newspapers, and which no doubt had much to do with bringing of the big crowds to that city. The attendance from Eastern Utah was large, according to a letter to The Sun from the management.

Sunday school at the Methodist church next Sabbath at 10 o'clock and morning worship at 11 o'clock. The morning service will be a special joyous hour. The troups, which is connected with Price academy, will attend and a short sermon on scoutcraft and the scout oath will be given by the pastor. Parents and friends of the scout movement who are not in the habit of attending church are especially invited. Epworth league at 6 o'clock. Subject, "An Evening With Favorite Hymns." Short sermon at 6:45 o'clock.

Employees of the Utah Power and Light company, under the direction of J. H. Hanson of Price, were yesterday expected to begin the wiring of the town of Huntington for electric light and power. The plant there, as previously mentioned in The Sun, has been taken over by the Salt Lake City company. Engineers are also in the field around Black Hawk and Hiawatha running service for power lines from the two coal camps south to Huntington, Castle Gate and Orangeville. Temporarily the "juice" for Huntington will be generated at Hiawatha.

E. L. Carpenter, president of the United States Fuel company, came here yesterday from Salt Lake City and today visited Hiawatha and Black Hawk. This evening at Black Hawk there will be a regular monthly meeting of all the employees from president down to pit boss. These meetings are a regular thing every last Friday of the month at which matters pertaining to all departments of the properties are discussed. Utah Fuel company also holds such gatherings and the two big corporations find it most profitable in the exchange of ideas with employees.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Claussen of the Black Hawk neighborhood were before Justice Arthur J. Lee during the week, charged by one George Georgiakis, a Greek, with disturbing the peace. The justice was asked to place the Claussens under bonds to keep the peace, but he declined to do upon the evidence brought out. It was shown that the Greek had assaulted Mrs. Claussen and one of the children while her husband and father was away from home. The Greek rents a tract of ground from Claussen and the trouble seems to have come up over goats belonging to the foreigner destroying crops and fruit trees of Claussen. The matter was settled by a judgment of the court on September 15th, when the Greek promises to vacate. Otherwise the case may be reversed as to plaintiff and defendant. Judge Fry appeared for Claussen.

Can testing and other work connected with live stock is to be conducted here by W. E. Meyer, who has arrived in Utah from the East and is working under the instructions of J. E. Dorman, inspector in charge of the dairy division of the United States department of agriculture at Salt Lake City.

Kentucky Liqueur House of this city has decided to discontinue its wholesale liquor license, says Proprietor Gross, and at the expiration of the same will begin filling wholesale orders from the Salt Lake City houses. A saving of something like seven hundred to a thousand dollars a year may be made.

Change in postal regulations, effective September 1st, was made last Saturday by which parcel post mail may be insured up to one hundred dollars. Heretofore the limit has been fifty dollars. For valuations from fifty to a hundred dollars, the fee will be twenty-five cents in addition to the postage.

Ray Hester City's Ways of last Friday. "Sheep clipping is now the most rushing business of this section. The lambs are in good condition notwithstanding the hot dry weather, and the market at present is fine, though the number of marketable lambs is said to be rather smaller this year than usual."

R. R. Rawl, chief of the United States dairy division of the department of agriculture, is at present making a study of the irrigated pastures in this state and an other Western States. He is being aided by J. E. Dorman, in charge of the western dairy division, and Ben R. Eldredge of Salt Lake City.

There is an ordinance against allowing cows to run at large. This ordinance should be enforced—for the "peaky things" can destroy the work of months in a few minutes by ruining a garden or lawn. At nights there are several of them "roaming around" and the officers will be doing a favor if they "run them in."

J. D. Heavers is making shipment of wild horses via Craig, Colo., and the Moffat road. He has a hundred and fifty horses in the bunch. They were caught near the Wild Horse camp on the Green River in five days. Heavers says if he had plenty of help he could have caught a thousand in the same length of time.

Sheriff Bliss of Grand county was in Price Saturday last to take back with him two prisoners who have been in the Carbon county jail for some time for trial in district court which convened at Moab last Monday. The two are Louis Vampa and Dominick Oliverio, charged with the murder of Peter Cassassa at Neshan last winter.

That this year's Utah state fair, to be held in Salt Lake City, September 27th to October 4th, inclusive, will see more good live stock entered in the various cattle herds and departments of the fair than ever before, is being made evident daily by reports received from prominent live stock growers in the various sections of the Intermountain West.

W. W. Goodman, Frank L. Buckio and Frank Holman returned to Price Sunday evening from a ten days' fishing trip on the Avilaquin. They had captured a big fish and brought home with them a couple of hundred trout which had been culled down and had kept well. The editor of The Sun is under obligations to "Uncle Bill" Goodman for a dozen beauties.

Says yesterday's Democrat News: "Mrs. Haffey of the Newhouse Hotel in compliment to Mrs. Sam P. Snow, Jr., of Castle Dale, who with her daughter Dorothy has been spending some days in the city. Covers were laid for five, including Mr. W. W. Snow, Mrs. Arthur E. Burroughs, the guest of honor and her daughter and the hostess."

J. C. Weston, engineer in charge of the Tyler River irrigation company, and Robert H. Stewart, county farm demonstrator, made a trip to Biggs on Monday last over a considerable portion of the lands under the big canal south of the city. It was one of mutual interest and they found crops in general in better condition than they had anticipated. Sugar beets, especially, are looking well. Alfalfa is not so good, some damage being done to the first crop by blight. On the whole, however, the farmers of the section mentioned are better off than are those in many other portions of the state.

Mormon missionaries who were stationed in the vicinity of Galveston, Tex., are reported to be safe in Houston, a telegram to this effect having been received at the office of the first presidency of the church from B. C. Bennion, president of the Central States mission. The names of the missionaries are not given, but the message stated they had arrived safely.

Increased rates on iron and steel from the Mississippi and Missouri rivers, Chicago and immediate territory to Utah, Colorado and Kansas points have been approved by the interstate commerce commission. The decision makes an exception as to iron bars, steel bars, steel sheets and structural steel in caravans from St. Louis to Denver originating west of the Mississippi.

Surveyors during the next week will have completed the running of the Carbon and Emery county line. They are at this time camped at the head of Woodward Canyon above Clear Creek. The Carbon county party is composed of J. B. Forrester, A. D. Maclean and George A. Schultz, while Walter Jensen, Thomas Paddis and Ralph Jensen are doing the job for Emery county. E. L. Carpenter of the United States Fuel company has donated the services of Maclean and Schultz. The town of Black Hawk proper is in Carbon county, while the most of the acreage of the company is in Emery. The coal from the mine comes from the Carbon side.

Kentucky Liqueur House of this city has closed a deal with the Becker Brewing and Maltting company of Ogden whereby the local firm becomes distributing agent for Carbon county for the famous Becker beers, none better than which are brewed anywhere. Harry Gosas, proprietor of the Kentucky, announces in this impression of The Sun that a bottle of this beer will be given away to all callers at his place of business between the hours of 3 and 10 o'clock next Saturday evening. The firm expects to push the Becker product in the town and coal camps of Black Hawk, Kenilworth, Castle Gate, Storrs, Sunnyside, Clear Creek, Seefield and at other places throughout Eastern Utah. It is a home product and ought to become popular hereabouts when pushed by such live people as the Kentucky Liqueur House.

Green River's Dispatch of last Thursday has this item from its San Rafael correspondent: "Mrs. L. E. Prussett went to town Friday for Saturday's shopping. She was very much surprised to find her daughter and son-in-law just ready to suit out to the ranch to surprise the home folks. Mr. and Mrs. William W. Angell were married August 4, 1915, in Salt Lake City, where the bride has made her home the past two years. As Mrs. Katherine Hudson she has a host of friends in Green River who will be surprised to hear of the wedding and who congratulate the lucky man. Angell is a mining man and also owns a ranch in Nevada. After visiting Mrs. Angell's later, Mrs. C. C. Gillies of Hiawatha, the happy couple will return to Salt Lake City and go from there to Good Springs, Nev., where they will make their home. They have the best wishes and Godspeed of a host of relatives and friends, both here and at Salt Lake City."

Four small boys, members of the Barker and Handrickson families living south of the railroad tracks at Price, got it into their heads last Monday to make a trip to Black Hawk. They left the old swimming hole near the bridge on Price river in the afternoon and at night wound up at the Miller ranch at Millerton on the Southern Utah railroad. After the arrival there the ranchman notified Sheriff Henry, but that officer could not locate the parents of the youngsters and admonished the ranchman to keep them until Tuesday morning. Becoming alarmed because of his boy not coming home during the evening, John Barker, father of one of the youths, got busy over the telephone and through "central" ascertained the whereabouts of the youths. Tuesday he went out to Millerton after the bunch and brought them home to Price. They started out barefoot and were considerably the worse off when it came to "hoofing it" home.

GOOD COUNTERFEIT FOUND IN CIRCULATION AT ZION

T. J. Callaghan, secret service agent of the United States, last Tuesday at Salt Lake City came into possession of a new type of spurious coin. The latest creation in counterfeit consists of a five-dollar gold piece, inset with a five-cent piece. The rim and one side of the gold coin is preserved to lend to the deception and the five-cent coin after being cut down is set into the cavity from which the gold has been taken out on the one side. Callaghan's attention was first brought to the new counterfeit the other evening when he was called by a merchant, who called him on the telephone after being offered the coin in question in the course of trade. The man who tendered the coin protested that he had received it in payment of wages. He was permitted to go, but Callaghan confiscated the coin.

COMING TO INVESTIGATE FARM LOAN MORTGAGES

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 26.—W. L. Washburn, representing the division of rural organization, department of agriculture, left today for Utah and Idaho to get information on the farm loan mortgage business, especially with reference to irrigation projects. He will return here October 5th, after visiting Provo, Ephraim, Salt Lake City, Ogden, Boise, Nampa, Idaho Falls, Pocatello, Bluffton and Twin Falls. This is the first work of this kind done in the West by the division of rural organization, with the exception of some work done in Idaho by Fred, George Thomas of the Agricultural College of Utah at Logan.

IRRIGATION MEETINGS

The twenty-second annual gathering of the International Irrigation congress will be held in four California towns this year, beginning at Stockton, September 13th, and ending at San Francisco, September 20th, sessions being held in between at Fresno and Sacramento. It is expected that Utah, where the irrigation congress had its birth, will have a creditable exhibition of irrigation products at the congress, also a good representation of delegates. Many Utahns are visiting the exposition and will be glad to attend the sessions in an official capacity as delegates from their respective communities.

ALBERT ECCLES RECOGNIZED BY JUDGE HOWELL AT OGDEN

In the district court at Ogden last Wednesday, Judge J. A. Howell issued a decree of heirship to Albert Goddes-Eccles which directs the administrator of the estate of the late David Eccles to consider the boy as an heir, and administer the estate accordingly. The decree was issued on the judgment of a jury in the case. The costs of the plaintiff in the case are stated to be $694.76.
