DEAL IS CLOSED FOR UTAH MARBLE

TO BE SHIPPED TO EVERY STATE IN THE UNION.

Will Be Sent to New York in Rough and Distributed From That Point As Finished Product—Eastern Agents Consider Utah Marble Without a Peer—Will Ship Carload a Day.

Through a contract just entered into between the Mount Nebo Marble company of Utah and the Tompkin-Kiel Marble company of New York, the product of the Utah quarries of the company, consisting of birdseye marble and other valuable and beautiful marbles, will be placed on the market in every state and indications are at this time for an extensive sale of the product, says the Herald-Republican. The Utah marble will be shipped to the New York plant of the Tompkin-Kiel company in the rough and distributed from that point as finished product.

N. T. Porter, director of the Mount Nebo Marble company, has just returned from New York, where he closed the contract with the Eastern agents, which is the largest marble commission company in the United States. Porter says that the Tompkin-Kiel company was most enthusiastic over the Utah product and anticipated using at least a carload a day in the near future.

First Carload Shipped. The first carload of Utah marble in blocks six to eight feet long and containing seventy-five to a hundred cubic feet of marble went forward to New York last week and other shipments will follow at the rate of about one carload every ten days for the next two months. At the end of that time, the Tompkin-Kiel company reports to C. H. Stewart, secretary of the Mount Nebo company, that shipments will be increased to two to three carloads a week and further increase in a carload a day within three to four months. The shipment which went forward last week is to be used in a building in New York City.

The Tompkin-Kiel company is the largest marble commission house in the United States," says Stewart, "and hereafter will handle our product in all the states with the exception of Utah. An investigation has been made by the company of the quarries of the Tennessee Marble company at Knoxville, Tenn., and of our quarries and it finds that conditions here are much better and the quality of the marble is superior to that of Tennessee or any other produced in the United States. Gov. William Spry, while in the East recently, accompanied Porter to the Knoxville quarries and says that there is no comparison of the quality of the two products.

The Tompkin-Kiel people are most enthusiastic over our output and are receiving inquiries daily about the marble. They have kept the wires hot telegraphing for samples and the prospects for the marble industry in Utah are most bright. They have reported to us that our marble does not come into competition with any marble produced in the United States. The only marble produced anywhere in the world which comes near being as good in quality or as beautiful as the Utah stone is from the quarries of France, Germany and Italy, but these are now closed down and no shipments are being made to the United States on account of the war.

We already have sent forward one carload of our marble to the Tompkin-Kiel company and two more cars are ready for shipment. The stone is being shipped in the rough for dressing at the end of three or four months from the New York concern, to be shipped at least a carload a day.

Will Require More Men. In order to handle this increased business we will add a second pneumatic drill to our battery at the quarry. This will necessitate the employment of about fifteen more men to handle the work.

The Utah marble is bringing to the company a thousand dollars a carload in the rough, which will mean with daily shipments of only a carload, more than three hundred and fifty thousand dollars annually to the Utah concern. This does not include the business in Utah, which will be handled exclusively by the company itself.

SEEKING LOWER RATES. E. W. McClure, secretary of the National Woolgrowers' association, has returned to Salt Lake City from St. Louis, where he met representatives of railroads in the southwestern classification territory, and the manufacturers of cotton seed cake, with a view to securing reduced rates on cake into Utah and northwestern states. McClure says this product is excellent for sheep, and that notwithstanding high freight rates over five hundred carloads are used annually in Utah, Idaho and adjacent sheep raising states. Reduced rates would result in a largely increased consumption in this part of the country and prove of material benefit to both producers and consumers, he says.
